$500,000 Fire In Leadville Guts Building

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP)—Fire raged through five businesses and 12 apartments in this historic mining city Saturday. Fire Chief Joe Plute said an arsonist may have been responsible.

Plute said the blaze, which caused damage estimated by officials at from $250,000 to $500,000, was similar to three other fires which broke out in the downtown section in the last two months. None of these proved serious.

The businesses — a department store, a tavern, a jewelry and sporting goods store, and two television-radio centers—were located in a building erected in 1880 on Harrison Avenue, the community's main street.

54 Girls Stricken By Monoxide Fumes in Bus

DENVER (UPI)—Fifty-four girl students at Bennett High School, including 37 members of the school's pep squad, were stricken by carbon monoxide fumes while enroute home from the Bennett-Central City high school basketball game Friday night.

The 54 teen-aged girls and the bus driver, Floyd Hamilton of Bennett, were released from Denver General Hospital after being treated and examined.

The girls said they noticed a strong odor then they boarded the school bus at Central City after Friday night's basketball game. They said some of the girls started to get sick shortly afterwards, and the driver stopped several times to let the ill students get fresh air.

By the time the school bus had reached Denver, many of the girls were ill and at least one of them, Christine Russell, 12, a seventh grader, appeared to lose consciousness.

Ceylon's Reds Angry as U.S. Cuts Off Aid

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI) — Shouting, Communist-led demonstrators marched through Colombo today in a protest against the suspension of U. S. aid to Ceylon.

The demonstrators carried placards reading "Yankee no, Ceylon yes," and "Peace Corps, leave us in peace," and "Willis ain't willing and we don't want Aunty Willis."

Miss Frances Willis is the U.S. ambassador to Ceylon. She recently informed the government of the U.S. decision to cut off aid because of Ceylon's failure to compensate American oil companies for property seized.

Because of mounting tension whipped up by leftist political parties, the government ordered police guards posted outside the U.S. embassy.

The demonstrators paraded through the main business section, shouting denunciations of the United States.

The demonstration was led by members of Parliment, Piter Keuneman, leader of the Communist party, and Martin Perera, leader of the Trotskyist Equality party.

Kansas Baptist Seminary Rocked By Bible Dispute

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI) — The question of whether the Bible's book of Genesis is a literal truth or a symbolic story continued to rock the Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary Saturday.

Dr. Herbert F. Peacock, chairman of the New Testament department, resigned his post Friday in the controversy. Earlier it caused the firing of an author-professor and a strike by students.

90-Year-Old Qualifies For Contest

"At 90," she asks, "how will I look in a bathing suit?"

However, she confidently listed her other qualifications Friday.

She has cooked her own bread for 83 years, was happily married for 50 years, raised two sons who today are 62 and 59, concocted a cookie recipe used for more than 80 years, run for the state legislature and has written many articles and poems for newspapers and periodicals.

Contest director Bert Nevins accepted Mrs. Kent's application, saying: "This is not a beauty affair. Its purpose is to honor American homemakers. Mrs. Kent qualifies."

Interstate Gas Reports Its Net Income

Colorado Interstate Gas Company's consolidated net income for 1962, based on preliminary figures, was $9,374,875 compared to $8,396,283 for 1961, President W.E. Mueller announced.

After provision for preferred dividends, preliminary earnings per common share for 1962 were $2.97 compared to $2.92 for 1961.

Consolidated figures include Colorado Interstate's wholly owned subsidiary, Natural Gas Producers, Inc., and Colorado Oil and Gas Corporation and its wholly owned subsidiaries. As a result of a stock exchange offer during 1962, Colorado Interstate increased its ownership of the common stock of Colorado Oil and Gas Corporation to approximately 95 per cent.

Figures for 1961 have been restated from previously published reports to present comparable amounts on a similar consolidated basis, Mueller stated.

Africans Charge Racial Bars in Red Bulgaria

By HANS BENEDICT

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Backfiring of Communist Bulgaria's experiment in the education of African youths took on proportions of an explosion today.

Six Ethiopian students fled Sofia, as 20 Ghanaians did Friday. Britain announced its legation in Sofia is helping in arrangements for a group of Nigerian students to leave.

Hundreds of other young Africans, disenchanted by their treatment in the Red Balkan nation, were reported deterred only by lack of funds from joining the exodus.

Robert Kotey, 25, one of the 20 Ghanaians who flew to Amsterdam, Netherlands, said, "We declare categorically that the Bulgarian regime is guilty of racial discrimination.

"If the others haven't left yet, then they have been unable to do so. Only we Ghanaians have a mission in Sofia, whereas the others have to try to reach their missions in other East bloc countries. This takes time and effort."

Sahlon said one other Ethiopian student was among seven Africans arrested by Bulgarian police Monday as leaders of an organization the Bulgarian Communists had banned, the All-African Students Union. He said he did not know the prisoners' whereabouts.

Kotey denied this in an interview.

He said all had been affected by "racial discrimination, political pressure, abuses and other unpleasant things."

The Ghanians expected to head to Bonn, West Germany, where they will try to continue their studies.

Told that the U.S. government was considering ways to help the Africans by arranging facilities for them in the West, Kotey said, "We would be happy to get an opportunity to study in the United States or in any other Western country."

Red-Pirated Freighter Ignores U.S. Air Rockets

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—U.S. Navy planes intercepted the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui Saturday and fired rockets across its bow in an effort to make it turn for Puerto Rico. But the ship's pro-Communist captors refused to change course.

A Defense Department spokesman said in Washington the ship's captors had ignored an order from the plane to turn about and head for San Juan, Puerto Rico, U.S. territory.

In Caracas, the leftist newspaper Clarin reported that the hijackers had threatened to blow up the ship if anyone tried to board her. The newspaper said the threat was made by the hijackers in a radio message picked up by an unidentified Norwegian vessel.

The captors of the Anzoategui have said in several messages they are members of a guerrilla detachment of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), a Venezuelan organization engaged in terrorist activities in hopes of

Springs Woman Critically Hurt In Four-Car Crash

Mrs. Marie Harmon, 41, 2829 Casden Circle, was reported in critical condition at Penrose Hospital Saturday night after she suffered compound fractures of both legs, a fractured pelvis and internal injuries in a freak, four car accident in the 700 block of Platte Avenue Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Harmon was rushed to the hospital by E and E Ambulance where her condition was reported critical Saturday night after she underwent surgery.

Authorities reported that the accident occurred near the entrance of the ice - covered underpass when Mrs. Harmon's car struck another vehicle.

Mrs. Harmon had left her car and was standing near its rear bumper when the car of Bernard Wittrock, 25, of 123 N. Sheridan Ave., approached the scene and also went out of control on the slippery street.

The Wittrock vehicle swerved into the car of Dorothy J. Porter, 41, of 522 Marquette Dr., Security and then slammed into the Harmon car and Mrs. Harmon, pinning her against the cement wall.

Police said that Miss Porter told them the Wittrock car slid back and forth across the street before striking her car, the Harmon vehicle and Mrs. Harmon.

Administration Controls Domestic News, Solon Says

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., says the federal government is controlling news on the domestic level.

The senior senator from Delaware also told a banquet of three press associations Friday night that he is very much disturbed by what he termed the trend in recent years toward the view that the government has the right to control news.

Williams said the only way to keep corruption out of government is to exercise the people's right to know.

He cited as examples of the Kennedy administration efforts to control news his own experience with the President's tax message and what he called a rosy report on employment made by the secretary of labor. He said an attempt to mislead the public was made in the President's State of the Union message.

Williams said that in the past advance copies of tax messages were supplied to members of the Senate Finance Committee, of which he is the ranking Republican member. He said this year advance copies were not sent to critics of the administration.

Immediately after the message was read, continued Williams, comment on it was favorable. He said it took critics several days to study the message before they were able to comment.

The senator listed many features of the message and the tax bill which he said were not explained when it was first presented.

Williams said Secretary of labor W. Willard Wirtz later admitted that a statement on a decline in unemployment contained an invalid statistic comparison which made the situation appear more favorable than it actually was.

Williams said the President's State of the Union message claimed the administration's budget would call for nonmilitary expenditures below the level for this year.

The senator listed numerous cases where he said the budget

Managed News Probe Slated By Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House subcommittee will open hearings March 18 on complaints that the administration "manages" the news.

A source said the inquiry will be conducted in seminar fashion. Witnesses will not be placed under oath and will give their views in give-and-take discussion form.

The study will be made by the government information subcommittee headed by Rep. John Moss, D-Calif. No witness list has yet been drawn up but those appearing probably will consist of high level government information officials and representatives of national press groups.

State Jaycees Give Top Service Awards

The three winners of the individual awards were:

1. Joseph M. Lacy, 35, city manager of Grand Junction.

2. Kenneth W. Monfort, 34, president and founder of the Monfort Packing Company of Greeley.

3. Laurence T. Paddock, 35, editor of the Boulder Daily Camera.

The Jaycees there renovated one barracks at the ranch, raising about $10,000 and doing the physical work by volunteer labor.

The ranch uses old buildings turned over to it that had once been the La Junta Air Base during World War II. The chapter plans an open house on March 10 to show off the fine work done for the ranch.

Gov. Love Sees Finance Crisis For Schools

Colorado Gov. John A. Love warned here Saturday that the state's primary and secondary schools "face a financial crisis on the local level" because of higher costs and increased student populations.

The governor, who addressed a noon luncheon of Colorado Jaycees at the Broadmoor Hotel, said suburban counties are entitled to more consideration of their school problems.

He proposed a study by professional experts aimed at solving the problems on a local level, and he made two suggestions which he thinks will help:

First, the governor said he wants exact dollar amounts allotted to each county to be included

Easy Stages Proposed for 50-Mile Hikes

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association has a word of advice for the average American setting out on that 50-mile hike:

Don't.

The AMA said Friday hikers should train in easy stages first, then hike down to their family physician to make sure a long trek won't aggravate health problems.

If the urge to walk hasn't cooled by that time, the AMA gives these pointers on the 50-mile trip.

Shoes should be large enough to wear over two pairs of socks—thin ones next to the foot and thick ones over those.

Check shoes for rough spots which might raise blisters.

Keep your feet pointed straight ahead; they work more efficiently that way.

Stop for an occasional rest.

Dr. Thomas B. Quigley, head of the AMA's Sports-Medical Committee, said one of the results of a 50-mile hike probably would be to discourage anyone from walking in the future.

In moderation, he says, it's wonderful exercise.

Publisher Warns Federal Steps Possible in Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The publisher of the nation's largest circulation newspaper said Saturday that the city's 71-day newspaper blackout could continue for months, possibly bringing "distasteful governmental intervention."

F. M. Flynn, president and publisher of the News commented during a radio interview and in a letter to employes of the 2-million-circulation tabloid.

Flynn's letter was made public shortly before Bertram A. Powers, president of striking Local No. 6, AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, returned from talks with the international officials of the union in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Powers said they had put no pressure on him for a quick settlement.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, in an attempt to get negotiations going again, said he would confer with representatives of the publishers on Monday and with union leaders on Tuesday.

A strike by various unions in Cleveland against the Plain Dealer and Press and News by various unions went meanwhile into its 79th day.

Flynn said in his letter to the News employes concerning the New York dispute: "Negotiations are deadlocked. There is no recognizable sign that progress will be made toward resolving the issues in the immediate future."

Flynn said "not one single important issue was resolved" in 17 days of meetings conducted by Mayor Wagner.

"Failure to resolve this dispute through collective bargaining will bring pressure," he said, "for other action which may take the form of distasteful governmental intervention."

He said the publishers would continue to work for a settlement through collective bargaining.

But he held that nothing would be accomplished so long as the present atmosphere exists in the stalemate.

Meanwhile, at ITU headquarters at Colorado Springs, ITU President Elmer Brown reiterated that

The girls said they noticed a strong odor then they boarded the school bus at Central City after Friday night's basketball game. They said some of the girls started to get sick shortly afterwards, and the driver stopped several times to let the ill students get fresh air.

By the time the school bus had reached Denver, many of the girls were ill and at least one of them, Christine Russell, 12, a seventh grader, appeared to lose consciousness.

Police said Hamilton stopped the bus in East Denver and sum-

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI) — Shouting, Communist-led demonstrators marched through Colombo today in a protest against the suspension of U. S. aid to Ceylon.

The demonstrators carried placards reading "Yankee no, Ceylon yes," and "Peace Corps, leave us in peace," and "Willis ain't willing and we don't want Aunty Willis."

Miss Frances Willis is the U.S. ambassador to Ceylon. She recently informed the government of the U.S. decision to cut off aid because of Ceylon's failure to compensate American oil companies for property seized.

Because of mounting tension whipped up by leftist political parties, the government ordered police guards posted outside the U.S. embassy.

The demonstrators paraded through the main business section, shouting denunciations of the United States.

90-Year-Old Qualifies For Contest

"At 90," she asks, "how will I look in a bathing suit?"

However, she confidently listed her other qualifications Friday.

She has cooked her own bread for 83 years, was happily married for 50 years, raised two sons who today are 62 and 59, concocted a cookie recipe used for more than 80 years, run for the state legislature and has written many articles and poems for newspapers and periodicals.

Contest director Bert Nevins accepted Mrs. Kent's application, saying: "This is not a beauty affair. Its purpose is to honor American homemakers. Mrs. Kent qualifies."

Interstate Gas Reports Its Net Income

Colorado Interstate Gas Company's consolidated net income for 1962, based on preliminary figures, was $9,374,875 compared to $8,396,283 for 1961, President W.E. Mueller announced.

After provision for preferred dividends, preliminary earnings per common share for 1962 were $2.97 compared to $2.92 for 1961.

Consolidated figures include Colorado Interstate's wholly owned subsidiary, Natural Gas Producers, Inc., and Colorado Oil and Gas Corporation and its wholly owned subsidiaries. As a result of a stock exchange offer during 1962, Colorado Interstate increased its ownership of the common stock of Colorado Oil and Gas Corporation to approximately 95 per cent.

Figures for 1961 have been restated from previously published reports to present comparable amounts on a similar consolidated basis, Mueller stated.

Kansas Baptist Seminary Rocked By Bible Dispute

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI) — The question of whether the Bible's book of Genesis is a literal truth or a symbolic story continued to rock the Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary Saturday.

The instructors and students appeared mostly concerned about academic freedom. The sponsoring Southern Baptist Convention battled possible heresy.

"I cannot in good conscience," Peacock said, "continue to iden-

Administration Controls Domestic News, Solon Says

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., says the federal government is controlling news on the domestic level.

The senior senator from Delaware also told a banquet of three press associations Friday night that he is very much disturbed by what he termed the trend in recent years toward the view that the government has the right to control news.

Williams said the only way to keep corruption out of government is to exercise the people's right to know.

He cited as examples of the Kennedy administration efforts to control news his own experience with the President's tax message and what he called a rosy report on employment made by the secretary of labor. He said an attempt to mislead the public was made in the President's State of the Union message.

Williams said that in the past advance copies of tax messages were supplied to members of the Senate Finance Committee, of which he is the ranking Republican member. He said this year advance copies were not sent to critics of the administration.

Immediately after the message was read, continued Williams, comment on it was favorable. He said it took critics several days to study the message before they were able to comment.

The senator listed many features of the message and the tax bill which he said were not explained when it was first presented.

Williams said Secretary of labor W. Willard Wirtz later admitted that a statement on a decline in unemployment contained an invalid statistic comparison which made the situation appear more favorable than it actually was.

Williams said the President's State of the Union message claimed the administration's budget would call for nonmilitary expenditures below the level for this year.

The senator listed numerous cases where he said the budget

Managed News Probe Slated By Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House subcommittee will open hearings March 18 on complaints that the administration "manages" the news.

A source said the inquiry will be conducted in seminar fashion. Witnesses will not be placed under oath and will give their views in give-and-take discussion form.

The study will be made by the government information subcommittee headed by Rep. John Moss, D-Calif. No witness list has yet been drawn up but those appearing probably will consist of high level government information officials and representatives of national press groups.

Africans Charge Racial Bars in Red Bulgaria

By HANS BENEDICT

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Backfiring of Communist Bulgaria's experiment in the education of African youths took on proportions of an explosion today.

Six Ethiopian students fled Sofia, as 20 Ghanaians did Friday. Britain announced its legation in Sofia is helping in arrangements for a group of Nigerian students to leave.

Hundreds of other young Africans, disenchanted by their treatment in the Red Balkan nation, were reported deterred only by lack of funds from joining the exodus.

Robert Kotey, 25, one of the 20 Ghanaians who flew to Amsterdam, Netherlands, said, "We declare categorically that the Bulgarian regime is guilty of racial discrimination.

"If the others haven't left yet, then they have been unable to do so. Only we Ghanaians have a mission in Sofia, whereas the others have to try to reach their missions in other East bloc countries. This takes time and effort."

Sahlon said one other Ethiopian student was among seven Africans arrested by Bulgarian police Monday as leaders of an organization the Bulgarian Communists had banned, the All-African Students Union. He said he did not know the prisoners' whereabouts.

Kotey denied this in an interview.

He said all had been affected by "racial pressure, abuses and other unpleasant things."

The Ghanians expected to head to Bonn, West Germany, where they will try to continue their studies.

Told that the U.S. government was considering ways to help the Africans by arranging facilities for them in the West, Kotey said, "We would be happy to get an opportunity to study in the United States or in any other Western country."

Red-Pirated Freighter Ignores U.S. Air Rockets

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—U.S. Navy planes intercepted the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui Saturday and fired rockets across its bow in an effort to make it turn for Puerto Rico. But the ship's pro-Communist captors refused to change course.

A Defense Department spokesman said in Washington, the ship's captors had ignored an order from the plane to turn about and head for San Juan, Puerto Rico, U.S. territory.

In Caracas, the leftist newspaper Clarin reported that the hijackers had threatened to blow up the ship if anyone tried to board her. The newspaper said the threat was made by the hijackers in a radio message picked up by an unidentified Norwegian vessel.

The captors of the Anzoategui have said in several messages they are members of a guerrilla detachment of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), a Venezuelan organization engaged in terrorist activities in hopes of Mrs. Marie Harmon, 41, 2829 Casden Circle, was reported in critical condition at Penrose Hospital Saturday night after she suffered compound fractures of both legs, a fractured pelvis and internal injuries in a freak, four car accident in the 700 block of Platte Avenue Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Harmon was rushed to the hospital by E and E Ambulance where her condition was reported critical Saturday night after she underwent surgery.

Authorities reported that the accident occurred near the entrance of the ice - covered underpass when Mrs. Harmon's car struck another vehicle.

Mrs. Harmon had left her car and was standing near its rear bumper when the car of Bernard Wittrock, 25, of 123 N. Sheridan Ave., approached the scene and also went out of control on the slippery street.

The Wittrock vehicle swerved into the car of Dorothy J. Porter, 41, of 522 Marquette Dr., Security and then slammed into the Harmon car and Mrs. Harmon, pinning her against the cement wall.

Police said that Miss Porter told them the Wittrock car slid back and forth across the street before striking her car, the Harmon vehicle and Mrs. Harmon.

State Jaycees Give Top Service Awards

The three winners of the individual awards were:

1. Joseph M. Lacy, 35, city manager of Grand Junction.

2. Kenneth W. Monfort, 34, president and founder of the Monfort Packing Company of Greeley.

3. Laurence T. Paddock, 35, editor of the Boulder Daily Camera.

The Jaycees there renovated one barracks at the ranch, raising about $10,000 and doing the physical work by volunteer labor.

The ranch uses old buildings turned over to it that had once been the La Junta Air Base during World War II. The chapter plans an open house on March 10 to show off the fine work done for the ranch.

Gov. Love Sees Finance Crisis For Schools

Colorado Gov. John A. Love warned here Saturday that the state's primary and secondary schools "face a financial crisis on the local level" because of higher costs and increased student populations.

The governor, who addressed a noon luncheon of Colorado Jaycees at the Broadmoor Hotel, said suburban counties are entitled to more consideration of their school problems.

He proposed a study by professional experts aimed at solving the problems on a local level, and he made two suggestions which he thinks will help:

First, the governor said he wants exact dollar amounts allotted to each county to be included

Easy Stages Proposed for 50-Mile Hikes

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association has a word of advice for the average American setting out on that 50-mile hike:

Don't.

The AMA said Friday hikers should train in easy stages first, then hike down to their family physician to make sure a long trek won't aggravate health problems.

If the urge to walk hasn't cooled by that time, the AMA gives these pointers on the 50-mile trip.

Shoes should be large enough to wear over two pairs of socks—thin ones next to the foot and thick ones over those.

Check shoes for rough spots which might raise blisters.

Keep your feet pointed straight ahead; they work more efficiently that way.

Stop for an occasional rest.

Dr. Thomas B. Quigley, head of the AMA's Sports-Medical Committee, said one of the results of a 50-mile hike probably would be to discourage anyone from walking in the future.

In moderation, he says, it's wonderful exercise.

Publisher Warns Federal Steps Possible in Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The publisher of the nation's largest circulation newspaper said Saturday that the city's 71-day newspaper blackout could continue for months, possibly bringing "distasteful governmental intervention."

F. M. Flynn, president and publisher of the News commented during a radio interview and in a letter to employes of the 2-million-circulation tabloid.

Flynn's letter was made public shortly before Bertram A. Powers, president of striking Local No. 6, AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, returned from talks with the international officials of the union in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Powers said they had put no pressure on him for a quick settlement.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, in an attempt to get negotiations going again, said he would confer with representatives of the publishers

Monday and with union leaders

Tuesday.

A strike by various unions in Cleveland against the Plain Dealer and Press and News by various unions went meanwhile into its 79th day.

Flynn said in his letter to the News employes concerning the New York dispute: "Negotiations are deadlocked. There is no recognizable sign that progress will be made toward resolving the issues in the immediate future."

Flynn said "not one single important issue was resolved" in 17 days of meetings conducted by Mayor Wagner.

"Failure to resolve this dispute through collective bargaining will bring pressure," he said, "for other action which may take the form of distasteful governmental intervention."

He said the publishers would continue to work for a settlement through collective bargaining.

But he held that nothing would be accomplished so long as the present atmosphere exists in the stalemate.

FEDERAL TAX TIPS

BY ROGER E. WARD
Administrative Representative
Internal Revenue Service

Do you receive income . . from dividends and interest? You must declare this income . . . pay any Federal income taxes due! You are now required to use your Social Security tax account number when you file your return. This is your individual number. Sources furnishing you with income from dividends will also file a record of the money you earned from them. This record will be filed with your individual account number. So, whether dividends and interest are your sole source of income. . . or are in addition to your regular income . . . they must be reported on your tax return.

Travel and entertainment expenses will be closely checked this year by IRS in its continuing campaign against unjustified deductions made in filing returns. Expense account living has been a cause of great concern to your government in recent years. Estimated tax loss in this area has been very high. There are many justifiable travel and expense deductions, but in filing your return, be careful to list only valid and legitimate expenses . . . and be sure you can prove them if you are called upon to do so in an audit. For additional information on this subject ask for Document 5049 at our local office, Room 206 U. S. Post Office Bldg.

Accuracy and completeness in filling out your return is more important than ever. Our conversion to an electronic computer maintained account system precludes manual correction of deficiencies in returns which may have been acceptable in the past. All applicable items on the return form must be filled in and in the proper sequence. This means totals from attached schedules must be carried forward to the face of the return. If schedules in the return are not sufficient for the needs of the taxpayer, substitute schedules must follow the official format, contain all the required information, and be attached in the same sequence as on the tax return. Taxpayer receiving preaddressed forms should use these forms where possible to minimize chance of error in identification.

Taxpayers are again reminded that their tax account numbers are required by law on all returns filed in 1963. Failure to show account number may delay issuance of any refund due the taxpayer. Questions and Answers regarding taxpayer identifying numbers can be obtained at our local office by asking for Publication No. 459.

CHEVROLET TRUCK QUALITY

You can see the difference wherever you look

If you believe various makes of trucks are pretty much alike, you aren't doing justice to your pocketbook. There are differences.

A Chevrolet truck welcomes comparison. Look at the little things on it—latches, hinges, stitching in the upholstery. Notice how strong the tailgate is, the rubber encased chains that keep it from sagging.

The body floor is made of select wood to eliminate the rust problem and give you better footing. The lower side panels are double-walled; you might dent the inside but it won't show through.

Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

If you are going to need a new truck this year, you should look at the quality Chevrolet has to offer. May we bring over a new '63 so you can examine it?

Do you receive income . . from dividends and interest? You must declare this income . . . pay any Federal income taxes due! You are now required to use your Social Security tax account number when you file your return. This is your individual number. Sources furnishing you with income from dividends will also file a record of the money you earned from them. This record will be filed with your individual account number. So, whether dividends and interest are your sole source of income. . . or are in addition to your regular income . . . they must be reported on your tax return.

Travel and entertainment expenses will be closely checked this year by IRS in its continuing campaign against unjustified deductions made in filing returns. Expense account living has been a cause of great concern to your government in recent years. Estimated tax loss in this area has been very high. There are many justifiable travel and expense deductions, but in filing your return, be careful to list only valid and legitimate expenses . . . and be sure you can prove them if you are called upon to do so in an audit. For additional information on this subject ask for Document 5049 at our local office, Room 206 U. S. Post Office Bldg.

Accuracy and completeness in filling out your return is more important than ever. Our conversion to an electronic computer maintained account system precludes manual correction of deficiencies in returns which may have been acceptable in the past. All applicable items on the return form must be filled in and in the proper sequence. This means totals from attached schedules must be carried forward to the face of the return. If schedules in the return are not sufficient for the needs of the taxpayer, substitute schedules must follow the official format, contain all the required information, and be attached in the same sequence as on the tax return. Taxpayer receiving preaddressed forms should use these forms where possible to minimize chance of error in identification.

Taxpayers are again reminded that their tax account numbers are required by law on all returns filed in 1963. Failure to show account number may delay issuance of any refund due the taxpayer. Questions and Answers regarding taxpayer identifying numbers can be obtained at our local office by asking for Publication No. 459.

CHEVROLET TRUCK QUALITY

You can see the difference wherever you look

If you believe various makes of trucks are pretty much alike, you aren't doing justice to your pocketbook. There are differences.

A Chevrolet truck welcomes comparison. Look at the little things on it—latches, hinges, stitching in the upholstery. Notice how strong the tailgate is, the rubber encased chains that keep it from sagging.

The body floor is made of select wood to eliminate the rust problem and give you better footing. The lower side panels are double-walled; you might dent the inside but it won't show through.

Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

If you are going to need a new truck this year, you should look at the quality Chevrolet has to offer. May we bring over a new '63 so you can examine it?

KENNEDYS GET VALENTINES

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy children, Caroline, 5, and John Jr., 2, received about 75 Valentines from youngsters across the country Thursday. Pamela Turnure, the First Lady's press secretary, said a few in the bundle were for Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

Colorado College Scientist Researches Liquid Tenacity

A Colorado College scientist is trying to determine how temperatures effect the tenacity with which liquids cling to solids in a research project that may make it possible for engineers to extract up to twice as much oil from the earth as now is possible.

Dr. Lester A. Michel, professor and chairman of the chemistry department at Colorado College has been working on the project for the past year for the Marathon Oil Co. of Findlay, Ohio.

Petroleum engineers now are able to pump only about 30 per cent of the oil existing in deposits beneath the earth's surface. After about one-third of the deposit has been pumped out the pressure drops and allows the remaining oil to cling to the porous rock "like water in a sponge."

Several years of basic research on contact angles in liquid-to-liquid and liquid-to-vapor systems probably will be necessary before engineers can tackle the problem of removing more oil from the rock, Professor Michel said.

Dr. Michel is interested in the angle at which two liquids or a liquid and a vapor meet when both are in contact with a solid surface.

He explained it this way: small amounts of liquids in contact with solids do not always form a thin film on the surface. It the surface is waterproof, drops of liquid tend to be higher than they are wide, and if the surface is less water proof the drops will flatten out.

If the drops are flattened, the angle of the liquid to the air is steeper and the tenacity with which the drop clings to the surface is greater.

Professor Michel is trying to find out how temperatures affect the angle, and thus the tenacity of a liquid to cling to a surface. He also wants to know if there is any relationship between the molecular structure of the liquid and the way it sticks to solids.

He is working on the basic research project under a $2,700 grant from Marathon. The company also provided the college with the laboratory equipment being used in the research.

Working with Professor Michel is Michael Orem, a junior majoring in chemistry. Orem is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Orem of 506 Albion Ave., Fairmont, Minn.

They are measuring the angle at various temperatures by dipping a tiny slab of a polyethylene-like plastic called Teflon in heated liquids. They keep changing the temperature and measuring the angles.

The Teflon slab in suspended from a sensitive quartz spring. The two researchers measure the angle by noting the extension of deeper into the liquid.

The research developed out of Professor Michel's work with Dr. C. L. Sutula, under the direction of Dr. F. H. Poettmann, manager of the engineering and chemistry department at Marathon's Denver Research Center, last spring when he was on leave from the college.

Colorado U. Music Professor Joins Ensemble Trio

Andor Toth, distinguished violinist and associate professor of music at the University of Colorado, has joined the Alma Trio following the death of the ensemble's violinist, Maurice Wilk.

The trio, now on a cross-country tour, will offer a concert in the CU Music Hall March 7.

Toth will play with the group in concerts in Virginia, Texas and California. He also will be a part of the trio on a 17 - concert tour of the Soviet Union next October.

Toth had made earlier plans to join the trio for the Russian tour because Wilk had planned to play with another chamber music group at that time.

Toth agreed to join the ensemble early for the American tour when he learned of Wilk's death last week.

The CU professor's career as a violinist includes being concertmaster of the original Ballet Russe at the age of 17. He has worked extensively with chamber music groups. He has been first violin of the Oberlin String Quartet, touring in Europe and America, and first violin of the Amati String Quartet.

During the American tour of the Alma Trio, Toth plans to continue his CU duties as teacher of violin and chamber music and conductor of the CU symphony by flying to and from the concert appearances.

AMA Says Complications Can Make Measles Serious

Anyone in your family ever have measles?

If not, you're the exception. Most children encounter measles sooner or later, usually sooner. Most cases of measles aren't very seniors and the young patient recovers with no after effects, the American Medical Association reports.

The very fact that measles is so common makes it one of the most dangerous of the childhood epidemic diseases, because most families don't take it seriously. More than 400,000 cases of measles are reported each year. The death rate is about one in each 1,100 cases.

Measles is a serious diease because of complications that sometimes result. These sometimes lead to encephalitis, pneumonia and, rarely, infections of the digestive tract.

A body weakened by measles is more susceptible to streptococcus, pneumococcus, influenza virus and organisms that cause meningitis.

Measles begin like the common cold, with sneezing and red and watery eyes. These symptoms usually appear about ten days after exposure. The eyes ache and are sensitive to light. There may be a cough and sore throat.

The classic measles rash appears three or four days after the first symptoms. The rash often starts on the face and spreads to the trunk, arms and legs.

Immune globulin may be used to lessen the severity of the attack or for prevention or modification of the disease, but this may be done only by a physician. It is effective as a preventive only when given within a week of known exposure to measles. Measles vaccines of various types have been undergoing tests and are likely to be available soon, possibly in 1963, the AMA said.

The measles patient should be under a physician's care. Good convalescent care is important. Parents should follow carefully the physician's advice during the recovery period. When measles is first suspected, the child should be put to bed at once and the physician called.

Measles is highly contagious and thus isolation precautions to protect other children in the family and in the neighborhood are important.

Fortunately, a case of measles generally provides immunity and the child is usually safe from further attack thereafter.

Jack L. Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Blackburn of 2732 Ben Ct., has enlisted for aviation duty in the delay enlistment program of the U.S. Marine Corps.

Blackburn elected March 14 as his date to report to active duty. On that date he will be flown to San Diego, Calif. where he will undergo eleven weeks of recruit training. After this he will be sent to Camp Pendleton, also in southern Calif., for four weeks of intensive individual combat instruction.

Blackburn will then be granted a 20-day leave prior to being assigned to a formal school for training in an aviation specialty.

Blackburn is a 1962 graduate of Wasson High School and attended Western State College at Gunnison before his acceptance by the Marine Corps.

Colorado Deer Wins Nevada Trophy Contest

A buck deer killed the first day of Colorado's 1962 big game season near Hightower Mountain, took first place in a tropny contest at Elko, Nev., according to information just received by Dick Hess, wildlife conservation officer at Grand Junction.

The lucky hunter was Gale Bauman of Vallejo, Calif. Bauman's trophy buck had 10 points on one side and 9 on the other and measured 39¾ inches in outside spread. Outside spread is the determining factor in selecting the winner of the ELKO contest.

Colorado law prohibits big game trophy contests where cash or merchandise prizes are given. This law however, doesn't prevent trophies taken in Colorado from being entered in such contests in other states.

Chess Champion Reshevsky Challenges Local Players

Samuel Reshevsky, often cited as the greatest of American chess players, will return to the ball room of the Broadmoor Hotel for an evening of simultaneous chess Feb. 25, according to Herman Stein of the Colorado Springs Chess Club.

Stein stated that forty or more players from all parts of Colorado are expected to take boards against the six-time United States champion who has beaten every grand master in the world at one time or another, including the Russian, Mikhail Botvinnik, the present world champion.

At least two women players, Mrs. John Hackman and Mrs. Raoul Urich, plan to challenge the 51-year-old Reshevsky.

Born in Poland, Reshevsky made his chess debut in Vienna as a child prodigy at the age of six and became famous three years later when he emigrated to the United States and defeated the entire West Point Chess Team of 19 men in two hours' time.

He settled in Detroit and gave up chess briefly for a career as pitcher on his high school baseball team but returned to the joys of professional woodpushing after study at the University of Chicago.

Reshevsky's world chess status began in 1935 when he beat the great Cuban, Jose Capablanca, in England. He began his long reign as United States Champion a year later, taking over from Frank Marshall who had held the title since 1909.

In 1950, Reshevsky gave up his accountant business to play chess full time and to begin his annual circuit of thirty or more U. S. and Canadian cities.

Since then, he has become a chess wizard who seldom needs more than four minutes total time to defeat any one of the forty of fifty players who face him in a simultaneous exibition.

He is a small man, five feet two inches tall, but he has great physical endurance which he maintains by figure skating. He lives with his wife and two children in Spring Vally, New York, where he is known also as an ardent singer of duets.

The Feb. 25 match is sponsored jointly by the Broadmoor Hotel and the Colorado Springs Chess Club and is open to all comers at a nominal fee, according to Juan Reid who is in charge of arrangements.

Jackie Gleason, CBS Television Network comedy star, took up golf five years ago, now shoots in the 70s.

Chess Champion Reshevsky Challenges Local Players

Samuel Reshevsky, often cited as the greatest of American chess players, will return to the ball room of the Broadmoor Hotel for an evening of simultaneous chess Feb. 25, according to Herman Stein of the Colorado Springs Chess Club.

Stein stated that forty or more players from all parts of Colorado are expected to take boards against the six-time United States champion who has beaten every grand master in the world at one time or another, including the Russian, Mikhail Botvinnik, the present world champion.

At least two women players, Mrs. John Hackman and Mrs. Raoul Urich, plan to challenge the 51-year-old Reshevsky.

Born in Poland, Reshevsky made his chess debut in Vienna as a child prodigy at the age of six and became famous three years later when he emigrated to the United States and defeated the entire West Point Chess Team of 19 men in two hours' time.

He settled in Detroit and gave up chess briefly for a career as pitcher on his high school baseball team but returned to the joys of professional woodpushing after study at the University of Chicago.

Reshevsky's world chess status began in 1935 when he beat the great Cuban, Jose Capablanca, in England. He began his long reign as United States Champion a year later, taking over from Frank Marshall who had held the title since 1909.

In 1950, Reshevsky gave up his accountant business to play chess full time and to begin his annual circuit of thirty or more U. S. and Canadian cities.

Since then, he has become a chess wizard who seldom needs more than four minutes total time to defeat any one of the forty of fifty players who face him in a simultaneous exhibition.

He is a small man, five feet two inches tall, but he has great physical endurance which he maintains by figure skating. He lives with his wife and two children in Spring Vally, New York, where he is known also as an ardent singer of duets.

The Feb. 25 match is sponsored jointly by the Broadmoor Hotel and the Colorado Springs Chess Club and is open to all comers at a nominal fee, according to Juan Reid who is in charge of arrangements.

Jackie Gleason, CBS Television Network comedy star, took up golf five years ago, now shoots in the 70s.

Fund Drive Headquarters At St. Francis

Headquarters for the St. Fracis Hospital Fund Drive now are located at the hospital and volunteer workers are needed to pick up a number of pledge cards which haven't been solicited yet.

Sister Mary Erharda, administrator, urged any worker interested in helping with this portion of the campaign to contact the hospital, 633-1713, and ask for the campaign headquarters.

St. Francis Hospital is planning a $2,700,000 building and remodeling program to be partially financed by public subscription.

A new six-story building which will contain all the modern facilities for a general hospital will be built in the area just west of the present complex of hospital buildings.

Two floors of the building will house 80 medical and surgical patient beds, some of which will replace beds now in the obsolete South Wing which was constructed in 1901.

The present South Wing will be razed for parking and the present main hospital building, to the north, no longer acceptable for acute patient care, will be remodeled and renovated to create a 30-bed geriatric department for care of senior citizens of the Colorado Springs area.

Two Colorado Springs attorneys, Hartley Murray and Cortland N. Cool, are serving as co-chairmen of the general fund drive.

Kansas Baptist Seminary Rocked By Bible Dispute

tify myself with a school that has so little regard for basic Christian principle."

Dr. Ralph Elliott, chairman of the Old Testament department, was fired last October because of the dispute over his book, "The Message of Genesis." Most dissension was among lay members of the Southern Baptist movement.

Peacock charged in a letter to Dr. Millard J. Berquist, president of the seminary, that Elliott was fired out of "appeasement and sacrifice."

"This act was a dishonorable and unjust attempt to sell the life of one man to buy off the attackers," he said in a letter.

Midwestern trains ministers and teachers for the church. It is housed in ultra-modern, suburban buildings. Many of the students are men in their late 20s and 30s who serve area churches.

Last fall they walked out of classes in protest of Elliott's firing. A spokesman then stressed they were irked by the clamp on academic freedom.

"The message of Genesis" treats the first book of the Old Testament as literature designed to illustrate points, not necessarily as an historic account. The Creation, the Garden of Eden, Noah and and other stories are challenged as facts, but probed for symbolic truths.

night by Penrose Hospital authorities.

Passengers in the car and injured were Ruby Valdez 47, and Jose Valdez, 51, both of Denver.

Mrs. Valdez, whose injuries were not listed by authorities, was reported in fair condition in Penrose Hospital.

Jose Valdez, suffered a broken shoulder, a possible skull fracture, a broken right leg and multiple cuts and contusions. He was reported in serious condition.

Police Officer Emmett Butler said that the Duran car swerved on the ice - covered highway before crashing thru the freeway fence and striking the pillar.

The vehicle was loaded with heavy construction materials which increased the force of impact against the post, Butler said.

Duran's death raised the Colorado Highway traffic toll to 42, two more than at this time last year.

The body was taken to the Nolan Funeral Home.

The members announce the contracts and give the impression they had something to do with them, said Williams.

2,414 Hunting And Fishing Violations Noted

Chief Game Warden Jack Hogue of the Colorado Game and Fish Department, has reported that 2,414 violations of the state's game and fish laws and the department regulations were detected by the department's law enforcement men during 1962.

According to Hogue's figures, the most common violation in 1962 was illegal possession of small game—399 persons were ticketed for this violation.

The second highest figure was recorded for failure to properly tag big game, a violation that caught 369 persons. In third place in the tabulation of violations was fishing without license, which tripped 333 persons last year. And illegal possession of big game was the fourth most common violation involving 242 cases.

The least common infraction was resisting an officer, with only one such violation listed, followed by guiding without an appropriate license which involved two cases.

Hogue reported that a total of $67,063 was collected in fines, two-thirds of which went to the county in which the violation occurred and one-third to the Game and Fish Department.

Twenty-five fines levied for game or fish violations were not paid and the violators served out the time in jail in lieu of payment of fines.

The gray-white freighter, riding high in the water, held firmly south-southeast at 15 knots as it steamed down the coast of South America, its hijackers apparently intent on haven in Brazil.

The hijackers ignored two messages from U.S. naval forces ordering the ship to turn back. As one of three planes which found her started shooting rockets across the bow, the pirated vessel radioed, "Being attacked by North American aircraft."

The vessel was 140 miles north of the French Guiana coast when intercepted about dawn.

Seven hours later, two Venezuelan bombers were reported en route to the area. Their mission was not known but it was presumed to be to aid in surveillance and possibly attempt to turn the ship back.

Two Venezuelan destroyers also were reported pursuing the hijacked freighter, but a source close to the hijackers' antigovernment terrorist organization in Venezuela predicted the warships would be unable to catch the freighter if she maintained her course.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said he had no information about U.S. Navy planes firing rockets, but he added, "The planes might have fired the rockets merely to attract the ship's attention. They have had difficulty communicating."

(Asked if the rockets could have been fired in an effort to make the ship change course, he said, "No, they probably were trying to get a message to the ship. They probably were trying to attract attention.

"The ship is merely under surveillance, and it probably will be kept under surveillance all night.")

The Brazilian navy ordered its warships to seize the pirated ship if she turned into a Brazilian port. A high Brazilian government source indicated, however, that the hijackers would be granted political asylum in Brazil and the ship returned to Venezuela.

The leftist newspaper Clarin put out an extra addition in Caracas asserting that the Anzoategui was bound for the Brazilian port of Belem. The Clarin, the first to report that the ship was headed for Brazil, claimed the Venezuelan destroyers would not be able to intercept her.

$258 Stolen While Owner Sleeps

The home of Calvin E. Hack, 2028 E. Dale St., was burglarized early Saturday morning and $258 taken from a billfold and purse while the man and his wife slept, according to a city police report.

Hack told police that on awakening Saturday, he found the rifled billfold and purse on the bedroom floor, and water tracks —apparently made by the intruder's snow-soiled shoes — trailing from the room to the back door of the house.

Hack said he had not thought to check the back door before retiring, and had left it open thru the night.

Minstrels to Add Showboat Era To Mardi Gras

A touch of the American Show Boat era along the Mississippi will be interjected in the Mardi Gras ball this year when a group called the Merry Minstrels will vie for the spotlight at the ball to be held at the Broadmoor International center.

Six couples will comprise the group: Mr. and Mrs. Don Cox, Mr. and Mrs. James McGrew, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Don McInaney, Richard and Frank Peck and Pat Blume. They plan to bring to the Ball some of the laughs and steps that were so popular years ago with the Dixie Minstrels.

The popularity of masquerade groups for the Mardi Gres Ball is catching on. The first group was the Mystick Krewe of Comus formed of business and professional men three years ago. Last year the Grimaldi, named after the famous clown, Joe Grimaldi, made their appearance.

A fourth mystery group will make a surprise appearance this year. Officials say the group has not revealed its identy or what it will portray.

The masquerader groups plan to make the Annual Mardi Gras Ball of 1963 a memorable one.

Each group will have their own special call dance sometime during the evening when "The Woodchopers" of the Woody Herman Band signal.

The Coronation of the Queen Show at 10:30 p.m. will be new and dazzling this year.

All patrons are assured of a table reservation by writing to the Mardi Gras Committee, P.O. Box 6188, Colorado Springs. Reservations are still available.

Ex-Soldier Barred By VA Hospital Dies at Age 73

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Wilmer A. Summerville, an old soldier who lived in jail because he had nowhere else to go, is dead.

Summerville, 73, blind World War I veteran, died Friday at a private nursing home of a heart ailment. But he died knowing that someone cared.

The veteran spent 46 days in the Floyd County Jail because he had been refused admittance to government hospitals and could not afford private care. Sheriff Joe Adams came to Summerville's aid Dec. 20 and gave him a place to stay in the jail while the sheriff tried to arrange for his care.

He remained in jail until last week when Mrs. Christine Perry, operator of a nursing home at nearby Cedartown, read of his plight and offered to care for him free of charge.

Then he became ill. Doctors said he had suffered a heart attack Thursday. He died Friday with a smile on his lips.

"At the end I know he was happy," said Mrs. Perry. "He knew that somebody cared after all."

She said she and Adams had received many calls and letters from people wanting to help.

"Thursday," Mrs. Perry said, "the students at East Rome High School sent Mr. Summerville a big red Valentine. I sat at his bedside and read it to him."

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. today, with burial in the family cemetery near here.

The sheriff said Summerville had been refused admittance to Veterans' Administration homes because the VA requires that a veteran inmate be able to care for himself to some degree. Since Summerville was blind and helpless, he could not qualify.

Icy Roads Cause Car Crashes in Region

A series of fender - bender accidents were investigated by the State Patrol Friday night and Saturday with the cause of most of them attributed to icy road conditions.

A car driven by Louise P. Garcia, 23, of Denver, skidded off U.S. 85-87, south of Monument, about 7 p.m. Friday and slid 21 feet into a steel guard rail. Damage to the car was set at $75 and damage to the rail estimated at $100.

Just after midnight Friday, Willy Sapuschmin, 41, of Woodland Park, lost control of his car and knocked out a guard post in the 5800 block of North Nevada Avenue.

According to the report he failed to make a turn. Damage to his 1955 model car was estimated at $300.

A car driven by Maj. Charles A. Byrne, 39, of the Air Force Academy, made a near - perfect 180 - degree spin on US. 85-87, about six miles north of Colorado Springs, and collided almost head-on with a car driven by Catherine Bingert, 23, of Denver.

Both drivers escaped injury in the crash which occurred about 1:30 a.m. Saturday. Damage to each car was estimated at $150.

Thomas H. Melton, 22, Denver, was driving south in the 3200 block of North Nevada Avenue about 4:30 a.m. Saturday when his car veered off the left side of the road and knocked out three guard rails. No estimate of damage was given by the State Patol.

A car driven by Joseph J. Bartlack, 37, 105 S. Tejon St., skidded into a car stopped for a stop sign at Harrison Street and the Frontage Road.

According to the report, Bartlack's car struck the rear end of the stopped vehicle driven by J. E. Guerra, 24, 2404 N. Tejon St. Total damage to the two cars was set at $250.

practice, and three years ago voters rejected by a 50,000-vote margin a proposed constitutional amendment that would have placed daylight saving time in effect. Twenty-four states now have daylight saving.

Backers say the practice provides an additional hour of daylight and enhances family activities, stimulates tourist business, saves on light bills and increases outdoor recreation.

Theater operators and rural interests traditionally oppose the practice, however.

The bill to require daylight saving time in Colorado is sponsored by Democratic Sen. Floyd Oliver of Greeley and Republican Sens. Paul Wenke of Fort Collins and Williams Chenoweth of Denver.

Entertainment was furnished by the NORAD Commanders, and a person did not have to be a music critic to recognize that the Commanders gave a top-flight professional show. They had two curtain calls and when at last they quit, the crowd still wanted more.

Blankenship told the crowd that the tide of tomorrow will bring what people want only if the people accept the challenges of today.

He said, "Thank God for the good fortune of being born an American."

He pointed out that Americans today are engaged in a struggle that they didn't start in a world they didn't make, but young Americans, especially members of the Jaycees, must face the challenges.

Opportunity exists for all young Americans today if they will accept the challenge, Blakenship said.

The national president pointed out that more than two years ago the national Chamber of Commerce endorsed a resolution asking for a cut in national taxes.

Blankenship explained that although the tax cut plan now before Congress was not the one suggested by the national Jaycees that the Jaycees were glad to see the effort being made, and that the organization believed in the philosophy behind the idea.

"We believe the philosophy will work," he said.

Paddock was cited for his integrity and professional stature as a newspaper editor. He was credited with outstanding leadership in the successful campaign for expanded parks and permanent recreational facilities in the Boulder area.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field as of 8:30 p.m. yesterday)

Dry conditions prevailed over the nation Saturday afternoon and evening with precipitation rather hard to find.

In the east, clear skies and cold temperatures went together over northern sections as clouds and rain darkened skies in Florida.

In the midwest, occasional light snow surprised residents in North Texas and Oklahoma, while a few light flurries dotted the northern Plains.

Hazardous driving warnings are in effect for parts of northern Oklahoma due to snow on streets and highways.

In the far west, light rain fell in northern California. Elsewhere, a few scattered snow flurries in the northern Rockies added little if any to the snow pack in this area.

Temperatures in the northeast corner of the country remained cold thruout the day with teens or lower during mid afternoon from the upper Great Lakes to northern Pennsylvania and northward thru New England.

The freezing line ran from North Dakota southeastward to northeast North Carolina and 50s and higher were reached only along the southern tier of states from California to Florida.

In between, 40s were the rule over a large area from the south Atlantic states westward across the lower Mississippi Valley and middle Plains in to most of the western states.

Doctors at the hospital said all were examined and 37 were treated for slight carbon monoxide poisoning. None was hospitalized.

The students were enroute home to Bennett, 25 miles east of Denver.

The Denver Fire Department rushed resuscitators to the bus after it stopped here. Police said a number of the girls fell to the ground after leaving the bus.

Gov. Love Sees Finance Crisis For Schools

in the allottment to avoid "complicated formulas."

Second, the governor said he wants each county to contribute from 12-15 mills toward education, and he wants the mill rate based on the classroom unit for equalization.

Defending his budget recommendations which he made Friday to the Colorado Legislature, Gov. Love said more than one-third of the budget was marked for state support to education, a vital need.

In his budget he recommended $52,741,851 for aid to public schools; $35.1 million for higher education; and $33,510,527 for institutions.

The governor said the rising student population in the state's colleges and universities will probably mean a trebling of state funds for them within the next eight years. He said by 1970 predictions are that 60,000 students will be enrolled in the colleges. There are now 30,000.

Love said he expects junior colleges to play an increasingly important role in the future educational program.

He called for an end to "needless duplication and empire building" in allotment of state funds for education.

The state's institutions, Love said, "are less of a major problem and seem to be now on a plateau."

"The big problem," he said, "is in medicare for old age pensioners, a problem that can't be swept under the rug any longer. We need a new approach to it."

The governor said his study of needs for all three budget categories would be made by a professional staff working with representatives from organizations thruout the state.

The study will de directed from his office, the governor said.

A 25-year old Ft. Carson soldier, Cpl. Richard Blanding emerged without injury from an accident on U.S. 85-87, south of Fountain, about 6 a.m. Saturday, but was injured moments later when a truck hit his damaged car following the first impact, according to the State Patrol.

Sheriff Probes Car Prowls Saturday

Two car prowls in the Pikes Peak area early Saturday morning resulted in the loss of a considerable amount of clothing, the sheriff's office reported.

Clothing valued at $535 was reported stolen from a car owned by Gary O'Rourke, 400 Esther Dr., Security. The car was parked at the rear of the El Paso Service Station on U.S. 85-87, north of Security and according to the report, entry was gained by forcing open a window vent.

O'Rourke told sheriff's deputies that he was in the process of moving and that the clothing was on hangers in the car. He said there were a few items of clothing left in the car but the missing items included five dinner jackets, seven pairs of slacks, 15 to 20 sweaters and a jacket.

Fund Drive Headquarters At St. Francis

Headquarters for the St. Fracis Hospital Fund Drive now are located at the hospital and volunteer workers are needed to pick up a number of pledge cards which haven't been solicited yet.

Sister Mary Erharda, administrator, urged any worker interested in helping with this portion of the campaign to contact the hospital, 633-1713, and ask for the campaign headquarters.

St. Francis Hospital is planning a $2,700,000 building and remodeling program to be partially financed by public subscription.

A new six-story building which will contain all the modern facilities for a general hospital will be built in the area just west of the present complex of hospital buildings.

Two floors of the building will house 80 medical and surgical patient beds, some of which will replace beds now in the obsolete South Wing which was constructed in 1901.

The present South Wing will be razed for parking and the present main hospital building, to the north, no longer acceptable for acute patient care, will be remodeled and renovated to create a 30-bed geriatric department for care of senior citizens of the Colorado Springs area.

Two Colorado Springs attorneys, Hartley Murray and Cortland N. Cool, are serving as co-chairmen of the general fund drive.

Kansas Baptist Seminary Rocked By Bible Dispute

tify myself with a school that has so little regard for basic Christian principle."

Dr. Ralph Elliott, chairman of the Old Testament department, was fired last October because of the dispute over his book, "The Message of Genesis." Most dissension was among lay members of the Southern Baptist movement.

Peacock charged in a letter to Dr. Millard J. Berquist, president of the seminary, that Elliott was fired out of "appeasement and sacrifice."

"This act was a dishonorable and unjust attempt to sell the life of one man to buy off the attackers," he said in a letter.

Midwestern trains ministers and teachers for the church. It is housed in ultra-modern, suburban buildings. Many of the students are men in their late 20s and 30s who serve area churches.

Last fall they walked out of classes in protest of Elliott's firing. A spokesman then stressed they were irked by the clamp on academic freedom.

"The message of Genesis" treats the first book of the Old Testament as literature designed to illustrate points, not necessarily as an historic account. The Creation, the Garden of Eden, Noah and and other stories are challenged as facts, but probed for symbolic truths.

Duran's death raised the Colorado Highway traffic toll to 42, two more than at this time last year.

2,414 Hunting And Fishing Violations Noted

Chief Game Warden Jack Hogue of the Colorado Game and Fish Department, has reported that 2,414 violations of the state's game and fish laws and the department regulations were detected by the department's law enforcement men during 1962.

According to Hogue's figures, the most common violation in 1962 was illegal possession of small game—399 persons were ticketed for this violation.

The second highest figure was recorded for failure to properly tag big game, a violation that caught 369 persons. In third place in the tabulation of violations was fishing without license, which tripped 333 persons last year. And illegal possession of big game was the fourth most common violation involving 242 cases.

The least common infraction was resisting an officer, with only one such violation listed, followed by guiding without an appropriate license which involved two cases.

Hogue reported that a total of $67,063 was collected in fines, two-thirds of which went to the county in which the violation occurred and one-third to the Game and Fish Department.

Twenty-five fines levied for game or fish violations were not paid and the violators served out the time in jail in lieu of payment of fines.

Minstrels to Add Showboat Era To Mardi Gras

A touch of the American Show Boat era along the Mississippi will be interjected in the Mardi Gras ball this year when a group called the Merry Minstrels will vie for the spotlight at the ball to be held at the Broadmoor International center.

Six couples will comprise the group: Mr. and Mrs. Don Cox, Mr. and Mrs. James McGrew, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Don McInaney, Richard and Frank Peck and Pat Blume. They plan to bring to the Ball some of the laughs and steps that were so popular years ago with the Dixie Minstrels.

The popularity of masquerade groups for the Mardi Gres Ball is catching on. The first group was the Mystick Krewe of Comus formed of business and professional men three years ago. Last year the Grimaldi, named after the famous clown, Joe Grimaldi, made their appearance.

A fourth mystery group will make a surprise appearance this year. Officials say the group has not revealed its identy or what it will portray.

The masquerader groups plan to make the Annual Mardi Gras Ball of 1963 a memorable one.

Each group will have their own special call dance sometime during the evening when "The Woodchopers" of the Woody Herman Band signal.

The Coronation of the Queen Show at 10:30 p.m. will be new and dazzling this year.

All patrons are assured of a table reservation by writing to the Mardi Gras Committee, P.O. Box 6188, Colorado Springs. Reservations are still available.

The gray-white freighter, riding high in the water, held firmly south-southeast at 15 knots as it steamed down the coast of South America, its hijackers apparently intent on haven in Brazil.

The hijackers ignored two messages from U.S. naval forces ordering the ship to turn back. As one of three planes which found her started shooting rockets across the bow, the pirated vessel radioed, "Being attacked by North American aircraft."

The vessel was 140 miles north of the French Guiana coast when intercepted about dawn.

Seven hours later, two Venezuelan bombers were reported en route to the area. Their mission was not known but it was presumed to be to aid in surveillance and possibly attempt to turn the ship back.

Two Venezuelan destroyers also were reported pursuing the hijacked freighter, but a source close to the hijackers' antigovernment terrorist organization in Venezuela predicted the warships would be unable to catch the freighter if she maintained her course.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said he had no information about U.S. Navy planes firing rockets, but he added, "The planes might have fired the rockets merely to attract the ship's attention. They have had difficulty communicating."

(Asked if the rockets could have been fired in an effort to make the ship change course, he said, "No, they probably were trying to get a message to the ship. They probably were trying to attract attention.

"The ship is merely under surveillance, and it probably will be kept under surveillance all night.")

The Brazilian navy ordered its warships to seize the pirated ship if she turned into a Brazilian port. A high Brazilian government source indicated, however, that the hijackers would be granted political asylum in Brazil and the ship returned to Venezuela.

The leftist newspaper Clarin put out an extra addition in Caracas asserting that the Anzoategui was bound for the Brazilian port of Belem. The Clarin, the first to report that the ship was headed for Brazil, claimed the Venezuelan destroyers would not be able to intercept her.

The home of Calvin E. Hack, 2028 E. Dale St., was burglarized early Saturday morning and $258 taken from a billfold and purse while the man and his wife slept, according to a city police report.

Hack said he had not thought to check the back door before retiring, and had left it open thru the night.

Ex-Soldier Barred By VA Hospital Dies at Age 73

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Wilmer A. Summerville, an old soldier who lived in jail because he had nowhere else to go, is dead.

Summerville, 73, blind World War I veteran, died Friday at a private nursing home of a heart ailment. But he died knowing that someone cared.

The veteran spent 46 days in the Floyd County Jail because he had been refused admittance to government hospitals and could not afford private care. Sheriff Joe Adams came to Summerville's aid Dec. 20 and gave him a place to stay in the jail while the sheriff tried to arrange for his care.

He remained in jail until last week when Mrs. Christine Perry, operator of a nursing home at nearby Cedartown, read of his plight and offered to care for him free of charge.

Then he became ill. Doctors said he had suffered a heart attack Thursday. He died Friday with a smile on his lips.

"At the end I know he was happy," said Mrs. Perry. "He knew that somebody cared after all."

She said she and Adams had received many calls and letters from people wanting to help.

"Thursday," Mrs. Perry said, "the students at East Rome High School sent Mr. Summerville a big red Valentine. I sat at his bedside and read it to him."

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. today, with burial in the family cemetery near here.

The sheriff said Summerville had been refused admittance to Veterans' Administration homes because the VA requires that a veteran inmate be able to care for himself to some degree. Since Summerville was blind and helpless, he could not qualify.

Entertainment was furnished by the NORAD Commanders, and a person did not have to be a music critic to recognize that the Commanders gave a top-flight professional show. They had two curtain calls and when at last they quit, the crowd still wanted more.

Blankenship told the crowd that the tide of tomorrow will bring what people want only if the people accept the challenges of today.

He said, "Thank God for the good fortune of being born an American."

He pointed out that Americans today are engaged in a struggle that they didn't start in a world they didn't make, but young Americans, especially members of the Jaycees, must face the challenges.

Opportunity exists for all young Americans today if they will accept the challenge, Blakenship said.

The national president pointed out that more than two years ago the national Chamber of Commerce endorsed a resolution asking for a cut in national taxes.

Blankenship explained that although the tax cut plan now before Congress was not the one suggested by the national Jaycees that the Jaycees were glad to see the effort being made, and that the organization believed in the philosophy behind the idea.

"We believe the philosophy will work," he said.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field as of 8:30 p.m. yesterday)

In the midwest, occasional light snow surprised residents in North Texas and Oklahoma, while a few light flurries dotted the northern Plains.

Hazardous driving warnings are in effect for parts of northern Oklahoma due to snow on streets and highways.

In the far west, light rain fell in northern California. Elsewhere, a few scattered snow flurries in the northern Rockies added little if any to the snow pack in this area.

Temperatures in the northeast corner of the country remained cold thruout the day with teens or lower during mid afternoon from the upper Great Lakes to northern Pennsylvania and northward thru New England.

The freezing line ran from North Dakota southeastward to northeast North Carolina and 50s and higher were reached only along the southern tier of states from California to Florida.

In between, 40s were the rule over a large area from the south Atlantic states westward across the lower Mississippi Valley and middle Plains in to most of the western states.

Gov. Love Sees Finance Crisis For Schools

in the allottment to avoid "complicated formulas."

Second, the governor said he wants each county to contribute from 12-15 mills toward education, and he wants the mill rate based on the classroom unit for equalization.

Defending his budget recommendations which he made Friday to the Colorado Legislature, Gov. Love said more than one-third of the budget was marked for state support to education, a vital need.

In his budget he recommended $52,741,851 for aid to public schools; $35.1 million for higher education; and $33,510,527 for institutions.

The governor said the rising student population in the state's colleges and universities will probably mean a trebling of state funds for them within the next eight years. He said by 1970 predictions are that 60,000 students will be enrolled in the colleges. There are now 30,000.

Love said he expects junior colleges to play an increasingly important role in the future educational program.

He called for an end to "needless duplication and empire building" in allotment of state funds for education.

The state's institutions, Love said, "are less of a major problem and seem to be now on a plateau."

"The big problem," he said, "is in medicare for old age pensioners, a problem that can't be swept under the rug any longer. We need a new approach to it."

The governor said his study of needs for all three budget categories would be made by a professional staff working with representatives from organizations thruout the state.

The study will de directed from his office, the governor said.

Cheyenne Canon, Ivywild Propose Merger

The officers of the Cheyenne Canon Community Club and the Ivywild Improvement Society issued a joint announcement calling for a meeting of the residents of the two areas to consider the possibility of combining the Ivywild and Cheyenne Canon groups into a single organization.

The meeting is to be held at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 at the Fire Station, 780 Cheyenne Blvd.

If the consolidation is approved by the residents in attendance, the officials of the newly created organization will be nominated and elected by those attending the meeting.

The officials to be elected are six directors — three representing Ivywild and three representing Cheyenne Canon.

The present officers of the Cheyenne Community Club and Ivywild Improvement Society, stated that this action is being taken in response to the numerous requests received from the members over the past few years.

The residents of both areas explain that this consolidantion is natural because of the common interests in first protection from the same fire organization; service from the same water company; joint use of the same sanitation mains and lift station; same geographical location and same county government political subdivision.

Additional reasons put forth are: in unity there will be greater strength; a consolidated organization will be more capable of accomplishing goals and a larger representation will be more effective in protecting the interests of the area.

Supporting the proposal of united action are the accomplishments of the past combined efforts. Examples of these are securing fire protection; reduction of fire insurance rates; original paving of streets; purchase and installation of street lights; assurance of adequate water supply; installation of school stop signs and stop lights and establishment of sanitation district.

The projects of the future requiring unified efforts outlined by the officers of the two organizations are street markings, street lighting and road improvements.

All residents of Ivywild and Cheyenne Canon are urged to attend this meeting.

Manitou High School News

By CATHY HENDRICKS

Jim Leek, a senior at Manitou High School is one of the 11,000 finalists named in the National Merit Test. These 11,000 seniors represent half of one per cent of all the seniors who took the test. Scholarships will be given to 1,200. Winners will be determined from past high school records and from recommendations. No further testing is now necessary.

Cheryl Washburn, cheerleader from Manitou, is sending letters to all league cheerleaders concerning a league cheer. Other cheerleaders in the Pikes Peak League were asked to reply immediately to tell Cheryl of their approval or disapproval of this idea, and to suggest possible cheers.

Seniors are starting on their term papers for the first quarter of the second semester. These term papers will be different from any type the students have done in the past. Before, students compare two writers or authors or write an autobiography of some famous person. This year seniors are writing papers of their own opinions and ideas. Some of the subjects are as follows: "Man's Inhumanity to Man," "Humor, Laughter, and Tall Tales," "What Causes Decissions," and "Science in Today's World."

The PTA met at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the Senior High School Auditorium. The guest speaker for the evening was Army Col. Jay R. Bogue, (Ret), who spoke on the common market. Since this program was timely, the PTA invited the entire community to attend. High School students who were interested, especially those in the economics and American Problems classes were also invited.

Past presidents were honored at this meeting. Refreshments were served by the PTA officers, followed the meeting.

New "Honor Study Halls" are being tried second, third and fifth periods. In these the students are put in an unsupervised room and are on their "honor" to study and not to talk. No more than 10 students are placed in one room at the same time; one student will take roll and give the necessary passes. So far these study hall's have worked extremely well.

Friday the Student Council sponsored a "Clash With Harrison Day." For those students who participated the English teachers judged. Students wore clothes that clashed or that didn't match.

Student Day, a day when students teach and teachers become students, will be held some time within the next two weeks. Information concerning who will be eligible for faculty positions, administration positions, and custodian positions will be decided upon at a later date.

Seniors worked late Tuesday and Wednesday nights to finish the sports, advertising, and club sections of the annual. These will probably be the last sections to send in before the annual comes out on Green and Gold Day at the end of the school year.

Jack Willie, athletic director at MHS, is sponsoring intramurals for high school boys and girls. A week ago Saturday the senior girls beat the sophomore girls, 6-3. The freshmen girls had to forfeit their game to the junior girls because they didn't have enough players.

$5 PER 24 HOUR DAY 5¢ PER MILE RENTS SHINY NEW AUTOMOBILES THROUGH THE BUDGET RENT-A-CAR SYSTEM

Be part of America's fast-growing rent-a-car system, BUDGET RENT-A-CAR. The Budget fleet has grown 1200% in three years, greater growth lies ahead—and YOU can be a part of this phenomenal success!

WHY is this rate of growth possible? Simply because Budget rents new cars—Corvairs and Falcons—at $5 per 24-hour day, 5 cents per mile! Chevy Impalas and Ford Galaxies at $7 a day and 5 cents a mile. How can customers fail to recognize such a value when competitors rent similar cars at rates higher by 40 to 80%—$7 to $9 per day and 7 to 9 cents per mile!

BUDGET RENT-A-CAR now operates in more than 60 cities from coast-to-coast and in Canada. Present franchises include Los Angeles, San Diego, Phoenix, Houston, Washington, D.C., Chicago, Joliet, Denver, Salt Lake City, Boston, Baltimore, Richmond, Philadelphia, Honolulu, Portland and El Paso.

BUDGET RENT-A-CAR rates are nationally advertised...in publications such as the Wall Street Journal, Sales Management, Management Methods, Esquire, Business Week, Newsweek, and many more. The Budget value appeals, too, to the virtually untapped market of individuals who need an extra car on occasion. In The Shadow of the Garden of the Gods

William Gilpin, first Territorial Governor of Colorado proposed the name "Garden of the Immortal God" for the stately red rock park at the foot of Ute Pass. But it was Rufus E. Cable who gave it a lasting name. Cable, a guide for M. E. Beach who planned a trading post in the vicinity, was shocked at Beach's remark when they saw the "garden". He said, "What a place for a beer garden." Testily Cable answered, "No. This is a place fit for a "Garden of the Gods." This shall be its name."

The Garden of the Gods has always been looked upon with a certain sancity. It is said that at least one pioneer —tho nameless—expressed his desire for the "Garden" as his final resting place, even to the selection of one of the statey rocks for his headstone. Others, however, felt that a spot on the mesa overlooking the Garden of the Gods and Camp Creek — Now Westmoor Park — would be a more appropriate for the "burying ground." Markers still stand in the first cemetery. Though many of the earliest graves were left unmarked, and burial performed at night. This was done to protect the graves from the Indians, who were known to ravage graves to prevent the white's spirit from "going to the great beyond." Had there been headstones perhaps more would be known today of the people who settled in Camp Creek Valley.

Many individuals considered homesteading the Garden of the Gods. The first was Bill Garvin, Colorado City storekeeper. Later, among others, the well known pioneer Irving Howbert, after whom the school in Westmoor Park is named. None followed through, however, and the area retained its serene park-like quality.

It is here in the "shadow of the Garden of the Gods" that WESTMOOR PARK is developing one of the region's finest residential areas. We invite you to build in Westmoor Park.

Manitou High School News

By CATHY HENDRICKS

Jim Leek, a senior at Manitou High School is one of the 11,000 finalists named in the National Merit Test. These 11,000 seniors represent half of one per cent of all the seniors who took the test. Scholarships will be given to 1,200. Winners will be determined from past high school records and from recommendations. No further testing is now necessary.

Cheryl Washburn, cheerleader from Manitou, is sending letters to all league cheerleaders concerning a league cheer. Other cheerleaders in the Pikes Peak League were asked to reply immediately to tell Cheryl of their approval or disapproval of this idea, and to suggest possible cheers.

Seniors are starting on their term papers for the first quarter of the second semester. These term papers will be different from any type the students have done in the past. Before, students compare two writers or authors or write an autobiography of some famous person. This year seniors are writing papers of their own opinions and ideas. Some of the subjects are as follows: "Man's Inhumanity to Man," "Humor, Laughter, and Tall Tales," "What Causes Decissions," and "Science in Today's World."

The PTA met at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the Senior High School Auditorium. The guest speaker for the evening was Army Col. Jay R. Bogue, (Ret), who spoke on the common market. Since this program was timely, the PTA invited the entire community to attend. High School students who were interested, especially those in the economics and American Problems classes were also invited.

Past presidents were honored at this meeting. Refreshments were served by the PTA officers, followed the meeting.

Miss Joni Reindhart's second period art class has been writing books, illustrating them, and binding them; first period art class has been drawing murals. These murals were displayed during the PTA meeting last Tuesday.

New "Honor Study Halls" are being tried second, third and fifth periods. In these the students are put in an unsupervised room and are on their "honor" to study and not to talk. No more than 10 students are placed in one room at the same time; one student will take roll and give the necessary passes. So far these study halls have worked extremely well.

Friday the Student Council sponsored a "Clash With Harrison Day." For those students who participated the English teachers judged. Students wore clothes that clashed or that didn't match.

Student Day, a day when students teach and teachers become students, will be held some time within the next two weeks. Information concerning who will be eligible for faculty positions, administration positions, and custodian positions will be decided upon at a later date.

Seniors worked late Tuesday and Wednesday nights to finish the sports, advertising, and club sections of the annual. These will probably be the last sections to send in before the annual comes out on Green and Gold Day at the end of the school year.

Jack Willie, athletic director at MHS, is sponsoring intramurals for high school boys and girls. A week ago Saturday the senior girls beat the sophomore girls, 6-3. The freshmen girls had to forfeit their game to the junior girls because they didn't have enough players.

Rat Poison Named as Child Killer in the South

A medical research team today urged a ban on household use of thallium sulphate, a rat poison that can cause death or permanent brain damage when eaten by children.

The victims are almost always children who consume food saturated with the poison as a bait for rodents and insects, according to a report in the current Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Complete curtailment of household use of thallium-sulphate-containing pesticides is the only effective way of stopping thallium sulphate poisoning," the medical team said.

The report was written by Drs. Dwayne Reed, and Leonard T. Kurland of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, Bethesda, Md.; Drs. James Crawley and Samuel J. Pieper of Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, and Dr. Stanley N. Faro, fomerly of the National Institute, now at the University of California, San Francisco.

"Disturbing numbers of cases of thallium sulphate poisoning are occuring thruout the southern states," the physicians warned.

Between 1954 and 1959 in southern Texas alone, they said, more than 130 children were poisoned by the accidental ingestion of this compound.

The group reviewed case reports of 72 poisoning in Houston, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and Galveston. All of the victims were under 12 years of age.

The study showed that 13 per cent, or 9 of the 72, had died. Of 48 survivors, 26, or 54 per cent had adnormalities involving the nervous system, the authors said.

Mental abnormalities, namely, retardation and psychosis, were the most common findings, they said. Several children were so severely retarded they had to be placed in institutions, they said.

Abnormal reflexes, irregular muscular coordination, and tremor were the next most common findings, they said.

Since the abnormalities were present six months to seven years after ingestion of the poison, they were considered permanent, the physicians said.

Present legislation, which limits the content of thallium sulphate in household pesticides to one per cent is not adequate, they said. Texas enacted such a law in 1957 and the U.S. Department of Agriculture issued a similar regulation in 1960, they said. Nevertheless, they said, 21 per cent of the 72 cases in Texas occurred after the 1957 law was enacted.

Rat poison containing thallium sulphate could be replaced by compounds which are more effective and relatively harmless to humans, they said.

In lieu of a ban on this poison, the authors said, "every household should be made aware that thallium-sulphate, containing pesticides may cause permanent neurological damage, and that an effective antidote is yet to be found.

DU'S Boettcher Center Dedication Set for Monday

Dedication ceremonies at 10 a.m. Monday will formally open the West's most modern facility for the pursuit of scientific studies and research—the Boettcher Center for Science, Engineering and Research at the University of Denver.

The new addition to the University Park Campus is located at 2100 E. Iliff Ave.

The dedication ceremonies will open a week of special engineering and science programs to be held in the new Boettcher Center. Monday evening, Dr. Edward Teller, popularly known as the father of the H-Bomb and recent winner of the Enrico Fermi award of the Atomic Energy Commission, will speak at a formal dedication banquet at the Brown Palace Hotel.

Other highlights of the week include Engineers Day tours and exhibits in the new center on Tuesday, and an evening lecture by Dr. Wallace Brode, past national president of the Society of Sigma Xi and nationally known for his advanced work in both chemistry and physics.

A Wednesday evening program in the new center auditorium will feature a panel discussion by prominent scientists on the relationship between technology and the life sciences.

Many activites in the center during the dedication week are closely coordinated with other local, regional and national observances of engineers week.

The Boettcher Center architectural complex provides a new dimension of learning in which the objectives of the science teacher-researcher will be better integrated with the applied work of the engineer.

Presently, the center consists of three buildings connected by a covered arcade. Eventually, a total of eight will make up the complex. About half of the present 66,000 square feet interior is designed for teaching, the remainder devoted to research and supporting facilities.

The east side of the complex is a two-story unit of 15,000 square feet, housing a science and engineering library, rooms for classes and conferences, and offices of the dean of the College of Engineering, the director of Denver Research Institute, and the Department of Physics.

On the west side, a three-story structure of 38,000 square feet houses activites of electrical engineering and electronics research.

A spacious computer facility and a lecture room which can "grow" to accomodate up to 120 students with special provisions for motion picture projection and closed circuit television highlight features here, with additional space devoted to classrooms, faculty offices and specialized research rooms.

The third floor of "Boettcher West" houses an electronics antennae laboratory for research. Ten additional laboratories in the west unit are specifically designed for electronics systems, electromagnetic propagation studies, solid state electronics, circuits, general graduate research and energy conversion work.

The south unit is an auditorium seating up to 400 persons for lectures with scientific demonstrations, movies, closed-circuit telecasts or special events.

A 9,500-square-foot covered arcade connecting the three buildings surrounds reflecting pools which furnish the complex with a coolant.

Exterior of the Boettcher Center is mo-sai finished with quartz aggregate. Interior finishes of wood paneling and the new Idealite, a lightweight cement-clay brick, combine for an atmosphere of simplicity and warmth.

Repetition of the diamond shapes occurring on the exterior is found in the idealite corridors inside, and in classrooms, offices and the auditorium.

The Boettther gift of $1.25 million for construction of the initial three units of the planned $7 million complex was made in 1958. Two years of intensive planning on the part of the University of Denver, Chicago architects Perkins and Will, Fuller and Fuller, and the builder, A.A. and E.B. Jones Co., followed. Groundbreaking was in January, 1960, and occupancy began last fall.

Rat Poison Named as Child Killer in the South

A medical research team today urged a ban on household use of thallium sulphate, a rat poison that can cause death or permanent brain damage when eaten by children.

The victims are almost always children who consume food saturated with the poison as a bait for rodents and insects, according to a report in the current Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Complete curtailment of household use of thallium-sulphate-containing pesticides is the only effective way of stopping thallium sulphate poisoning," the medical team said.

The report was written by Drs. Dwayne Reed, and Leonard T. Kurland of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, Bethesda, Md.; Drs. James Crawley and Samuel J. Pieper of Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, and Dr. Stanley N. Faro, fomerly of the National Institute, now at the University of California, San Francisco.

"Disturbing numbers of cases of thallium sulphate poisoning are occuring thruout the southern states," the physicians warned.

Between 1954 and 1959 in southern Texas alone, they said, more than 130 children were poisoned by the accidental ingestion of this compound.

The group reviewed case reports of 72 poisoning in Houston, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and Galveston. All of the victims were under 12 years of age.

The study showed that 13 per cent, or 9 of the 72, had died. Of 48 survivors, 26, or 54 per cent had adnormalities involving the nervous system, the authors said.

Mental abnormalities, namely, retardation and psychosis, were the most common findings, they said. Several children were so severely retarded they had to be placed in institutions, they said.

Abnormal reflexes, irregular muscular coordination, and tremor were the next most common findings, they said.

Since the abnormalities were present six months to seven years after ingestion of the poison, they were considered permanent, the physicians said.

Present legislation, which limits the content of thallium sulphate in household pesticides to one per cent is not adequate, they said. Texas enacted such a law in 1957 and the U.S. Department of Agriculture issued a similar regulation in 1960, they said. Nevertheless, they said, 21 per cent of the 72 cases in Texas occurred after the 1957 law was enacted.

Rat poison containing thallium sulphate could be replaced by compounds which are more effective and relatively harmless to humans, they said.

In lieu of a ban on this poison, the authors said, "every household should be made aware that thallium-sulphate, containing pesticides may cause permanent neurological damage, and that an effective antidote is yet to be found.

Palmer High School News

BY KATHERINE JOHNSON

Next year, Palmer is going to feature another special class open to juniors and seniors only. For the last two semesters the school has experimented with a one semester course in political government for interested students. The class offers students the chance of a preliminary study of American government. It has now been thought that study of the history of the Far East would be beneficial for Palmer students. The course would include the history of China as well as Japan, India, and Southeast Asia. Also, aspects of early cultures will be covered. The class is planned in the hope of developing a better understanding of the Far East. It will be taught by R. E. Calhoun.

About 30 members of the Ski Club spent Saturday at Indian Head.

DU'S Boettcher Center Dedication Set for Monday

Dedication ceremonies at 10 a.m. Monday will formally open the West's most modern facility for the pursuit of scientific studies and research—the Boettcher Center for Science, Engineering and Research at the University of Denver.

The new addition to the University Park Campus is located at 2100 E. Iliff Ave.

The dedication ceremonies will open a week of special engineering and science programs to be held in the new Boettcher Center. Monday evening, Dr. Edward Teller, popularly known as the father of the H-Bomb and recent winner of the Enrico Fermi award of the Atomic Energy Commission, will speak at a formal dedication banquet at the Brown Palace Hotel.

Other highlights of the week include Engineers Day tours and exhibits in the new center on Tuesday, and an evening lecture by Dr. Wallace Brode, past national president of the Society of Sigma Xi and nationally known for his advanced work in both chemistry and physics.

A Wednesday evening program in the new center auditorium will feature a panel discussion by prominent scientists on the relationship between technology and the life sciences.

Many activites in the center during the dedication week are closely coordinated with other local, regional and national observances of engineers week.

The Boettcher Center architectural complex provides a new dimension of learning in which the the objectives of the science teacher-researcher will be better integrated with the applied work of the engineer.

Presently, the center consists of three buildings connected by a covered arcade. Eventually, a total of eight will make up the complex. About half of the present 66,000 square feet interior is designed for teaching, the remainder devoted to research and supporting facilities.

The east side of the complex is a two-story unit of 15,000 square feet, housing a science and engineering library, rooms for classes and conferences, and offices of the dean of the College of Engineering, the director of Denver Research Institute, and the Department of Physics.

On the west side, a three-story structure of 38,000 square feet houses activites of electrical engineering and electronics research.

A spacious computer facility and a lecture room which can "grow" to accomodate up to 120 students with special provisions for motion picture projection and closed circuit television highlight features here, with additional space devoted to classrooms, faculty offices and specialized research rooms.

The third floor of "Boettcher West" houses an electronics antennae laboratory for research. Ten additional laboratories in the west unit are specifically designed for electronics systems, electromagnetic propagation studies, solid state electronics, circuits, general graduate research and energy conversion work.

The south unit is an auditorium seating up to 400 persons for lectures with scientific demonstrations, movies, closed-circuit telecasts or special events.

A 9,500-square-foot covered arcade connecting the three buildings surrounds reflecting pools which furnish the complex with a coolant.

Exterior of the Boettcher Center is mo-sai finished with quartz aggregate. Interior finishes of wood paneling and the new Idealite, a lightweight cement-clay brick, combine for an atmosphere of simplicity and warmth.

Repetition of the diamond shapes occurring on the exterior is found in the idealite corridors inside, and in classrooms, offices and the auditorium.

The Boettner gift of $1.25 million for construction of the initial three units of the planned $7 million complex was made in 1958. Two years of intensive planning on the part of the University of Denver, Chicago architects Perkins and Will, Fuller and Fuller, and the builder, A.A. and E.B. Jones Co., followed. Groundbreaking was in January, 1960, and occupancy began last fall.

Ft. Carson Riflemen Take Honors at Match

Veteran Cook At Ft. Carson To Retire

Master Sgt. James Turner, who has cooked from West Point to Korea for an international clientele, will retire Feb. 28 at Ft. Carson and will continue living at 312 S. Prospect St.

Turner said that he cooked for a colonel at the U. S. Military Academy before he drew his first cook's uniform in the Army. He recalled that on his first scheduled kitchen police detail the mess sergeant learned that he had been a cook. He has been in Army Food Service ever since.

His final assignment has been with the Ft. Carson Quartermaster meat plant.

In World War II, Turner spent three years in the South Pacific at New Caledonia, Guadalcanal, New Guinea and the Philippines.

While he was in Korea in 1950 and 1951 as a combat engineer mess steward, Turner recalled setting up a roadside mess to serve a variety of United Nations troops traveling to and from the front lines.

He said that he got rations anywhere possible and even baked there.

His stations in the United States have ranged from Camp Drum, N. Y., to Ft. Carson and from mess stewards school, Fort Belvoir, Va., west to Ft. Bliss, Tex., and Ft. Huachuca, Ariz.

Turner has been stationed for four years in Germany and even had a duty tour in Eritrea, East Africa.

Michael George, Marine Private

Michael E. George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. George of 125 Ely St., Security, has been promoted to the rank of Marine Pfc.

Pfc. George is a member of the detachment, USS Columbus, a guided missile cruiser of the Pacific Fleet. He is serving in the capacity of Captain's Orderly, a position afforded only to outstanding Marines.

George enlisted in the active Marine Corps Reserve in September, 1961. He joined the regular Marine Corps and departed on active duty on May 31, 1962.

He is a 1962 graduate of Widefield High School and was a member of his school's football and wrestling teams.

Local Man Part of Vital Navy Antarctic Operation

Daniel J. Lundstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Lundstrom, 1235 N. Meade Ave., is one of a group of 10 men known as loadmasters in Air Development Squadron Six, who are responsible for one of the most important jobs in the Navy's Antarctic support program.

Lundstrom is aviation boatswain's mate third class with the group. Loadmasters are directly behind the aerial resupplying of the inland stations on the White Continent.

VX—6 has been lending logistic support to science since it was originally commissioned in 1955 to take part in the International Geophysical Year of 1957-58.

The Quonset Point, R. I., Navy squadron operates in the Antarctic each year from September through March ferrying supplies and equipment to the scientific stations operated by the United States at the bottom of the world.

These stations include McMurdo, main U. S. base on the edge of the Ross Sea; New Byrd; South Pole; Hallett; and Eights Station, presently under construction on the Eights Coast near the Sentinel and Lowell Thomas Mountains.

As a Loadmaster assigned to one of the squadron ski-equipped Hercules C-130's at the Williams Filed ice and snow airstrip on the Ross Ice Shelf, Lundstrom is responsible for the loading and securing of cargo aboard the squadron aircraft. However, the task is more inclusive than the physical placement of the cargo aboard the planes.

A Loadmaster must know the fuel, cargo and aircraft weight, and the plane's limitations. Balance is an important factor in affecting the performance of the aircraft.

As in the case of the squadron's four engine Hercules with a gross weight of 135,000 pounds, the load must be evenly distributed so it will not interfere with the aircraft becoming airborne.

Prearranged on roller conveyors, the cargo can be off—loaded in the time it takes for it to roll out of the aircraft, minimizing the ground time of the mighty "Hercs". The back ramp is opened and 12 tons of cargo are out in approximately one minute while the C-130 is in motion.

VX-6 aircraft have hauled 1,080 total tons in the Antarctic to date, including 1,440 passengers.

He joined the Navy in Colorado Springs in Jan 1958 after attending Colorado Springs High School. Since completing recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., he saw duty in Norman, Okla.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Bayonne, N. J.; and Cecil Field, Fla.; before reporting to VX-6.

ROME (AP)—Some of Italy's teachers' unions have some pretty snazzy-sounding name abbreviations. Just a few: SASMI, SNASE, SNSM and SNIA. They stand for Italian High School Teachers Union, Elementary School Teachers Union, National High School Teachers Union and National Independent Teachers Union.

Henley Appointed Public Relations Director

A former principal of Horace Mann Junior High School has been appointed field representative and public relations director of the Public Employes' Retirement Association, Denver.

He is Marvin J. Henley, longtime leader in education who retired in September, 1962, from his position in the Colorado Springs schools.

Henley, who assumed his new post Jan. 2, is a former member of the Public Employes' Retirement Board and was instrumental in obtaining retirement coverage for school employees in 1943.

He was one of the original board members from the school division of the retirement association, and served on the board for more than 18 years. He was chairman of the board and vice-chairman at the time of his resignation in 1962.

Henley is completing his second consecutive three-year term as a National Education Association appointee to the executive committee of the National Council on Teacher Retirement.

In his new job, Henley will work in the areas of legislation, pre-retirement counselling, information publications and public relations projects developed for the benefit of the membership.

Michael George, Marine Private

Michael E. George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. George of 125 Ely St., Security, has been promoted to the rank of Marine Pfc.

Pfc. George is a member of the detachment, USS Columbus, a guided missile cruiser of the Pacific Fleet. He is serving in the capacity of Captain's Orderly, a position afforded only to outstanding Marines.

George enlisted in the active Marine Corps Reserve in September, 1961. He joined the regular Marine Corps and departed on active duty on May 31, 1962.

He is a 1962 graduate of Widefield High School and was a member of his school's football and wrestling teams.

Local Man Part of Vital Navy Antarctic Operation

Daniel J. Lundstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Lundstrom, 1235 N. Meade Ave., is one of a group of 10 men known as loadmasters in Air Development Squadron Six, who are responsible for one of the most important jobs in the Navy's Antarctic support program.

Lundstrom is aviation boatswain's mate third class with the group. Loadmasters are directly behind the aerial resupplying of the inland stations on the White Continent.

VX—6 has been lending logistic support to science since it was originally commissioned in 1955 to take part in the International Geophysical Year of 1957-58.

The Quonset Point, R. I., Navy squadron operates in the Antarctic each year from September through March ferrying supplies and equipment to the scientific stations operated by the United States at the bottom of the world.

These stations include McMurdo, main U. S. base on the edge of the Ross Sea; New Byrd; South Pole; Hallett; and Eights Station, presently under construction on the Eights Coast near the Sentinel and Lowell Thomas Mountains.

As a Loadmaster assigned to one of the squadron ski-equipped Hercules C-130's at the Williams Filed ice and snow airstrip on the Ross Ice Shelf, Lundstrom is reponsible for the loading and securing of cargo aboard the squadron aircraft. However, the task is more inclusive than the physical placement of the cargo aboard the planes.

A Loadmaster must know the fuel, cargo and aircraft weight, and the plane's limitations. Balance is an important factor in affecting the performance of the aircraft.

As in the case of the squadron's four engine Hercules with a gross weight of 135,000 pounds, the load must be evenly distributed so it will not interfere with the aircraft becoming airborne.

Prearranged on roller conveyors, the cargo can be off—loaded in the time it takes for it to roll out of the aircraft, minimizing the ground time of the mighty "Hercs". The back ramp is opened and 12 tons of cargo are out in approximately one minute while the C-130 is in motion.

VX-6 aircraft have hauled 1,080 total tons in the Antarctic to date, including 1,440 passengers.

He joined the Navy in Colorado Springs in Jan 1958 after attending Colorado Springs High School. Since completing recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., he saw duty in Norman, Okla.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Bayonne, N. J.; and Cecil Field, Fla.; before reporting to VX-6.

ROME (AP)—Some of Italy's teachers' unions have some pretty snazzy-sounding name abbreviations. Just a few: SASMI, SNASE, SNSM and SNIA. They stand for Italian High School Teachers Union, Elementary School Teachers Union, National High School Teachers Union and National Independent Teachers Union.

Henley Appointed Public Relations Director

A former principal of Horace Mann Junior High School has been appointed field representative and public relations director of the Public Employes' Retirement Association, Denver.

He is Marvin J. Henley, longtime leader in education who retired in September, 1962, from his position in the Colorado Springs schools.

Henley, who assumed his new post Jan. 2, is a former member of the Public Employes' Retirement Board and was instrumental in obtaining retirement coverage for school employees in 1943.

He was one of the original board members from the school division of the retirement association, and served on the board for more than 18 years. He was chairman of the board and vice-chairman at the time of his resignation in 1962.

Henley is completing his second consecutive three-year term as a National Education Association appointee to the executive committee of the National Council on Teacher Retirement.

In his new job, Henley will work in the areas of legislation, pre-retirement counselling, information publications and public relations projects developed for the benefit of the membership.

Heading the sessions will be specialists from five Colorado Springs banks. Each session will deal with various areas of financial planning for women.

They will cover such topics as family and financial practices; savings, investments and insurance; wills, trust—general conservation of estates; and taxes, gifts and donations.

Local banks participating in the seminars are First National Bank, Colorado Springs National Bank, Exchange National Bank, Colorado Commercial Bank, and Central Colorado Bank.

Local Architect Lauds Region at Planning Meeting

The Rocky Mountain area can become the recreation center for the entire nation as well as an industrial and a research center, Gordon Ingraham, a Colorado springs architect, said Friday at the University of Colorado.

In a speech, prepared for delivery to more than 100 planning officials from Rocky Mountain states at CU's fifth annual Institute for planning officials. Ingraham said successful development planning for the area could guide other semiarid areas of the world.

Ingraham recently completed a study of Rocky Mountain growth potential. His study was financed by the Rockefeller Foundation and carried out under the guidance of a committee at Colorado College.

"The common problem of all semiarid areas is water," he said. "A failure to accept its restrictions as well as its opportunities will cause distress."

He said planning must aim at developing things that require less water than agriculture, such as more electronic and research industries, new cities and cultural-recreation areas.

"What we do here will be watched closely by similar areas all over the world," Ingraham said, so development should be done on a careful, scholarly and practical basis." He proposed the establishment of a non-government institution to provide liaison among all parties concerned with development.

Other institute sessions Friday dealt with fundamentals of planning, subdivisions and zoning and economic planning reports on various areas of Colorado.

The institute concluded Saturday with clinics on the role of planning boards.

Local banks participating in the seminars are First National Bank, Colorado Springs National Bank, Exchange National Bank, Colorado Commercial Bank, and Central Colorado Bank.

Registration tickets will be available after Feb. 18 at any of the five banks or at Rastall Center on the Colorado College campus. The registration fee is $2 and all tickets are transferrable.

Local Architect Lauds Region at Planning Meeting

The Rocky Mountain area can become the recreation center for the entire nation as well as an industrial and a research center, Gordon Ingraham, a Colorado springs architect, said Friday at the University of Colorado.

In a speech prepared for delivery to more than 100 planning officials from Rocky Mountain states at CU's fifth annual Institute for planning officials, Ingraham said successful development planning for the area could guide other semiarid areas of the world.

Ingraham recently completed a study of Rocky Mountain growth potential. His study was financed by the Rockefeller Foundation and carried out under the guidance of a committee at Colorado College.

"The common problem of all semiarid areas is water," he said. "A failure to accept its restrictions as well as its opportunities will cause distress."

He said planning must aim at developing things that require less water than agriculture, such as more electronic and research industries, new cities and cultural-recreation areas.

"What we do here will be watched closely by similar areas all over the world," Ingraham said, so development should be done on a careful, scholarly and practical basis." He proposed the establishment of a non-government institution to provide liaison among all parties concerned with development.

Other institute sessions Friday dealt with fundamentals of planning, subdivisions and zoning and economic planning reports on various areas of Colorado.

The institute concluded Saturday with clinics on the role of planning boards.

Ft. Carson Engineers Diversified

The claim of the 7th Engineer Battalion at Ft. Carson that they are the "most diversified unit at Ft. Carson," will not be challenged by many who have witnessed this group in action.

Evidence of its skill extends from Deckers to Wetmore and includes numerous projects in 1962 for on-the-job training under the the leadership of Lt. Col. Rolf Mickelson, battalion commander. This performance was recognized as the engineer battalion of the 5th Infantry Divison (mechanized) was completing its advanced individual, basic unit and advanced unit training as the combat engineers in the Army's first road mechanized infantry division.

Tuesday, in conjunction with the first anniversary celebration of the 5th, the 7th will put on a display of equipment and ability in observance of National Engineers Week.

The work of the engineers training and in actual practice never stops.

The 1963 schedule calls for the versatile troops of the 7th to operate a group of 27-foot boats whose top speed is 18 miles per hour, erect pontoon bridges, rehabilitate various training areas at Ft. Carson and continue their engineering training while doing these things.

Part of this training will continue into 1963 including the improvement of the Tarryall sector of Pike National Forest. Fire control roads for access to new recreation areas, culvert replacement, application of 13 tons of fertilizer and 3,500 pounds of grass seed to inhibit soil erosion on 350 acres are typical improvements.

National Engineering Week Observed Starting Today

By RAY HERST

Professional engineers thruout Colorado will observe National Engineers Week starting today. Theme for the week-long observance will be "America's Engineers Build for the Future."

Highlight of the local observance today will be a tour of the new Chidlaw Building on Bijou Street.

Area engineers will be guests of the ADC civil engineers on the tour which will begin at 2:15 p.m. ADC engineers will explain problems encountered in construction of the new headquarters building which contains 300,000 square feet of space.

Other activities planned during the week include lectures, displays and special meetings.

Ley Callen, Colorado Springs, state president of the Professional Engineers, said the week will be capped by the 47th Colorado Engineers' Convention to be held Friday and Saturday at the Denver Hilton.

Callen has named Ken Kolstad, also of Colorado Springs, as state chairman of Engineers' Week activities.

The engineers' convention will be supported by every Engineering Society of the state and the American Institute of Architects, Allen said.

The Professional Engineers of Colorado is the state body of the National Society of Professional Engineers. In Colorado there are six chapters of the PEC. The chapters are Pikes Peak in Colorado Springs, Boulder; Jefferson, in Jefferson County; Metropolitan, in Denver; Northern Colorado; and Ute, in western Colorado.

The NSPE, founded in 1934, is made up of more than 56,000 professional engineers.

NORAD's Combat Center Continues To Grow

For the past six years ADC Civil Engineers have been actively engaged in one of the most prodigious engineering feats of this century.

On Thursday, three days before the start of National Engineers Week, bids were opened for the second phase of this project and construction will get underway within a month.

This project is NORAD's Combat Operations Center "Hardsite" which lies located deep in the heart of Cheyenne Mountain.

In 1957, ADC engineers, working with other agencies, were handed the problem of providing an operations center which would be foolproof, if possible, against nuclear attack.

Their decision was to bury the center under tons of mountain and they did just that.

The job was done and is being done. The excavation of the site is completed except for a few remedial operations, Air Force officials said.

Construction of 11 buildings at a cost of $6.9 million should get underway shortly.

The problems encountered by the engineers in designing the site were numerous, but they have been overcome. For instance, plans call for all-steel buildings to be mounted on steel springs to absorb the shock of a nuclear explosion or a natural earth upheaval. The problms of ventilation, water, etc. have also been solved and when completed, Hardsite will be fully operational almost as a city in itself.

ADC engineers are also responsible for the new Chidlaw Building here which will house 1,700 persons assigned to Headquarters ADC.

ADC Engineers Face Huge Tasks in U.S. and Abroad

The problems challenging the Civil Engineers of the U.S. Air Force's Air Defense Command are not too far removed from the near impossible feats which faced the mighty Hercules of mythology.

Their responsibilities include the maintenance and operation of everything from runways to portable nuclear power plants. They are responsible for nearly $2 billion worth of facilities located on 650 installations in the United States, Canada, Alaska, Greenland, Iceland and other overseas areas.

Their job includes providing, operating and maintaining the runways, missile launchers, radar towers, power plants, hangars, shops, warehouses and other real property facilities belonging to ADC.

Some 13,000 people, stationed primarily at radar stations and major bases, perform the Civil Engineering job for ADC. Overall direction and guidance is exercised by Col. E.V.N. Schuyler, deputy chief of staff for civil engineering, Hq ADC, and his staff.

In addition to the Civil Engineering staff in Headquarters ADC, similar staffs on a smaller scale are established in the eight ADC numbered Air Divisions located thruout the United States and the 9th Aerospace Defense Division located in Colorado Springs.

Engineering challenges are magnified and increased by the wide range of climate and terrain spanned by ADC installations and by the complexity of ADC weapon, radar and communications systems, many of which include new equipment and products fresh from research and development laboratories.

The two ADC air bases in Greenland, Thule Air Base and Sondrestrom Air Base, are built on permafrost, which presents unique engineering requirements in the construction, maintenance and operation of runways, building foundations and underground water and sewer lines. On the Greenland Ice Cap, Thousands of feet thick, two completely self-contained radar stations, five stories high, have been constructed on steel pilings.

High among recent Civil Engineer achievements in Air Defense Command was the acceptance in October 1962 of the first portable nuclear power plant for the United States Air Force. Located on 6600 foot Warren Peak near Sundance, Wyo., the plant now provides 1000 kilowatts of electric power to operate Sundance Air Force Station and also 7,000,000 BTU's of heat to keep the station's buildings warm in the most severe cold.

The nuclear reactor has been designed to operate for 2½ years on one 66 pound insertion of nuclear fuel. This amount of fuel will release energy equal to that provided by 2½ million gallons of high grade fuel oil.

More and more, the heating, air conditioning, power and other utilities systems thruout Air Defense Command are having a direct effect on the operational capability of the command. This is especially the case with radar power. Critical radar towers, spanned by ADC installations and gap fillers, and BMEWS antenna would go off the air immediately if the generators that provide the electricity were to fail.

Winter Carnival Set for Leadville Next Weekend

More than a score of winter sports and social events have been programmed for Leadville's winter carnival next week, it was announced today by the sponsoring group, the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The festival will be held Friday thru Sunday.

Jaycee officials predict a record crowd will visit the capital of the high country for the three days of carnival in the atmosphere of an old mining camp.

Judging of snow sculpturing of juniors on the main street will start festivities Friday afternoon. A torchlight parade follows in the evening and at night the high school senior class will operate a bingo game, and repeat it Saturday night.

Saturday morning the outdoor events get under way with a skating extravaganza that includes a dozen contests on ice. At noon skiing competitions, for youngsters and adults, start on a new slope close to town.

Two special attractions, running in conjunction with the winter carnival, will open Saturday. In the morning a collection of gold coins goes on display and in the afternoon a tea will inaugurate an art exhibit. Presented in the Tabor Opera House, it will remain there until March 10.

Sunday morning adults' giant snow sculpture will be judged and dogsled racing will be held. The final event of winter carnival, skijoring — where skiers are towed by racing horses thru an obstacle course, will start at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Names of El Paso County Persons Worth Money

How much is the name and address of a El Paso County resident worth? On a mailing list—plenty.

Just how much, depends on his position, economically and otherwise. If he is wealthy and is thereby a good prospect for a cabin cruiser or for membership in an exclusive club, his name is worth quite a bit.

However, if his name is a readily-obtainable one, as is the case with school teachers, doctors, lawyers and the like, or if his buying power is low, it brings less.

There are about 250 firms that compile such lists and lease them or sell them to companies that wish to approach prospects by mail or by direct solicitation, either in person or by telephone.

The price may range anywhere from one cent per name to as much as a dollar for each time it is used.

The majority of El Paso County residents are on a number of such lists, as is evident from the amount of letters they receive from all sorts of organizations.

Some 4,576 of them, for instance, are on lists that contain the names and addresses of local families with incomes over $10,000 a year.

Among those who purchase and use such lists are resort operators and automobile dealers who handle expensive types of cars.

On the other hand, a book publisher with a special edition of Shakespeare's works may want to limit his approach to college graduates. A listing of this group would yield 9,033 names in El Paso County.

There are some 1,892 men in the county who are within one to five years of the retirement age of 65. Travel agents, realtors and others are interested in just such people. They are willing to pay for a list of them.

Companies dealing in baby products, laundry services and beauty-care preparations may feel that married women in the 25 to 34 age category are their most likely prospects. They would want the names of those in the local area.

Many other specialized lists are prepared for firms that want to aim at specific targets with their products and services. Among them are lists of recent brides, new home owners and two-car families.

Copley and Co., Files Bankruptcy Petition

A Colorado Springs brokerage firm, Copley and Company, 620 N. Tejon St., has filed petition for voluntary bankruptcy.

William L. Copley of 921 E. Columbia St., the firm's president, confirmed Saturday that he had filed a petition Friday in Denver's U. S. District Court listing a total of $397,591 in debts. Assets were listed as $328,193.

Copley said the firm was placed under voluntary receivership on Nov. 1 after proceedings in El Paso County District Court. He said he was hopeful the proceedings would be expedited under the bankruptcy petition.

Among the company's debts is $151,063 owed about 300 customers, according to the petition.

Copley, a native of West Virginia, opened the firm in July, 1956, to deal in over-the-counter securities, including mutual funds, uranium stocks and stocks and bonds of all types.

He has been active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce and in 1954 was chairman of the national Jaycee convention.

In 1959 he opened his own advertising agency in the Independence Building, the Copley Advertising Agency, which is no longer in operation.

Mrs. Jane Dekker Dies Here Saturday

Mrs. Jane Dekker, 315 N. Institute St., died Saturday at a local hospital after an illness of several weeks.

Born May 5, 1894 in Holland, Netherlands, Mrs. Dekker moved to Colorado Springs in 1949 from Gary, Ind.

She was a member of the Christian Science Church and the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Dekker is survived by one daughter, Miss Winifred Jane Dekker, of San Diego, Calif., one son, Dirk R. Dekker, of Colorado Springs, and five grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held. Swan Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

AF Academy Engineers Face Huge Upkeep Job

The importance of civil engineering in today's modern technical society is emphasized at the Air Force Academy when it is pointed out that the civil engineering department spends 10 per cent of the academy's entire budget.

The importance of the civil engineering directorate is multiple and complex.

They are charged with the maintenance of millions of square feet of building space, hundreds of grass and shrubs, countless building equipment systems, many miles of various types pavement, hundreds of miles of utilities distribution lines and other facilities valued at $139 million.

To accomplish this task, Lt. Col. Ray S. Warden, deputy chief of staff for engineering, makes use of the more than 700 persons employed in his department.

Col. Warden said the over-all real property maintenance requirement at the academy can be divided into four categories: building maintenance, utilities plants and systems maintenance, roads and grounds maintenance and land management.

For instance, in Fairchild Hall alone, there are 900,000 square feet of classrooms, laboratories, lecture halls and offices as well as the academy library, cadet dispensary and ground level inclosed parking lots to care for.

"The high standards of maintenance established here requires a constant, premium effort on the part of all concerned," Col. Warder said.

Land management and conservation of natural resources on the academy's 18,000 acres also figure prominently in civil engineering workloads. Because the site is subject to extremely high run-off from the mountains and is susceptible to flood and erosion damage, engineering personnel have concerned themselves with reseeding and reforesting, stabilizing and clearing stream beds, and providing adequate drainage structures.

Civil engineering crews are also charged with the responsibility of keeping the 75 miles of academy roads open during winter storms.

GT Editor Slated for Speaking Tour

Robert LeFevre, editor of the Gazette Telegraph, will begin a seven-day speaking tour Thursday in Chicago where he will address civic leaders, club groups and students at Northwestern University.

LeFevre's first speaking engagement in Chicago will be to the Women's Information Committee during a noon luncheon meeting to be held at the Commonwealth Edison Co.

Highlight of LeFevre's week-long speaking itinerary will be a dinner meeting for libertarians in the Chicago area on Saturday. The meeting will be held at the International Motor Hotel and will be open to any person interested in learning more about the libertarian philosophy of individualism.

Members of the Northwestern University Young Conservative Club are sponsoring a public meeting Feb. 26 at the University Hall Auditorium on the Evanston campus. LeFevre's topic will be "Private Property Is A Total Concept."

On Feb. 27, LeFevre will be featured speaker at a meeting of Americans for Constitutional Action at Community Hall in suburban Lombard, Ill.

"The Role of Private Property In A Free Society" will be LeFevre's topic on Feb. 28 when he addresses members of the Chicago Kiwanis club at the Morrison Hotel.

In addition to other public appearances, Le Fevre will be guest speaker at an informal meeting at the home of Brian Monohan, Chicago manufacturer and graduate of Freedom School which LeFevre founded in 1956.

LeFevre will leave for Chicago Wednesday night following his weekly TV program at 6:30 p.m. on KKTV. The program will not be seen Feb. 28 but will be resumed March 6.

Law Enforcement Agencies Gather For Conference

Problems of law enforcement agencies will be the focal theme of the Southwestern Graduates Retraining Conference Traffic Institute of Northwestern University, Wednesday thru Friday at the Broadmoor Hotel.

Hosts to the conference will be the Colorado State Patrol and the Denver Police Department.

Sgt. William E. Stoker of the Colorado Springs division, Colorado State Patrol, is the only graduate of the nine-month course in the Pikes Peak Region. He attended the course in 1960-61.

Stoker said some 60 to 70 persons will attend from 15 states, including Hawaii. Last year's conference was in San Francisco, Calif. and next year it will be held in Hawaii.

Col. Gilbert R. Carrel of Denver, Colorado State Patrol chief, will give a welcoming address at the conference. Patrol graduates expected to attend are Capt. Dale High, Capt. Byron F. Orr, Lts. Joe Relihan and John L. Holland, all of Denver; and Capt. Sherman Neilson of Greeley.

Denver Police Department graduates expected to attend are Denver Police Chief James M. Slavein, Capt. Leonard Johnson and Lt. Doyl Smith.

Others will include Bernard R. Caldwell, director of the institute, Evanston, Ill.; Allen Rush of Kansas City, Mo., assistant superintendent of the Kansas Highway Patrol; Dr. Nicholas Colarelli, a psychiatrist at Kansas State Hospital, Topeka; and Dan Hollingsworth of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

Sue Thompson Crowned Queen of CC Carnival

Don Peterson, Minneapolis sophomore, was named king chairman of Engineers' Week activities.

The engineers' convention will be supported by every Engineering Society of the state and the American Institute of Architects, Allen said.

The Professional Engineers of Colorado is the state body of the National Society of Professional Engineers. In Colorado there are six chapters of the PEC. The chapters are Pikes Peak in Colorado Springs, Boulder; Jefferson, in Jefferson County; Metropolitan, in Denver; Northern Colorado; and Ute, in western Colorado.

The NSPE, founded in 1934, is made up of more than 56,000 professional engineers.

National Engineering Week Observed Starting Today

By RAY HERST

Professional engineers thruout Colorado will observe National Engineers Week starting today. Theme for the week-long observance will be "America's Engineers Build for the Future."

Highlight of the local observance today will be a tour of the new Chidlaw Building on Bijou Street.

Area engineers will be guests of the ADC civil engineers on the tour which will begin at 2:15 p.m. ADC engineers will explain problems encountered in construction of the new headquarters building which contains 300,000 square feet of space.

Ley Callen, Colorado Springs, state president of the Professional Engineers, said the week will be capped by the 47th Colorado Engineers' Convention to be held Friday and Saturday at the Denver Hilton.

Callen has named Ken Kolstad, also of Colorado Springs, as state

NORAD's Combat Center Continues To Grow

For the past six years ADC Civil Engineers have been actively engaged in one of the most prodigious engineering feats of this century.

On Thursday, three days before the start of National Engineers Week, bids were opened for the second phase of this project and construction will get underway within a month.

In 1957, ADC engineers, working with other agencies, were handed the problem of providing an operations center which would be foolproof, if possible, against nuclear attack.

Their decision was to bury the center under tons of mountain and they did just that.

The job was done and is being done. The excavation of the site is completed except for a few remedial operations, Air Force officials said.

Construction of 11 buildings at a cost of $6.9 million should get underway shortly.

The problems encountered by the engineers in designing the site were numerous, but they have been overcome. For instance, plans call for all-steel buildings to be mounted on steel springs to absorb the shock of a nuclear explosion or a natural earth upheaval. The problms of ventilation, water, etc. have also been solved and when completed, Hardsite will be fully operational almost as a city in itself.

ADC engineers are also responsible for the new Chidlaw Building here which will house 1,700 persons assigned to Headquarters ADC.

Winter Carnival Set for Leadville Next Weekend

More than a score of winter sports and social events have been programmed for Leadville's winter carnival next week, it was announced today by the sponsoring group, the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The festival will be held Friday thru Sunday.

Jaycee officials predict a record crowd will visit the capital of the high country for the three days of carnival in the atmosphere of an old mining camp.

Judging of snow sculpturing of juniors on the main street will start festivities Friday afternoon. A torchlight parade follows in the evening and at night the high school senior class will operate a bingo game, and repeat it Saturday night.

Saturday morning the outdoor events get under way with a skating extravaganza that includes a dozen contests on ice. At noon skiing competitions, for youngsters and adults, start on a new slope close to town.

Two special attractions, running in conjunction with the winter carnival, will open Saturday. In the morning a collection of gold coins goes on display and in the afternoon a tea will inaugurate an art exhibit. Presented in the Tabor Opera House, it will remain there until March 10.

Sunday morning adults' giant snow sculpture will be judged and dogsled racing will be held. The final event of winter carnival, skijoring — where skiers are towed by racing horses thru an obstacle course, will start at 1 p.m. Sunday.

The problems challenging the Civil Engineers of the U.S. Air Force's Air Defense Command are not too far removed from the near impossible feats which faced the mighty Hercules of mythology.

Their responsibilities include the maintenance and operation of everything from runways to portable nuclear power plants. They are responsible for nearly $2 billion worth of facilities located on 650 installations in the United States, Canada, Alaska, Greenland, Iceland and other overseas areas.

Their job includes providing, operating and maintaining the runways, missile launchers, radar towers, power plants, hangars, shops, warehouses and other real property facilities belonging to ADC.

Some 13,000 people, stationed primarily at radar stations and major bases, perform the Civil Engineering job for ADC. Overall direction and guidance is exercised by Col. E.V.N. Schuyler, deputy chief of staff for civil engineering, Hq ADC, and his staff.

In addition to the Civil Engineering staff in Headquarters ADC, similar staffs on a smaller scale are established in the eight ADC numbered Air Divisions located thruout the United States and the 9th Aerospace Defense Division located in Colorado Springs.

Engineering challenges are magnified and increased by the wide range of climate and terrain spanned by ADC installations and by the complexity of ADC weapons, radar and communications systems, many of which include new equipment and products fresh from research and development laboratories.

The two ADC air bases in Greenland, Thule Air Base and Sondrestrom Air Base, are built on permafrost, which presents unique engineering requirements in the construction, maintenance and operation of runways, building foundations and underground water and sewer lines. On the Greenland Ice Cap, Thousands of feet thick, two completely self-contained radar stations, five stories high, have been constructed on steel pilings.

High among recent Civil Engineer achievements in Air Defense Command was the acceptance in October 1962 of the first portable nuclear power plant for the United States Air Force. Located on 6600 foot Warren Peak near Sundance, Wyo., the plant now provides 1000 kilowatts of electric power to operate Sundance Air Force Station and also 7,000,000 BTU's of heat to keep the station's buildings warm in the most severe cold.

The nuclear reactor has been designed to operate for 2½ years on one 86 pound insertion of nuclear fuel. This amount of fuel will release energy equal to that provided by 2½ million gallons of high grade fuel oil.

More and more, the heating, air conditioning, power, and other utilities systems thruout Air Defense Command are having a direct effect on the operational capability of the command. This is especially the case with electric power. Critical radar towers, gap fillers, and BMEWS systems would go off the air immediately if the generators that provide the electricity were to fail.

How much is the name and address of a El Paso County resident worth? On a mailing list—plenty.

Just how much, depends on his position, economically and otherwise. If he is wealthy and is thereby a good prospect for a cabin cruiser or for membership in an exclusive club, his name is worth quite a bit.

However, if his name is a readily-obtainable one, as is the case with school teachers, doctors, lawyers and the like, or if his buying power is low, it brings less.

There are about 250 firms that compile such lists and lease them or sell them to companies that wish to approach prospects by mail or by direct solicitation, either in person or by telephone.

The price may range anywhere from one cent per name to as much as a dollar for each time it is used.

The majority of El Paso County residents are on a number of such lists, as is evident from the amount of letters they receive from all sorts of organizations.

Some 4,576 of them, for instance, are on lists that contain the names and addresses of local families with incomes over $10,000 a year.

Among those who purchase and use such lists are resort operators and automobile dealers who handle expensive types of cars.

On the other hand, a book publisher with a special edition of Shakespeare's works may want to limit his approach to college graduates. A listing of this group would yield 9,033 names in El Paso County.

There are some 1,892 men in the county who are within one to five years of the retirement age of 65. Travel agents, realtors and others are interested in just such people. They are willing to pay for a list of them.

Companies dealing in baby products, laundry services and beauty-care preparations may feel that married women in the 25 to 34 age category are their most likely prospects. They would want the names of those in the local area.

Many other specialized lists are prepared for firms that want to aim at specific targets with their products and services. Among them are lists of recent brides, new home owners and two-car families.

Copley and Co., Files Bankruptcy Petition

A Colorado Springs brokerage firm, Copley and Company, 620 N. Tejon St., has filed petition for voluntary bankruptcy.

William L. Copley of 921 E. Columbia St., the firm's president, confirmed Saturday that he had filed a petition Friday in Denver's U. S. District Court listing a total of $397,591 in debts. Assets were listed as $328,193.

Copley said the firm was placed under voluntary receivership on Nov. 1 after proceedings in El Paso County District Court. He said he was hopeful the proceedings would be expedited under the bankruptcy petition.

Among the company's debts is $151,068 owed about 300 customers, according to the petition.

Copley, a native of West Virginia, opened the firm in July, 1956, to deal in over-the-counter securities, including mutual funds, uranium stocks and stocks and bonds of all types.

He has been active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce and in 1954 was chairman of the national Jaycee convention.

In 1959 he opened his own advertising agency in the Independence Building, the Copley Advertising Agency, which is no longer in operation.

Mrs. Jane Dekker Dies Here Saturday

Mrs. Jane Dekker, 315 N. Institute St., died Saturday at a local hospital after an illness of several weeks.

She was a member of the Christian Science Church and the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Dekker is survived by one daughter, Miss Winifred Jane Dekker, of San Diego, Calif., one son, Dirk R. Dekker, of Colorado Springs, and five grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held. Swan Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

AF Academy Engineers Face Huge Upkeep Job

The importance of civil engineering in today's modern technical society is emphasized at the Air Force Academy when it is pointed out that the civil engineering department spends 10 per cent of the academy's entire budget.

The importance of the civil engineering directorate is multiple and complex.

They are charged with the maintenance of millions of square feet of building space, hundreds of grass and shrubs, countless building equipment systems, many miles of various types pavement, hundreds of miles of utilities distribution lines and other facilities valued at $139 million.

To accomplish this task, Lt. Col. Ray S. Warden, deputy chief of staff for engineering, makes use of the more than 700 persons employed in his department.

Col. Warden said the over-all real property maintenance requirement at the academy can be divided into four categories: building maintenance, utilities plants and systems maintenance, roads and grounds maintenance and land management.

For instance, in Fairchild Hall alone, there are 900,000 square feet of classrooms, laboratories, lecture halls and offices as well as the academy library, cadet dispensary and ground level inclosed parking lots to care for.

"The high standards of maintenance established here requires a constant, premium effort on the part of all concerned," Col. Warden said.

Land management and conservation of natural resources on the academy's 18,000 acres also figure prominently in civil engineering workloads. Because the site is subject to extremely high run-off from the mountains and is susceptible to flood and erosion damage, engineering personnel have concerned themselves with reseeding and reforesting, stabilizing and clearing stream beds, and providing adequate drainage structures.

Civil engineering crews are also charged with the responsibility of keeping the 75 miles of academy roads open during winter storms.

GT Editor Slated for Speaking Tour

Robert LeFevre, editor of the Gazette Telegraph, will begin a seven-day speaking tour Thursday in Chicago where he will address civic leaders, club groups and students at Northwestern University.

LeFevre's first speaking engagement in Chicago will be to the Women's Information Committee during a noon luncheon meeting to be held at the Commonwealth Edison Co.

Highlight of LeFevre's week-long speaking itinerary will be a dinner meeting for libertarians in the Chicago area on Saturday. The meeting will be held at the International Motor Hotel and will be open to any person interested in learning more about the libertarian philosophy of individualism.

Members of the Northwestern University Young Conservative Club are sponsoring a public meeting Feb. 26 at the University Hall Auditorium on the Evanston campus. LeFevre's topic will be "Private Property Is A Total Concept."

On Feb. 27, LeFevre will be featured speaker at a meeting of Americans for Constitutional Action at Community Hall in suburban Lombard, Ill.

"The Role of Private Property In A Free Society" will be LeFevre's topic on Feb. 28 when he addresses members of the Chicago Kiwanis club at the Morrison Hotel.

In addition to other public appearances, Le Fevre will be guest speaker at an informal meeting at the home of Brian Monohan, Chicago manufacturer and graduate of Freedom School which LeFevre founded in 1956.

LeFevre will leave for Chicago Wednesday night following his weekly TV program at 6:30 p.m. on KKTV. The program will not be seen Feb. 28 but will be resumed March 6.

Law Enforcement Agencies Gather For Conference

Problems of law enforcement agencies will be the focal theme of the Southwestern Graduates Retraining Conference Traffic Institute of Northwestern University, Wednesday thru Friday at the Broadmoor Hotel.

Hosts to the conference will be the Colorado State Patrol and the Denver Police Department.

Sgt. William E. Stoker of the Colorado Springs division, Colorado State Patrol, is the only graduate of the nine-month course in the Pikes Peak Region. He attended the course in 1960-61.

Stoker said some 60 to 70 persons will attend from 15 states, including Hawaii. Last year's conference was in San Francisco, Calif. and next year it will be held in Hawaii.

Col. Gilbert R. Carrel of Denver, Colorado State Patrol chief, will give a welcoming address at the conference. Patrol graduates expected to attend are Capt. Dale High, Capt. Byron F. Orr, Lts. Joe Relihan and John L. Holland, all of Denver; and Capt. Sherman Neilson of Greeley.

Denver Police Department graduates expected to attend are Denver Police Chief James M. Slavein, Capt. Leonard Johnson and Lt. Doyl Smith.

Others will include Bernard R. Caldwell, director of the institute, Evanston, Ill.; Allen Rush of Kansas City, Mo., assistant superintendent of the Kansas Highway Patrol; Dr. Nicholas Colarelli, a psychiatrist at Kansas State Hospital, Topeka; and Dan Hollingsworth of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

Colorado's Nonagricultural Employment Shows Drop

Nonagricultural employment in Colorado last month dropped to an estimated 626,700, or 0.4 per cent less than December but 2.8 per cent higher than January a year ago, the state department of employment reported today.

Bernard E. Teets, executive director, said estimated farm employment also decreased during January to 70,810, or 5.3 per cent lower than December, and 4.6 per cent under January 1962.

Last month's total unemployment rate was estimated at 5.6 per cent of the labor force, compared to 4.6 per cent in December, and 5.2 per cent in January a year ago. The state's jobless rate reached an all-time high of 6.1 per cent in March of 1958, a recession year.

Colorado's insured unemployment rate in January was 4.4 per cent, compared to the national rate of 6.3 per cent.

New applications for employment jumped 34.7 per cent between December and January compared to a 38.8 per cent gain for the comparable period a year ago. New applications last month were 5.7 per cent higher than January 1962, reflecting both an increase in the labor force and a lower rate of economic growth in January this year over the same month a year ago.

Nonagricultural job placements were down 1.9 per cent from December, compared to a drop of 3.8 per cent for the corresponding period one year ago. Last month's figure was 14.9 per cent below the level indicated for January 1962, and primarily reflects a lower rate of economic growth — in terms of employment — than was experienced in January 1962.

Inital claims for unemployment insurance filed against Colorado totaled 16,024 in January — up 55.9 per cent over December, and 7.3 per cent above January 1962.

Continued claims filed against the state totaled 80,474 last month, a gain of 37 per cent over December and 24.2 per cent above January 1962. The higher claims load indicates a lower rate of economic growth this January over the same month a year ago, according to the department.

The department last month paid $2,865,449 in unemployment insurance benefits, an increase of 42 per cent over December and 43.1 per cent more than the amount paid in January a year ago.

Colorado's Nonagricultural Employment Shows Drop

Nonagricultural employment in Colorado last month dropped to an estimated 626,700, or 0.4 per cent less than December but 2.8 per cent higher than January a year ago, the state department of employment reported today.

Bernard E. Teets, executive director, said estimated farm employment also decreased during January to 70,810, or 5.3 per cent lower than December, and 4.6 per cent under January 1962.

Last month's total unemployment rate was estimated at 5.6 per cent of the labor force, compared to 4.6 per cent in December, and 5.2 per cent in January a year ago. The state's jobless rate reached an all-time high of 6.1 per cent in March of 1958, a recession year.

Colorado's insured unemployment rate in January was 4.4 per cent, compared to the national rate of 6.3 per cent.

New applications for employment jumped 34.7 per cent between December and January compared to a 38.8 per cent gain for the comparable period a year ago. New applications last month were 5.7 per cent higher than January 1962, reflecting both an increase in the labor force and a lower rate of economic growth in January this year over the same month a year ago.

Nonagricultural job placements were down 1.9 per cent from December, compared to a drop of 3.8 per cent for the corresponding period one year ago. Last month's figure was 14.9 per cent below the level indicated for January 1962, and primarily reflects a lower rate of economic growth — in terms of employment — than was experienced in January 1962.

Inital claims for unemployment insurance filed against Colorado totaled 16,024 in January — up 55.9 per cent over December, and 7.3 per cent above January 1962.

Continued claims filed against the state totaled 80,474 last month, a gain of 37 per cent over December and 24.2 per cent above January 1962. The higher claims load indicates a lower rate of economic growth this January over the same month a year ago, according to the department.

The department last month paid $2,865,449 in unemployment insurance benefits, an increase of 42 per cent over December and 43.1 per cent more than the amount paid in January a year ago.

GAZETTE TELEGRAPH

Your Freedom Newspaper

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Virginia Bill of Rights

We have frequently quoted the Declaration of Independence for we consider it one of those rare documents of which there are all too few in this world. It is rare because it breathes the spirit of freedom. It is revolutionary, for it launches the concept of human rights in the new world and establishes clearly that individual man is superior to the state, however the state is organized.

Having considered the life of George Mason and commented briefly upon his contribution to early American thinking, it is only fitting that we now quote from the Virginia Bill of Rights, which preceded the Declaration of Independence and our own Constitutional Bill of Rights, both of which leaned heavily on Mason's thinking.

It will take no laboring of the point to perceive the impact of Mason's writing and thinking. Suffice to comment that the Declaration of Independence was approved at Philadelphia on July 4, 1776, and that the Bill of Rights, added to the Constitution thru insistence of men such as Mason, was approved in 1791.

The Virginia Bill of Rights obtained ratification in that state on June 12, 1776, and it was from this document that Thomas Jefferson drew when he wrote out the more general document to which the colonies subscribed with unanimity.

"Section 1. That all men are by nature equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights, of which, when they enter into a state of society, they cannot, by any compact, deprive or divest their posterity; namely, the enjoyment of life and liberty, with the means of acquiring and possessing property, and pursuing and obtaining happiness and safety.

"Section 2. That all power is vested in, and consequently derived from, the people; that magistrates are their trustees and servants, and at all times amenable to them.

"Section 3. That government is, or ought to be, instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the people, nation or community; of all the various modes and forms of government, that is best which is capable of producing the greatest degree of happiness and safety, and is most effectually secured against the danger of maladministration; and that, when any government shall be found inadequate or contrary to these purposes, a majority of the community hath an indubitable, inalienable, and indefeasible right to reform, alter, or abolish it, in such manner as shall be judged most conducive to the public weal.

"Section 4. That no man, or set of men, are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments or privileges from the community, but in consideration of public services; which, not being descendible, neither ought the offices of magistrate, legislator, or judge to be hereditary.

"Section 5. That the legislative and executive powers of the state should be separate and distinct from the judiciary; and that the members of the two first may be restrained from oppression, by feeling and participating the burdens of the people, they should, at fixed periods, be reduced to a private station, return into that body from which they were originally taken, and the vacancies be supplied by frequent, certain, and regular elections, in which all or any part of the former members, to be again eligible, or ineligible, as the laws shall direct."

There can be no question as to the fact that the first three sections inspired Jefferson in his task at Philadelphia. In certain respects this Virginia writing of Mason's is more to the point and less subject to misunderstanding than the general Declaration.

We are particularly impressed with the first section and the observation taken from John Locke's essay on government, that no men have a right to so contract or devise as to deprive or divest their posterity. As we think of our own national debt which cannot be paid in our lifetime, we are grieved that this particular observation was not included in the Declaration.

We also call to mind some of the multitudinous laws which have been enacted and which have become binding on children yet unborn.

Additionally in the same section we are impressed with the spelling out of the right to acquire and own property, a matter only hinted at in the Jefferson version.

We will continue with the balance of the Virginia Bill of Rights to show how it served as a pattern for our first ten amendments to the Constitution.

Serene

It's easy to act like an angel if no one is around to ruffle your feathers.

Recurrence to Principles

The ensuing sections, drawn from the Virginia Bill of Rights, show clearly how this document served as the source of our own Bill of Rights.

"Section 6. That elections of members to serve as representatives of the people, in assembly, ought to be free; and that all men, having sufficient evidence of permanent common interest with, and attachment to, the community, have the right of suffrage, and cannot be taxed or deprived of their property for public use, without their own consent, or that of their representatives so elected, nor bound by any law to which they have not, in like manner, assembled, for the public good.

"Section 7. That all power of suspending laws, or the execution of laws, by any authority, without consent of the representatives of the people, is injurious to their rights, and ought not to be exercised.

"Section 8. That in all capital or criminal prosecutions a man hath a right to demand the cause and nature of his accusation, to be confronted with the accusers and witnesses, to call for evidence in his favor, and to a speedy trial by an impartial jury of twelve men of his vicinage, without whose unanimous consent he cannot be found guilty; nor can he be compelled to give evidence against himself; that no man be deprived of his liberty, except by the law of the land or the judgment of his peers.

"Section 9. That excessive bail ought not to be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

"Section 10. That general warrants, whereby an officer or messenger may be commanded to search suspected places without evidence of a fact committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, or whose offence is not particularly described and supported by evidence, are grievous and oppressive, and ought not to be granted.

"Section 11. That in controversies respecting property, and in suits between man and man, the ancient trial by jury is preferable to any other, and ought to be held sacred.

"Section 12. That the freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty, and can never be restrained but by despotic governments.

"Section 13. That a well-regulated militia, composed of the body of the people, trained to arms, is the proper, natural, and safe defense of a free State; that standing armies, in time of peace, should be avoided, as dangerous to liberty; and that in all cases the military should be under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

"Section 14. That the people have a right to uniform government; and, therefore, that no government separate from, or independent of the government of Virginia, ought to be erected or established within the limits thereof.

"Section 15. That no free government, or the blessings of liberty, can be preserved to any people, but by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality, and virtue, and by frequent recurrence to fundamental principles.

"Section 16. That religion, or the duty which we owe to our Creator, and the manner of discharging it, can be directed only by reason and conviction, not by force or violence; and therefore all men are equally entitled to the free exercise of religion, according to the dictates of conscience, and that it is the mutual duty of all to practice Christian forbearance, love, and charity towards each other."

In some respects our own Bill of Rights is superior and in some inferior to the Virginia Bill. We thought it appropriate during this month of February to quote this extensively from the writings of George Mason and to bring his contribution to American thinking to the fore.

We think the admonition to have "frequent recurrence to fundamental principles" is one of the things so often neglected both by the lay public and by office holders. It is in hopes that such recurrence will take place that we have published this little known outside of Virginia document.

Examination Of an Ideal

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

For the purpose of this discussion let us define the word ideal as signifying the best possible condition for action, business, living and creating. Obviously, an ideal condition will also encourage happiness and contentment.

An ideal condition is not a part of a dream of Utopia because an ideal condition does not guarantee success. A man may create a small business under ideal conditions and go bankrupt because of a lack of ability or self-responsibility or an unwillingness to expend the necessary effort.

And so it is with freedom! Only in freedom may man live under ideal conditions. The conditions are ideal because he is free to select and decide and make decisions which affect every aspect of every phase of his entire life. There is no single ideal condition because each human being is different from every other human being.

Enslaved by government, a man may not achieve an ideal condition for anything unless he can find ways and means to institute a total boycott against his enslaver.

The small population of this ghost town, whether it appreciates the fact or not, enjoys a condition where no local government exists. If I acquire a piece of property, I can build what I want to build without let or hindrance from government but even here I may not engage in a business without a license from government which forces me to collect sales taxes for government at my expense. The State of Arizona, thru its legislature, attempted to sugar coat the nasty pill by trying to convince those who invest in private enterprise that they are enjoying a privilege when they are forced to collect taxes for the state.

LOOP HOLES

There are a few lines involving strictly personal service which are not yet under the heel of government but state legislators are busily engaged in closing those "loop holes." Governments do not approve of loop holes which tend to lessen the domination of governments over individuals.

Right here, then, and probably in certain areas thruout the nation it is possible for a man to live in freedom under certain specific conditions which reduce his freedom of choice to an unfortunate minimum. We find then that a truly ideal condition may not be achieved because the conditions have been limited by the actions of governments.

As we carefully examine the philosophy of freedom which sharply defines ideals and principles, we find that as governments become larger and more costly and more powerful, we are driven further and further away from conditions which may be ideal for individuals. The more we patronize government, do business with government or involve ourselves with services from government for which we pay the entire and horrible cost, the more we increase the size and cost and power of government. To reduce the size and cost and power of government, individuals will find it logical to institute their own private and entirely personal boycott against government, per se, and against individuals in government personally, socially and politically.

OSTRACISM

Politicians and appointed and employed public servants do not look kindly upon the idea of political and social ostracism but there isn't much they can do about it until they become willing to give up the posts created by tyranny and thievery and become first-class citizens. Since those not connected with government, in one form or another, are prohibited by law from finding ideal conditions in which they may lead their lives, I see no good reason to provide ideal conditions for the tyrants who enslave us and, from a personal point of view, I will continue to do what I can to avoid adding fuel to the fire of pompous omnipotence in which warmth public servants love to bask. When a man fighting for his own freedom turns his back upon political action and politicians, the public servants begin to fall in place, arguing, cajoling, then begging.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

YEAR ROUND

To the Editor:

As we all know, business is at its ebb. During this post - New Year to pre-Easter period, we all feel the effect of this lack of business and activity. I suspect that our Chamber of Commerce is in hibernation.

Why must all our town activities be scheduled for the peak of the tourist season, i.e., the Pikes Peak Hill Climb, the Street Breakfast, the Rodeo, Outdoor Art Shows, etc., etc.?

Can we not get some good heads together to program some new activities for this slack period, when we really need boosting? I feel sure that other communities have done this, must we always play the part of the ostrich, refusing to face reality, and follow good working examples of other progressive cities? Denver draws on us with its stock show. I sincerely believe that we can draw a crowd with the activities put on by a good committee. Let's boost Colorado Springs all year 'round.

IMPOVERISHED

To the Editor:

The urgent appeals for tax cuts are an admission that the New Frontier government has impoverished our "affluent society."

Until they took control, the Frontiersmen were telling us the public government portion of our society was impoverished while the citizen-taxpayers were excessively affluent. Now, half way thru their term of office, they admit the citizen-taxpayers have become so impoverished they cannot continue paying present taxes; while the government is so well off it can get along with less income.

Empty stores, growing personal bankruptcies, increasing relief rolls, the spreading of unemployment and the increase in personal debts are but the first signs of our vanishing affluence. Administration spokesmen have declared they can see a depression ahead unless our now impoverished society gets some tax cut relief.

Having voted into office those who said we were too affluent, who but ourselves can we blame for the condition in which we find ourselves?

To The Point

A Visit to Robert Graves

By RUSSELL KIRK

At the village of Deya, in the hills of Mallorca, lives Mr. Robert Graves, one of the most versatile men of letters of our time. Though he holds an Oxford chair, most of the year he is at his house in the Balearics; before long he will make another expedition to America, to lecture at Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the relationship between humane and scientific studies.

In my high - school days, I read his two best - known novels, "I Claudius" and "Claudius the God," which re-create the age of the Caesars. It was with some surprise, then, that I encountered him climbing a hill near Deya, he leading two little dogs on a leash. Tall and hearty, Mr. Graves now is 67 years old, undiminished in intellectual and physical vigor.

The Mediterranean civilization dominates Graves' work — his novels, poems, and criticism—but he knows about all sorts of odd things in curious corners. One of his interests is witchcraft. I spoke of the revival or survival of the superstition of the "bear-walk" among the Indians of Upper Michigan. Graves promptly produced a wondrous little charm against the bearwalk (a kind of ursine equivalent of the werewolf): a tiny turquoise image of a bear, with an arrowhead lashed to its side, made by New Mexican Indians. Ghosts, witches, and the supernatural generally run through his books — for instance, his romance "Seven Days in New Crete," which runs both forward and backward in time.

In a literary period soaked in naturalism, Graves has not feared to cut against the grain. The idea of the "Great White Goddess," as source of all religion and civilization, has been his chief theme for years. His two volumes on Greek mythology are dominated by this theory: he holds that the Greek myths we know are, for the most part, the misinterpretation (by barbarous Greek newcomers) of temple - paintings of the Aegean and Minoan cultures, which grew out of worship of the Great Mother.

For the positivistic civilization of our century, Graves has small regard: he thinks it well on its way to dissolution. Deya is about as far as one can get from the main currents of twentieth - century life, and yet be within the orbit of classical culture. The old houses of Deya, snuggled under immense cliffs, cling tenderly together; and below them, on terraces, flourish the olive and the vine, as they did in the times of the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome.

Modernity — in the shape of white villas and swimming pools built by prosperous German summer - people — is making its way even to these immemorial terraces. The peasant - folk of Mallorca still mold strange little plaster images of men and riders and beast - men, pre-Greek and pre-Roman, surviving the triumph of Christianity. These are symbols of sexual fertility. And I suppose that something of ancient magic and symbol will survive the mechanizing and standardizing of our age. Graves suggests that modern civilization, in a few more generations, will go under for want of religious motives. This, like all else in life, he accepts serenely, enjoying the living moment.

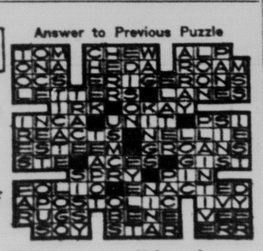
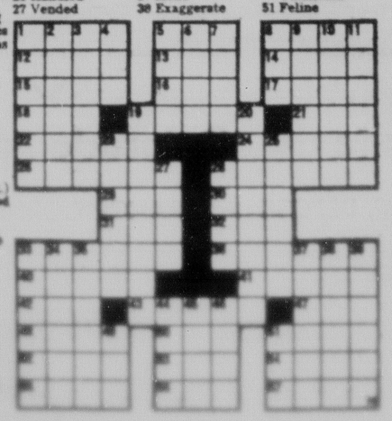
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Question Box

Question No. 141: "Can capitalism be seriously threatened only by a great aesthetic movement that will permeate the masses and divorce them from their vices and luxuries to which they have been accustomed for a century?"

Louis Bandin Ferrero contends that that is the case, as quoted in "A Socialistic Empire, The Incas of Peru." It seems that his reasoning was that the Incas had been deprived of any luxuries and lived on the bare necessities and thus were easily controlled and managed and suppressed.

On the other hand, it is usually the pseudo-intellectuals that lead us into a socialistic or communistic society. Those who are deprived of any luxuries go along in a satisfied way and never make much of an effort to improve their lot. They seem to be satisfied with getting enough to keep body and soul together.

On the other hand, it is generally agreed that very few people can stand prosperity. It seems to degrade their spiritual and ethical idea of life.

In any event, it is an ethical breakdown that causes trouble. The statement in the Bible that the iniquities of the fathers are visited on the children of the third and fourth generation is certainly true. And it will be noted that that says "fathers" instead of "father." It is the atmosphere, the beliefs, the ethics that lead to loss of freedom and loss of initiative.

It is an interesting subject and we would be glad to have further light on the answer to this question.

(The Gazette Telegraph will attempt to answer all questions, signed or unsigned, on what will improve the welfare of all mankind on the earth. Everyone should be interested in that, so send in your questions.)

These Days

Arm-Twisting Doesn't Work

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

President Kennedy may have a right to feel aggrieved when France and Canada decline to accept his leadership in such matters as planning for a common nuclear defense, but there's a natural limit to what can be achieved by what Vladimir Petrov calls the diplomacy of arm-twisting.

The truth is that you can't pressure somebody who feels, whether justifiably or not, that he can get along without you. And both France and Canada seem to have reached this point.

Personally, I think both countries have been badly advised to rock the boat: Khrushchev is an incalculable and nervy man, and it would be fatal to the whole Western world if he were to become convinced that the U. S., stung by ingratitude, stood ready to remove its nuclear umbrella from over Western Europe. But the soundness of French and Canadian judgment is not the question here. What is important to an understanding of the recent news is that both de Gaulle and the Canadians obviously feel that they have time and space in which to play for what they want.

ASSETS

The Canadians have two things going for them, geography and natural resources. As long as the U.S. is menaced by the possibility that missiles will be hurled at it from over the polar icecap, it must have the cooperation of its northern neighbor in maintaining a distant early warning system. But beyond this, the Canadians know they have become an indispensable part of a North American economic system. In case of intercontinental warfare the U.S. could easily be deprived of overseas sources of oil: the Middle East would assuredly go up in flames if it could not effectively neutralize itself at the outset of a world holocaust, and even Venezuela could be taken out of production by sabotage or isolation by submarine. In that case the reserves of Canada would become doubly important to U.S. calculations. The big international oil companies know this — and they have, accordingly, been forehanded enough to "position" themselves in the Canadian fields.

As for France, de Gaulle may be taking a terrible chance when he puts his trust in his own proposed nuclear armaments. Without the shield of American nuclear warheads both France and West Germany will be vulnerable for some years to come. But Khrushchev has virtually told China's Mao Tse-tung that atomic warfare is "unthinkable," so de Gaulle may feel that he has good reason to think the menace from the East is being overplayed.

As for needing the economic support of the U.S., the French know that their days of begging are now safely behind them. The French have large foreign exchange claims that might be cashed for gold. But, riding a boom, they can afford to be magnanimous about pressing the U. S. in the matter of gold balances. In 1962 the French economy witnessed a 5 per cent rise in the gross national product; for 1963, the predictions are that this record, the best in Europe, will be topped. Instead of hoarding his money in traditional fashion, the individual Frenchman has been converted to the American religion of consumption; French families have been buying cars, vacuum cleaners, television sets, refrigerators, new furniture, skis (for Alpine vacations), and bikinis for Riviera beaches.

HARD MONEY

The thirst for "consumer durables" has sparked the modernization of old industrial plants and has led to much completely new private and governmental investment. Moreover, by following anti-inflationary economic policies that are currently anathema in Washington, the French have made the franc relatively solid once more. With hard money to spend in a country that has had all too bitter memories of inflation, the French have come out into the modern world, and the memories of Marshall Plan dependency are almost as far behind them as memories of the occupation and the liberation. True enough, the U.S. sends more goods annually to France than it takes in return. But the margin has been shrinking, and it is no longer of primary importance.

"Whose bread I eat, his song I sing," so the old folk wisdom insists. But the French, at this moment, do not need Washington's bread. This means that our leverage on de Gaulle is not particularly potent — and arm-twisting as an effective means of diplomacy is out. If little Albania dares to thumb its nose at Khrushchev, we need not be surprised when bigger and richer nations thumb their noses at us.

Can Economic Illiteracy Be Conquered

By FRED G. CLARK and RICHARD S. RIMANOCZY

I.

In the process of self-government nothing is more important than for all the people to understand the economic policies proposed by their elected representatives.

Yet the economic literacy that this would require has always been considered beyond the mental capacity of "the masses."

Following this logic, the best that the "masses" can do is to accept government policy without question.

If this were true, self-government would have a dismal future indeed, because, human nature being what it is, political parties use economics to get elected and stay elected.

II.

But this is not true.

To make a valid comparison higher mathematics are too difficult for the average person, but addition and subtraction are not, and all mathematical calculations can be reduced to addition and subtraction.

Formal economics expressed in technical language is beyond the understanding of most people, but the production and exchange of goods and services is not, and all economic calculations can be reduced to production and exchange.

The tragedy of the situation lies in the fact that the people, from first-hand experience, already know the basic principles of economics, but they don't know that they know.

III.

For example, the following statement puzzles nobody: "Man produces goods and services by changing the form, condition and place of natural resources with the aid of tools which increase the efficiency of his work."

Everybody can put himself, or somebody he knows, into this simple context, yet it is the base for an adequate understanding of production.

Here is another: "Modern man enjoys job security only when there are customers willing and able to buy what he produces."

Once read, this statement becomes self-evident because it is proven by the personal experiences of the reader, but despite its simplicity, it opens the door to the understanding of a dozen related principles.

Here we get a little more involved: "Tools perform 95 per cent of the work done today. Tools are supplied by investors in the hope of profit. Profit is part of the selling price. Just as taxes are the amount collected from the customer on behalf of government, just as payroll is the amount collected from the customer on behalf of the employee, profit is that amount collected from the customer on behalf of those who provide the tools."

Here are six different ideas in one paragraph, yet they preserve great simplicity.

It leads naturally into another thought: "Profit being the cost of using the tools, it is the most important business cost of all because, without it, there would be no tools, and without tools there would be no business."

Here is a simple approach to money: "Modern money is pieces of paper — currency and bank checks — representing dollar signs, and used to exchange the things we have produced for things produced by others. If the purchasing power of these pieces of paper goes down we lose part of what we have saved."

There is nothing profound about this, but it naturally leads to the right kind of questions.

IV.

This kind of authentic knowledge, if possessed by the vast majority of the people, would work wonders for self-government.

The people would know the difference between proper and improper — constructive and destructive — economic action by government.

They would be able to ask: What will this do to job security? What will this do to the problem of winning and holding customers? What will this do to our stock of tools? What will this do to selling prices? What will this do to the value of the dollar?

Perhaps most important of all, the people would stop expecting the government to do things for them that must be done with the people's own money.

The habit of asking government to give something without first taking it away is the oldest of all the pitfalls that have destroyed democracy.

There is an old saying that as long as people believe in absurdities they will continue to commit atrocities.

And with this simple basic economic knowledge, people will no longer believe in absurdities.

Keynes Never Went So Far

By LAWRENCE FERTIG

Much more than a staggering deficit of $12 billion is involved in President Kennedy's budget proposal for the next fiscal year. Even more significant for the nation's future is the fact that the President proposes to repudiate the basic principle which has heretofore guided federal budget-making. He now advocates that the U.S. take a long step along the road which has often led other nations, in Europe and South America, to the point of disaster. That step is to spend regardless of income, in the hope that some future prosperity will create a budget balance.

Until now every president has offered a budget plan — no matter how unconvincing — to make income equal outgo in peacetime. The very purpose of budgetmaking was to balance spending with federal receipts in the year in which the budget is proposed. This is no longer so. Now Mr. Kennedy plans for a deficit. The purpose is to stimulate greater economic activity. According to Mr. Kennedy's new theory, as long as there is any unemployment, as long as all major industries are not working at full capacity, as long as there is even the slightest slack in the economy, the federal government will spend and spend and the deficits will pile up. If unemployment is high because of excessive wage rates in major industries — if prices are too high because of industry inefficiency, high labor cost, or just sheer inflation, if industry capacity is temporarily overbuilt — deficit spending, they say, will cure these deficiencies. Look not to the cause, just spend and spend!

RECKLESSNESS

Former President Eisenhower, who is not given to harsh language, characterized the Kennedy budget as "a recklessness that is completely unjustified in these times." When asked about the $12.5 billion deficit during his own administration in 1958 - 59 he replied that this came about because of a recession. He said, "It was not planned. It was not part of a definite policy of government." This is a significant point.

Many commentators have said that the new budget proposal follows the precepts of the British economist, John Maynard Keynes in his "General Theory" published in 1937. Keynes presented an elaborate thesis justifying government deficit spending to create conditions of prosperity. But even Keynes never sponsored the principles outlined now by Mr. Kennedy. Keynes proposed that in times of recession deficits should be created. He never advocated massive government spending while all indexes of economic activity — production, income, etc. — are mounting to new highs. To advocate this policy is to out-Keynes Keynes.

The British economist also added that the budget should be compensory — that is, surpluses in good times should balance deficits in bad times. Thus there would be, in theory, no net deficit. The Kennedy budget is based on no such principle — or even hope. What it does propose is a balance in the one or two particular years when the economy may be going full blast. Under this plan the slightest downward jiggle would immediately throw the Treasury into the red. Over a period of time deficits would pile up to staggering proportions.

MISCALCULATION

What about the certainty of miscalculation? Estimates of federal income are generally exaggerated, and projections of spending are always minimized by every administration. When a net surplus for a future year is planned in the month of January, a substantial deficit always turns up by the end of that fiscal year. For instance, the $8-billion deficit now looming up for this year was originally planned as a half billion dollar surplus! Mr. Eisenhower's miscalculation of $12.5 billion has been noted above. Over many decades the record shows that budget estimates are substantially wrong 90 per cent of the time. So if we plan for an unprecedented $12-billion deficit, what are we likely to get?

The administration talks as if budget cuts are impossible without injury to the economy. Many authorities assert this is a delusion. A good start towards savings would be to adopt the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's plan to cut the budget by more than $5 billion. These cuts have been worked out in minute detail, item by item. Of course spending can be curtailed. Only the will to do it is necessary.

COLORADO SPRINGS

GAZETTE TELEGRAPH

Your Freedom Newspaper

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Virginia Bill of Rights

We have frequently quoted the Declaration of Independence for we consider it one of those rare documents of which there are all too few in this world. It is rare because it breathes the spirit of freedom. It is revolutionary, for it launches the concept of human rights in the new world and establishes clearly that individual man is superior to the state, however the state is organized.

Having considered the life of George Mason and commented briefly upon his contribution to early American thinking, it is only fitting that we now quote from the Virginia Bill of Rights, which preceded the Declaration of Independence and our own Constitutional Bill of Rights, both of which leaned heavily on Mason's thinking.

It will take no laboring of the point to perceive the impact of Mason's writing and thinking. Suffice to comment that the Declaration of Independence was approved at Philadelphia on July 4, 1776, and that the Bill of Rights, added to the Constitution thru insistence of men such as Mason, was approved in 1791.

The Virginia Bill of Rights obtained ratification in that state on June 12, 1776, and it was from this document that Thomas Jefferson drew when he wrote out the more general document to which the colonies subscribed with unanimity.

"Section 1. That all men are by nature equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights, of which, when they enter into a state of society, they cannot, by any compact, deprive or divest their posterity; namely, the enjoyment of life and liberty, with the means of acquiring and possessing property, and pursuing and obtaining happiness and safety.

"Section 2. That all power is vested in, and consequently derived from, the people; that magistrates are their trustees and servants, and at all times amenable to them.

"Section 3. That government is, or ought to be, instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the people, nation or community; of all the various modes and forms of government, that is best which is capable of producing the greatest degree of happiness and safety, and is most effectually secured against the danger of maladministration; and that, when any government shall be found inadequate or contrary to these purposes, a majority of the community hath an indubitable, inalienable, and indefeasible right to reform, alter, or abolish it, in such manner as shall be judged most conducive to the public weal.

"Section 4. That no man, or set of men, are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments or privileges from the community, but in consideration of public services; which, not being descendible, neither ought the offices of magistrate, legislator, or judge to be hereditary.

"Section 5. That the legislative and executive powers of the state should be separate and distinct from the judiciary; and that the members of the two first may be restrained from oppression, by feeling and participating the burdens of the people, they should, at fixed periods, be reduced to a private station, return into that body from which they were originally taken, and the vacancies be supplied by frequent, certain, and regular elections, in which all or any part of the former members, to be again eligible, or ineligible, as the laws shall direct."

There can be no question as to the fact that the first three sections inspired Jefferson in his task at Philadelphia. In certain respects this Virginia writing of Mason's is more to the point and less subject to misunderstanding than the general Declaration.

We are particularly impressed with the first section and the observation taken from John Locke's essay on government, that no men have a right to so contract or devise as to deprive or divest their posterity. As we think of our own national debt which cannot be paid in our lifetime, we are grieved that this particular observation was not included in the Declaration.

We also call to mind some of the multitudinous laws which have been enacted and which have become binding on children yet unborn.

Additionally in the same section we are impressed with the spelling out of the right to acquire and own property, a matter only hinted at in the Jefferson version.

We will continue with the balance of the Virginia Bill of Rights to show how it served as a pattern for our first ten amendments to the Constitution.

Serene

Recurrence to Principles

The ensuing sections, drawn from the Virginia Bill of Rights, show clearly how this document served as the source of our own Bill of Rights.

"Section 6. That elections of members to serve as representatives of the people, in assembly, ought to be free; and that all men, having sufficient evidence of permanent common interest with, and attachment to, the community, have the right of suffrage, and cannot be taxed or deprived of their property for public use, without their own consent, or that of their representatives so elected, nor bound by any law to which they have not, in like manner, assembled, for the public good.

"Section 7. That all power of suspending laws, or the execution of laws, by any authority, without consent of the representatives of the people, is injurious to their rights, and ought not to be exercised.

"Section 8. That in all capital or criminal prosecutions a man hath a right to demand the cause and nature of his accusation, to be confronted with the accusers and witnesses, to call for evidence in his favor, and to a speedy trial by an impartial jury of twelve men of his vicinage, without whose unanimous consent he cannot be found guilty; nor can he be compelled to give evidence against himself; that no man be deprived of his liberty, except by the law of the land or the judgment of his peers.

"Section 9. That excessive bail ought not to be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

"Section 10. That general warrants, whereby an officer or messenger may be commanded to search suspected places without evidence of a fact committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, or whose offence is not particularly described and supported by evidence, are grievous and oppressive, and ought not to be granted.

"Section 11. That in controversies respecting property, and in suits between man and man, the ancient trial by jury is preferable to any other, and ought to be held sacred.

"Section 12. That the freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty, and can never be restrained but by despotic governments.

"Section 13. That a well-regulated militia, composed of the body of the people, trained to arms, is the proper, natural, and safe defense of a free State; that standing armies, in time of peace, should be avoided, as dangerous to liberty; and that in all cases the military should be under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

"Section 14. That the people have a right to uniform government; and, therefore, that no government separate from, or independent of the government of Virginia, ought to be erected or established within the limits thereof.

"Section 15. That no free government, or the blessings of liberty, can be preserved to any people, but by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality, and virtue, and by frequent recurrence to fundamental principles.

"Section 16. That religion, or the duty which we owe to our Creator, and the manner of discharging it, can be directed only by reason and conviction, not by force or violence; and therefore all men are equally entitled to the free exercise of religion, according to the dictates of conscience; and that it is the mutual duty of all to practice Christian forbearance, love, and charity towards each other."

In some respects our own Bill of Rights is superior and in some inferior to the Virginia Bill. We thought it appropriate during this month of February to quote extensively from the writings of George Mason and to bring his contribution to American thinking to the fore.

We think the admonition to have "frequent recurrence to fundamental principles" is one of the things so often neglected both by the lay public and by office holders. It is in hopes that such recurrence will take place that we have published this little known outside of Virginia document.

Examination Of an Ideal

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

For the purpose of this discussion let us define the word ideal as signifying the best possible condition for action, business, living and creating. Obviously, an ideal condition will also encourage happiness and contentment.

An ideal condition is not a part of a dream of Utopia because an ideal condition does not guarantee success. A man may create a small business under ideal conditions and go bankrupt because of a lack of ability or self-responsibility or an unwillingness to expend the necessary effort.

And so it is with freedom! Only in freedom may man live under ideal conditions. The conditions are ideal because he is free to select and decide and make decisions which affect every aspect of every phase of his entire life. There is no single ideal condition because each human being is different from every other human being.

Enslaved by government, a man may not achieve an ideal condition for anything unless he can find ways and means to institute a total boycott against his enslaver.

The small population of this ghost town, whether it appreciates the fact or not, enjoys a condition where no local government exists. If I acquire a piece of property, I can build what I want to build without let or hindrance from government but even here I may not engage in a business without a license from government which forces me to collect sales taxes for government at my expense. The State of Arizona, thru its legislature, attempted to sugar coat the nasty pill by trying to convince those who invest in private enterprise that they are enjoying a privilege when they are forced to collect taxes for the state.

LOOP HOLES

There are a few lines involving strictly personal service which are not yet under the heel of government but state legislators are busily engaged in closing those "loop holes." Governments do not approve of loop holes which tend to lessen the domination of governments over individuals.

Right here, then, and probably in certain areas thruout the nation it is possible for a man to live in freedom under certain specific conditions which reduce his freedom of choice to an unfortunate minimum. We find then that a truly ideal condition may not be achieved because the conditions have been limited by the actions of governments.

As we carefully examine the philosophy of freedom which sharply defines ideals and principles, we find that as governments become larger and more costly and more powerful, we are driven further and further away from conditions which may be ideal for individuals. The more we patronize government, do business with government or involve ourselves with services from government for which we pay the entire and horrible cost, the more we increase the size and cost and power of government. To reduce the size and cost and power of government, individuals will find it logical to institute their own private and entirely personal boycott against government, per se, and against individuals in government personally, socially and politically.

OSTRACISM

Politicians and appointed and employed public servants do not look kindly upon the idea of political and social ostracism but there isn't much they can do about it until they become willing to give up the posts created by tyranny and thievery and become first-class citizens. Since those not connected with government, in one form or another, are prohibited by law from finding ideal conditions in which they may lead their lives, I see no good reason to provide ideal conditions for the tyrants who enslave us and, from a personal point of view, I will continue to do what I can to avoid adding fuel to the fire of pompous omnipotence in which warmth public servants love to bask. When a man fighting for his own freedom turns his back upon political action and politicians, the public servants begin to fall in place, arguing, cajoling, then begging.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

YEAR ROUND

To the Editor:

As we all know, business is at its ebb. During this post - New Year to pre-Easter period, we all feel the effect of this lack of business and activity. I suspect that our Chamber of Commerce is in hibernation.

Why must all our town activities be scheduled for the peak of the tourist season, i.e., the Pikes Peak Hill Climb, the Street Breakfast, the Rodeo, Outdoor Art Shows, etc., etc.?

Can we not get some good heads together to program some new activities for this slack period, when we really need boosting? I feel sure that other communities have done this, must we always play the part of the ostrich, refusing to face reality, and follow good working examples of other progressive cities? Denver draws on us with its stock show. I sincerely believe that we can draw a crowd with the activities put on by a good committee. Let's boost Colorado Springs all year 'round.

IMPOVERISHED

To the Editor:

The urgent appeals for tax cuts are an admission that the New Frontier government has impoverished our "affluent society."

Until they took control, the Frontiersmen were telling us the public government portion of our society was impoverished while the citizen-taxpayers were excessively affluent. Now, half way thru their term of office, they admit the citizen-taxpayers have become so impoverished they cannot continue paying present taxes; while the government is so well off it can get along with less income.

Empty stores, growing personal bankruptcies, increasing relief rolls, the spreading of unemployment and the increase in personal debts are but the first signs of our vanishing affluence. Administration spokesmen have declared they can see a depression ahead unless our now impoverished society gets some tax cut relief.

Having voted into office those who said we were too affluent, who but ourselves can we blame for the condition in which we find ourselves?

To The Point

A Visit to Robert Graves

By RUSSELL KIRK

At the village of Deya, in the hills of Mallorca, lives Mr. Robert Graves, one of the most versatile men of letters of our time. Though he holds an Oxford chair, most of the year he is at his house in the Balearics; before long he will make another expedition to America, to lecture at Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the relationship between humane and scientific studies.

In my high - school days, I read his two best - known novels, "I Claudius" and "Claudius the God," which re-create the age of the Caesars. It was with some surprise, then, that I encountered him climbing a hill near Deya, he leading two little dogs on a leash. Tall and hearty, Mr. Graves now is 67 years old, undiminished in intellectual and physical vigor.

The Mediterranean civilization dominates Graves' work — his novels, poems, and criticism—but he knows about all sorts of odd things in curious corners. One of his interests is witchcraft. I spoke of the revival or survival of the superstition of the "bear-walk" among the Indians of Upper Michigan. Graves promptly produced a wondrous little charm against the bearwalk (a kind of ursine equivalent of the werewolf): a tiny turquoise image of a bear, with an arrowhead lashed to its side, made by New Mexican Indians. Ghosts, witches, and the supernatural generally run through his books — for instance, his romance "Seven Days in New Crete," which runs both forward and backward in time.

In a literary period soaked in naturalism, Graves has not feared to cut against the grain. The idea of the "Great White Goddess," as source of all religion and civilization, has been his chief theme for years. His two volumes on Greek mythology are dominated by this theory: he holds that the Greek myths we know are, for the most part, the misinterpretation (by barbarous Greek newcomers) of temple - paintings of the Aegean and Minoan cultures, which grew out of worship of the Great Mother.

For the positivistic civilization of our century, Graves has small regard: he thinks it well on its way to dissolution. Deya is about as far as one can get from the main currents of twentieth - century life, and yet be within the orbit of classical culture. The old houses of Deya, snuggled under immense cliffs, cling tenderly together; and below them, on terraces, flourish the olive and the vine, as they did in the times of the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome.

Modernity — in the shape of white villas and swimming pools built by prosperous German summer - people — is making its way even to these immemorial terraces. The peasant - folk of Mallorca still mold strange little plaster images of men and riders and beast - men, pre-Greek and pre-Roman, surviving the triumph of Christianity. These are symbols of sexual fertility. And I suppose that something of ancient magic and symbol will survive the mechanizing and standardizing of our age. Graves suggests that modern civilization, in a few more generations, will go under for want of religious motives. This, like all else in life, he accepts serenely, enjoying the living moment.

Question Box

Question No. 141: "Can capitalism be seriously threatened only by a great aesthetic movement that will permeate the masses and divorce them from their vices and luxuries to which they have been accustomed for a century?"

Louis Bandin Ferrero contends that that is the case, as quoted in "A Socialistic Empire, The Incas of Peru." It seems that his reasoning was that the Incas had been deprived of any luxuries and lived on the bare necessities and thus were easily controlled and managed and suppressed.

On the other hand, it is usually the pseudo-intellectuals that lead us into a socialistic or communistic society. Those who are deprived of any luxuries go along in a satisfied way and never make much of an effort to improve their lot. They seem to be satisfied with getting enough to keep body and soul together.

On the other hand, it is generally agreed that very few people can stand prosperity. It seems to degrade their spiritual and ethical idea of life.

In any event, it is an ethical breakdown that causes trouble. The statement in the Bible that the iniquities of the fathers are visited on the children of the third and fourth generation is certainly true. And it will be noted that that says "fathers" instead of "father." It is the atmosphere, the beliefs, the ethics that lead to loss of freedom and loss of initiative.

It is an interesting subject and we would be glad to have further light on the answer to this question.

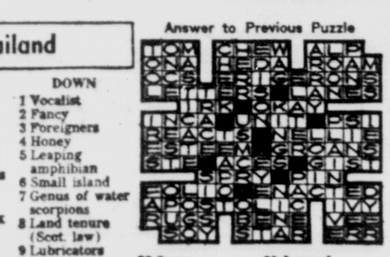
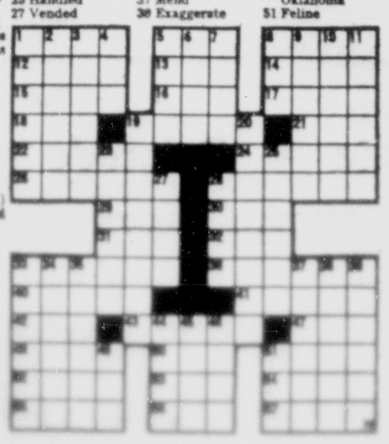
Answer to Previous Puzzle





These Days

Arm-Twisting Doesn't Work

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

President Kennedy may have a right to feel aggrieved when France and Canada decline to accept his leadership in such matters as planning for a common nuclear defense, but there's a natural limit to what can be achieved by what Vladimir Petrov calls the diplomacy of arm-twisting.

The truth is that you can't pressure somebody who feels, whether justifiably or not, that he can get along without you. And both France and Canada seem to have reached this point.

Personally, I think both countries have been badly advised to rock the boat: Khrushchev is an incalculable and nervy man, and it would be fatal to the whole Western world if he were to become convinced that the U. S., stung by ingratitude, stood ready to remove its nuclear umbrella from over Western Europe. But the soundness of French and Canadian judgment is not the question here. What is important to an understanding of the recent news is that both de Gaulle and the Canadians obviously feel that they have time and space in which to play for what they want.

ASSETS

The Canadians have two things going for them, geography and natural resources. As long as the U.S. is menaced by the possibility that missiles will be hurled at it from over the polar ice-cap, it must have the cooperation of its northern neighbor in maintaining a distant early warning system. But beyond this, the Canadians know they have become an indispensable part of a North American economic system. In case of intercontinental warfare the U.S. could easily be deprived of overseas sources of oil: the Middle East would assuredly go up in flames if it could not effectively neutralize itself at the outset of a world holocaust, and even Venezuela could be taken out of production by sabotage or isolation by submarine. In that case the reserves of Canada would become doubly important to U.S. calculations. The big international oil companies know this — and they have, accordingly, been forehanded enough to "position" themselves in the Canadian fields.

As for France, de Gaulle may be taking a terrible chance when he puts his trust in his own proposed nuclear armaments. Without the shield of American nuclear warheads both France and West Germany will be vulnerable for some years to come. But Khrushchev has virtually told China's Mao Tse-tung that atomic warfare is "unthinkable," so de Gaulle may feel that he has good reason to think the menace from the East is being overplayed.

As for needing the economic support of the U.S., the French know that their days of begging are now safely behind them. The French have large foreign exchange claims that might be cashed for gold. But, riding a boom, they can afford to be magnanimous about pressing the U. S. in the matter of gold balances. In 1962 the French economy witnessed a 5 per cent rise in the gross national product; for 1963, the predictions are that this record, the best in Europe, will be topped. Instead of hoarding his money in traditional fashion, the individual Frenchman has been converted to the American religion of consumption; French families have been buying cars, vacuum cleaners, television sets, refrigerators, new furniture, skis (for Alpine vacations), and bikinis for Riviera beaches.

HARD MONEY

The thirst for "consumer durables" has sparked the modernization of old industrial plants and has led to much completely new private and governmental investment. Moreover, by following anti-inflationary economic policies that are currently anathema in Washington, the French have made the franc relatively solid once more. With hard money to spend in a country that has had all too bitter memories of inflation, the French have come out into the modern world, and the memories of Marshall Plan dependency are almost as far behind them as memories of the occupation and the liberation. True enough, the U.S. sends more goods annually to France than it takes in return. But the margin has been shrinking, and it is no longer of primary importance.

"Whose bread I eat, his song I sing," so the old folk wisdom insists. But the French, at this moment, do not need Washington's bread. This means that our leverage on de Gaulle is not particularly potent — and arm-twisting as an effective means of diplomacy is out. If little Albania dares to thumb its nose at Khrushchev, we need not be surprised when bigger and richer nations thumb their noses at us.

Can Economic Illiteracy Be Conquered

I.

In the process of self-government nothing is more important than for all the people to understand the economic policies proposed by their elected representatives.

Yet the economic literacy that this would require has always been considered beyond the mental capacity of "the masses."

Following this logic, the best that the "masses" can do is to accept government policy without question.

If this were true, self-government would have a dismal future indeed, because, human nature being what it is, political parties use economics to get elected and stay elected.

II.

But this is not true.

To make a valid comparison higher mathematics are too difficult for the average person, but addition and subtraction are not, and all mathematical calculations can be reduced to addition and subtraction.

Formal economics expressed in technical language is beyond the understanding of most people, but the production and exchange of goods and services is not, and all economic calculations can be reduced to production and exchange.

The tragedy of the situation lies in the fact that the people, from first-hand experience, already know the basic principles of economics, but they don't know that they know.

III.

For example, the following statement puzzles nobody: "Man produces goods and services by changing the form, condition and place of natural resources with the aid of tools which increase the efficiency of his work."

Everybody can put himself, or somebody he knows, into this simple context, yet it is the base for an adequate understanding of production.

Here is another: "Modern man enjoys job security only when there are customers willing and able to buy what he produces."

Once read, this statement becomes self-evident because it is proven by the personal experiences of the reader, but despite its simplicity, it opens the door to the understanding of a dozen related principles.

Here we get a little more involved: "Tools perform 95 per cent of the work done today. Tools are supplied by investors in the hope of profit. Profit is part of the selling price. Just as taxes are the amount collected from the customer on behalf of government, just as payroll is the amount collected from the customer on behalf of the employee, profit is that amount collected from the customer on behalf of those who provide the tools."

Here are six different ideas in one paragraph, yet they preserve great simplicity.

It leads naturally into another thought: "Profit being the cost of using the tools, it is the most important business cost of all because, without it, there would be no tools, and without tools there would be no business."

Here is a simple approach to money: "Modern money is pieces of paper — currency and bank checks — representing dollar signs, and used to exchange the things we have produced for things produced by others. If the purchasing power of these pieces of paper goes down we lose part of what we have saved."

There is nothing profound about this, but it naturally leads to the right kind of questions.

IV.

This kind of authentic knowledge, if possessed by the vast majority of the people, would work wonders for self-government.

The people would know the difference between proper and improper — constructive and destructive — economic action by government.

They would be able to ask: What will this do to job security? What will this do to the problem of winning and holding customers? What will this do to our stock of tools? What will this do to selling prices? What will this do to the value of the dollar?

Perhaps most important of all, the people would stop expecting the government to do things for them that must be done with the people's own money.

The habit of asking government to give something without first taking it away is the oldest of all the pitfalls that have destroyed democracy.

There is an old saying that as long as people believe in absurdities they will continue to commit atrocities.

And with this simple basic economic knowledge, people will no longer believe in absurdities.

Keynes Never Went So Far

By LAWRENCE FERTIG

Much more than a staggering deficit of $12 billion is involved in President Kennedy's budget proposal for the next fiscal year. Even more significant for the nation's future is the fact that the President proposes to repudiate the basic principle which has heretofore guided federal budget-making. He now advocates that the U.S. take a long step along the road which has often led other nations, in Europe and South America, to the point of disaster. That step is to spend regardless of income, in the hope that some future prosperity will create a budget balance.

Until now every president has offered a budget plan — no matter how unconvincing — to make income equal outgo in peacetime. The very purpose of budgetmaking was to balance spending with federal receipts in the year in which the budget is proposed. This is no longer so. Now Mr. Kennedy plans for a deficit. The purpose is to stimulate greater economic activity. According to Mr. Kennedy's new theory, as long as there is any unemployment, as long as all major industries are not working at full capacity, as long as there is even the slightest slack in the economy, the federal government will spend and spend and the deficits will pile up. If unemployment is high because of excessive wage rates in major industries — if prices are too high because of industry inefficiency, high labor cost, or just sheer inflation, if industry capacity is temporarily overbuilt — deficit spending, they say, will cure these deficiencies. Look not to the cause, just spend and spend!

RECKLESSNESS

Former President Eisenhower, who is not given to harsh language, characterized the Kennedy budget as "a recklessness that is completely unjustified in these times." When asked about the $12.5 billion deficit during his own administration in 1958 - 59 he replied that this came about because of a recession. He said, "It was not planned. It was not part of a definite policy of government." This is a significant point.

Many commentators have said that the new budget proposal follows the precepts of the British economist, John Maynard Keynes, in his "General Theory" published in 1937. Keynes presented an elaborate thesis justifying government deficit spending to create conditions of prosperity. But even Keynes never sponsored the principles outlined now by Mr. Kennedy. Keynes proposed that in times of recession deficits should be created. He never advocated massive government spending while all indexes of economic activity — production, income, etc. — are mounting to new highs. To advocate this policy is to out-Keynes Keynes.

The British economist also added that the budget should be compensory — that is, surpluses in good times should balance deficits in bad times. Thus there would be, in theory, no net deficit. The Kennedy budget is based on no such principle — or even hope. What it does propose is a balance in the one or two particular years when the economy may be going full blast. Under this plan the slightest downward jiggle would immediately throw the Treasury into the red. Over a period of time deficits would pile up to staggering proportions.

MISCALCULATION

What about the certainty of miscalculation? Estimates of federal income are generally exaggerated, and projections of spending are always minimized by every administration. When a net surplus for a future year is planned in the month of January, a substantial deficit always turns up by the end of that fiscal year. For instance, the $8-billion deficit now looming up for this year was originally planned as a half billion dollar surplus! Mr. Eisenhower's miscalculation of $12.5 billion has been noted above. Over many decades the record shows that budget estimates are substantially wrong 90 per cent of the time. So if we plan for an unprecedented $12-billion deficit, what are we likely to get?

The administration talks as if budget cuts are impossible without injury to the economy. Many authorities assert this is a delusion. A good start towards savings would be to adopt the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's plan to cut the budget by more than $5 billion. These cuts have been worked out in minute detail, item by item. Of course spending can be curtailed. Only the will to do it is necessary.

Nodaks Nip CC Icers in Thriller

Bill Dixon's Twin Goals Brings Exciting Finish

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

Colorado College came within a hair's breadth of pulling a tremendous upset of North Dakota at the Broadmoor World Arena Saturday night falling, 7-6, in a squeaker that had the 2,500 fans all standing during the final thrilling minutes. It was the final home game of the season for CC.

The Tigers came from behind a four goal deficite in the final period to climb to within the one-point difference with almost four minutes remaining. Big Bill Dixon hammering in the last two shots for the Tigers, but they were unable to gain the tying marker thru the brutal Nodaks defense.

The loss was Colorado College's eighth in 14 league games this season and the Tigers remained in fifth place. The visiting Sioux jumped into third place on the victory with an 8-5-1 mark in Western Collegiate Hockey Association play.

A second straight upset by Michigan University over Michigan Tech, 5-4, still gave CC a glimmer of hope for the league playoffs between the first four clubs. Tech must face Denver University in Denver twice before entertaining the Tigers in the final two games of the season and a double loss there would set up a showdown between these teams for fourth position.

In the only other game scheduled, Minnesota won its second straight over Michigan State, 6-1, Saturday night.

CC was a vastly different team than the one which lost to this same North Dakota sextet last Wednesday, 7-1. Outside of the five goals in the opening period by the Nodaks, the Tigers more than held their own and outscored the guests by a 5-2 margin in the final two period.

Dixon, of course, led the Tigers scoring with his two goals, while Dakota's Don Ross also had a pair in the winning cause. Both goalies, Joe Lech of the Sioux and Pete Doyle of CC, were bombarded thruout the game with Lech called on for 39 saves and Doyle having 31 stops. The hero's role undoubtedly had to go to Lech, who halted several fine scoring threats by the Tigers—just as he had done in Wednesday's game.

Thanks to a couple of goals on the cheap side and a scoring spree that saw the Nodaks tally three times in the span of a minute and 40 seconds, Dakota took a wide 5-1 lead in the first period. The Tigers outscored the visitors by one in the second, but were unable to take advantage of two opportunities with the Sioux shorthanded to come closer.

George Chigol started the fireworks with less than two minutes gone in the game by poking in the disc from point blank range when Doyle was unable to clear a stopped shot from Ross. Then Don Stokaluk fired it home again at the 4:27 mark on a 14-footer when CC failed to cover the front of the net.

Art Berglund gave the local fans a ray of hope, however, when he stole the puck about 25 feet into the Nodaks zone and whizzed in alone on Lech, slipping in under the falling goalie.

Then the Sioux banged their quick flurry. Ernie Dyna got the first of the series at the 16:46 point on a rebound, then Ross was credited with the other two on shots of 50 and 45 feet. Ross' first came only 11 seconds after a CC penalty on a screen which blinded Doyle, and the fifth Dakota goal on a slap from the right faceoff circle that sneaked into the far corner of the net.

Both teams missed breakaways during the first period, with Doyle handling Dyna with a neat save on his knees, and CC's Dixon fired into the pads when Ken Cairns deked a defenseman and passed off at the last second. Berglund also missed on an open opportunity for the Tigers, cramming it into the side of the goal.

The Bengals found new life in the second stanza, playing on even terms with the husky invaders all the way. Jeff Sauer connected on CC's second of the night only 54 seconds deep into the frame on a rebound of Paul Kilbreath's slap, and Cairns brought the count to 5-3 on another rebound backhand from eight feet after a congested scramble in front of the Dakota net.

The Tigers' were digging with everything they had for the score that would bring them to whhin one and put the locals right back into the game. But the Nodaks' Maurice Roberge pumped in a partial screen from 45 feet away on the right point and Doyle missed with his glove hand.

Just after the start of the third period the Sioux' high - scoring Dave Merrifield put his team out in front by four just 2:54 into the chapter on a rebound of Ross' slap shot.

But the Tigers came to life again midway in the period with their three-goal rally that had the crowd standing thruout the final minutes. Johnny Simus started it all at the 8:44 mark on a hard rush from the left wing to bring the score to 7-4. Then Dixon pulled the Bengals to within one on a slap from just inside the blue line that sailed past Lech almost without notice.

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State delivered defending champion Colorado's Big Eight Conference basketball hopes a blow Saturday night defeating the Buffaloes 73-60.

The loss, Colorado's second in nine conference games, did not drop the Buffaloes from the Big Eight lead.

Ken Charlton, Colorado's leading scorer with a 20-point average, got two of Colorado's three baskets in its cold period and Milt Mueller added a free throw and substitute Ed Price got the Buffaloes' last basket just before the end of the game.

Twelve of Iowa State's last 14 points came on free throws with Rich Froistad getting two, Vince Brewer two, Marv Straw two and Dave Groth adding six.

Colorado, the seventh ranked team in The Associated Press poll this week) now has a 7-2 conference record. Iowa State, still with hopes for the title, is 8-3.

Cowboys Slips Past Nebraska

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State, playing its slow, deliberate game, defeated Nebraska 51-41 Saturday and moved into a tie with Colorado for the Big Eight Conference basketball lead.

The victory boosted Coach Henry Iba's Cowboys' conference record to 7-2, same as Colorado which lost 73-60 to Iowa State. Kansas State is a step off the pace with a 6-2 league standing.

Oklahoma State plays Colorado at Boulder next Saturday in what could be a showdown for the Big Eight crown.

The Cowboys hit the first shot and never trailed Nebraska. At one time in the first half Oklahoma State led by 14 points, and held a 23-13 halftime margin.

Nebraska cut the OSU lead to five points three times in the second half, but Iba ordered a delay game into effect with nearly seven minutes left and the Cowboys padded the score on free throws.

Larry Hawk led Oklahoma State with 18 points. Only one Nebraska player cracked double figures—Daryl Petsch with 10 points.

Salida Cage Team Downs Canon Abbey

The Lantz brothers, John and David, bombarded the visiting team when they both rallied for 21 points apiece. John launched his 6-6½ frame to snatch 26 rebounds while brother Dave pulled down 17 that contributed to the one-sided scoring contest, which was the highest score Don Schmidli's cagers registered this season.

Friday night Salida snapped a two-game losing streak when they defeated Academy High, 59-53, and gained a tie for the loop leadership along with Widefield, Harrison, and Florence.

FOR MEN ONLY

By Jack Waymire

One of the most popular trends in men's fashions has been the all-season suit, designed to be as comfortable and right on a warm spring or summer day as it is under a topcoat on a cold day in December.

This welcome addition to any man's wardrobe was made possible by the development of lighter weight fine wool worsteds, and new combinations of worsteds with dacron or orlon fibers. This let the designers come up with fine tailored suits with full clothing construction and "body" that would still have almost weightless feel, just right for mild or even hot weather. Hart Schaffner & Marx calls this "tempawate."

Most men can't enjoy an unlimited wardrobe, so a suit that can look and feel right for a good ten months or more of the year answers a real need. You'll find them in our selection right now in a handsome variety of solid colors, muted patterns, shadow checks and stripes.

We take pride in the proper fitting that adds to your comfort and appearance in any suit you buy. Besides stocking sizes to fit just about anybody, we give that little extra attention to expert alterations where needed that means the difference between "just a suit" and a custom tailored look.

Air Force Lopes Past CC Tigers In Game Between Local Rivals

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Bob Spear's Air Force Falcons, with the aftereffects of Friday's stunning upset of nationally ranked Utah State much in evidence, loped past outmanned Colorado College 65-41 at the Cadet Gymnasium Saturday night in the renewal of a city rivalry which has grown somewhat out of proportion in the past two seasons.

The Falcons, now 7-10 for the season, were minus much of the sparkle that accompanied their mighty effort Friday but still had far too much for their small neighbors who continued in the throes of a campaign which has produced 19 straight defeats.

In all fairness to the Tigers, their performance was more than might have been expected in the face of big college opposition for the second time in three nights. Red Eastlack's luckless quintet was bounced by strong Creighton 81-43 Thursday but still turned in a spunky showing before better than 1,000 fans against the poised Air Force Saturday.

Spear, taking note of a wide advantage in talent, platooned his forces while rolling to a 30 - 18 first half lead and then mixed combinations of the 12 squad members thruout the second half. As a result, reserve Mike Pavich emerged as high point man for the evening with 12 points, most of which came on jump shots from far outside. Starter Jim Diffendorfer added 11 and reserve Nick Lacey 10.

CC's shortage of talent under these conditions was evident from the start but the Tigers still picked up strong work from several. Bob Heiny, who led the CC scoring with 12, and freshman Phil Hart battled gamely with their taller rivals on the boards, each picking off nine rebounds. And the junior Bob Baker turned in a surprisingly fine floor game, threading his way thru the tight forecourt defense thrown up by the Air Force consistently.

The Falcons, perhaps a little too relaxed after the strain of Friday's tussle, were slow starting to 6-4 after the teams had gone in the early going. Diffendorfer sent the home club off ahead on the first shot of the game with 18:41 left on a set from the left side but the majority of the first half had elapsed before the AFA began to shake the Tigers.

Baker hit the first six points for CC, trimming the margin to 4-3 with three minutes gone and then Three straight fielders by the Falcons in the following minute raised the margin to 12-4 and then the reserve unit came on to pick up the pace, rolling up a 25-10 advantage with 2:32 left in the half. Three field goals and a pair of Heiny free tosses while the Air Force was scoring five points allowed the Tigers to trim the lead to 3 0- 18 at intermission.

Heiny hit a jump shot from the corner as the second half got underway but the Falcons followed with three straight goals and CC was never to pull close again. Twice, midway in the period, the Tigers moved back within 15 points before the Air Force quickly widened the gap once more.

The victory wound up activity for the Falcons until next Friday when they close out a four game home stand in another regional clash with Denver University. CC, in the meantime, returns to the more familiar haunts of the Rocky Mountain Conference Monday night in the first of a two night set with Western State.

Wichita Nips Past Cincinnati For 65-64 Win

WICHITA (AP) — Wichita stunned Cincinnati's national champions 65-64 Saturday night, ending the Bearcats' 37-game winning streak, as Dave Stallworth threw in 46 points. Stallworth scored the last seven points in the final 4 minutes.

Cincinnati led 64-58 with 4 minutes to go when the Wheatshockers started their amazing rally. Stallworth got the last three points on free throws. He made one of two fouls for a 64-63 reading with 1:32 left.

Cincinnati then went down the court, missed a shot, and Wichita got the rebound. Gene Smith, a Cincy sophomore, then fouled Stallworth and he made both free throws for the final 65-64 Wichita edge with 74 seconds left.

Ken Charlton, Colorado's leading scorer with a 20-point average, got two of Colorado's three baskets in its cold period and Milt Mueller added a free throw and substitute Ed Price got the Buffaloes' last basket just before the end of the game.

Twelve of Iowa State's last 14 points came on free throws with Rich Froistad getting two, Vince Brewer two, Marv Straw two and Dave Groth adding six.

Colorado, the seventh ranked team in The Associated Press poll this week) now has a 7-2 conference record. Iowa State, still with hopes for the title, is 8-3.

Brewer led all scoring with 22 points and teammate Groth put in 14. Charlton and Mueller each scored 14 for Colorado.

Cowboys Slips Past Nebraska

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State, playing its slow, deliberate game, defeated Nebraska 51-41 Saturday and moved into a tie with Colorado for the Big Eight Conference basketball lead.

The victory boosted Coach Henry Iba's Cowboys' conference record to 7-2, same as Colorado which lost 73-60 to Iowa State. Kansas State is a step off the pace with a 6-2 league standing.

Oklahoma State plays Colorado at Boulder next Saturday in what could be a showdown for the Big Eight crown.

The Cowboys hit the first shot and never trailed Nebraska. At one time in the first half Oklahoma State led by 14 points, and held a 23-13 halftime margin.

Nebraska cut the OSU lead to five points three times in the second half, but Iba ordered a delay game into effect with nearly seven minutes left and the Cowboys padded the score on free throws.

Larry Hawk led Oklahoma State with 18 points. Only one Nebraska player cracked double figures—Daryl Petsch with 10 points.

Salida Cage Team Downs Canon Abbey

The Lantz brothers, John and David, bombarded the visiting team when they both rallied for 21 points apiece. John launched his 6-6½ frame to snatch 26 rebounds while brother Dave pulled down 17 that contributed to the one-sided scoring contest, which was the highest score Don Schmidli's cagers registered this season.

Friday night Salida snapped a two-game losing streak when they defeated Academy High, 59-53, and gained a tie for the loop leadership along with Widefield, Harrison, and Florence.

Bill Dixon's Twin Goals Brings Exciting Finish

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

Colorado College came within a hair's breadth of pulling a tremendous upset of North Dakota at the Broadmoor World Arena Saturday night falling, 7-6, in a squeaker that had the 2,500 fans all standing during the final thrilling minutes. It was the final home game of the season for CC.

The Tigers came from behind a four goal deficite in the final period to climb to within the one-point difference with almost four minutes remaining. Big Bill Dixon hammering in the last two shots for the Tigers, but they were unable to gain the tying marker thru the brutal Nodaks defense.

The loss was Colorado College's eighth in 14 league games this season and the Tigers remained in fifth place. The visiting Sioux jumped into third place on the victory with an 8-5-1 mark in Western Collegiate Hockey Association play.

A second straight upset by Michigan University over Michigan Tech, 5-4, still gave CC a glimmer of hope for the league playoffs between the first four clubs. Tech must face Denver University in Denver twice before entertaining the Tigers in the final two games of the season and a double loss there would set up a showdown between these teams for fourth position.

In the only other game scheduled, Minnesota won its second straight over Michigan State, 6-1, Saturday night.

CC was a vastly different team than the one which lost to this same North Dakota sextet last Wednesday, 7-1. Outside of the five goals in the opening period by the Nodaks, the Tigers more than held their own and outscored the guests by a 5-2 margin in the final two period.

Dixon, of course, led the Tigers scoring with his two goals, while Dakota's Don Ross also had a pair in the winning cause. Both goalies, Joe Lech of the Sioux and Pete Doyle of CC, were bombarded thruout the game with Lech called on for 39 saves and Doyle having 31 stops. The hero's role undoubtedly had to go to Lech, who halted several fine scoring threats by the Tigers—just as he had done in Wednesday's game.

Thanks to a couple of goals on the cheap side and a scoring spree that saw the Nodaks tally three times in the span of a minute and 40 seconds, Dakota took a wide 5-1 lead in the first period. The Tigers outscored the visitors by one in the second, but were unable to take advantage of two opportunities with the Sioux shorthanded to come closer.

George Chigol started the fireworks with less than two minutes gone in the game by poking in the disc from point blank range when Doyle was unable to clear a stopped shot from Ross. Then Don Stokaluk fired it home again at the 4:27 mark on a 14-footer when CC failed to cover the front of the net.

Art Berglund gave the local fans a ray of hope, however, when he stole the puck about 25 feet into the Nodaks zone and whizzed in alone on Lech, slipping in under the falling goalie.

Then the Sioux banged their quick flurry. Ernie Dyna got the first of the series at the 16:46 point on a rebound, then Ross was credited with the other two on shots of 50 and 45 feet. Ross' first came only 11 seconds after a CC penalty on a screen which blinded Doyle, and the fifth Dakota goal on a slap from the right faceoff circle that sneaked into the far corner of the net.

Both teams missed breakaways during the first period, with Doyle handling Dyna with a neat save on his knees, and CC's Dixon fired into the pads when Ken Cairns deked a defenseman and passed off at the last second. Berglund also missed on an open opportunity for the Tigers, cramming it into the side of the goal.

The Bengals found new life in the second stanza, playing on even terms with the husky invaders all the way. Jeff Sauer connected on CC's second of the night only 54 seconds deep into the frame on a rebound of Paul Killbreath's slap, and Cairns brought the count to 5-3 on another rebound backhand from eight feet after a congested scramble in front of the Dakota net.

The Tigers' were digging with everything they had for the score that would bring them to within one and put the locals right back into the game. But the Nodaks' Maurice Roberge pumped in a partial screen from 45 feet away on the right point and Doyle missed with his glove hand.

Just after the start of the third period the Sioux' high-scoring Dave Merrifield put his team out in front by four just 2:54 into the chapter on a rebound of Ross' slap shot.

But the Tigers came to life again midway in the period with their three-goal rally that had the crowd standing thruout the final minutes. Johnny Simus started it all at the 8:44 mark on a hard rush from the left wing to bring the score to 7-4. Then Dixon pulled the Bengals to within one on a slap from just inside the blue line that sailed past Lech almost without notice.

Air Force Lopes Past CC Tigers In Game Between Local Rivals

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Bob Spear's Air Force Falcons, with the aftereffects of Friday's stunning upset of nationally ranked Utah State much in evidence, loped past outmanned Colorado College 65-41 at the Cadet Gymnasium Saturday night in the renewal of a city rivalry which has grown somewhat out of proportion in the past two seasons.

The Falcons, now 7-10 for the season, were minus much of the sparkle that accompanied their mighty effort Friday but still had far too much for their small neighbors who continued in the throes of a campaign which has produced 19 straight defeats.

In all fairness to the Tigers, their performance was more than might have been expected in the face of big college opposition for the second time in three nights. Red Eastlack's luckless quintet was bounced by strong Creighton 81-43 Thursday but still turned in a spunky showing before better than 1,000 fans against the poised Air Force Saturday.

Spear, taking note of a wide advantage in talent, platooned his forces while rolling to a 30-18 first half lead and then mixed combinations of the 12 squad members thruout the second half. As a result, reserve Mike Pavich emerged as high point man for the evening with 12 points, most of which came on jump shots from far outside. Starter Jim Diffendorfer added 11 and reserve Nick Lacey 10.

CC's shortage of talent under these conditions was evident from the start but the Tigers still picked up strong work from several. Bob Heiny, who led the CC scoring with 12, and freshman Phil Hart battled gamely with their taller rivals on the boards, each picking off nine rebounds. And junior Bob Baker turned in a surprisingly fine floor game, threading his way thru the tight forecourt defense thrown up by the Air Force consistently.

The Falcons, perhaps a little too relaxed after the strain of Friday's tussle, were slow starting and were missing with regularity in the early going. Diffendorfer sent the home club off ahead on the first shot of the game with 18:41 left on a set from the left side but the majority of the first half had elapsed before the AFA began to shake the Tigers.

Baker hit the first six points for CC, trimming the margin to 4-3 with three minutes gone and then 6-4 after the teams had gone thru some six minutes of slow paced action with only one Air Force field goal to interceed. Three straight fielders by the Falcons in the following minute raised the margin to 12-4 and then the reserve unit came on to pick up the pace, rolling up a 25-10 advantage with 2:32 left in the half. Three field goals and a pair of Heiny free tosses while the Air Force was scoring five points allowed the Tigers to trim the lead to 30-18 at intermission.

Heiny hit a jump shot from the corner as the second half got underway but the Falcons followed with three straight goals and CC was never to pull close again. Twice, midway in the period, the Tigers moved back within 15 points before the Air Force quickly widened the gap once more.

The victory wound up activity for the Falcons until next Friday when they close out a four game home stand in another regional clash with Denver University. CC, in the meantime, returns to the more familiar haunts of the Rocky Mountain Conference Monday night in the first of a two night set with Western State.

WICHITA (AP) — Wichita stunned Cincinnati's national champions 65-64 Saturday night, ending the Bearcats' 37-game winning streak, as Dave Stallworth threw in 46 points. Stallworth scored the last seven points in the final 4 minutes.

Cincinnati led 64-58 with 4 minutes to go when the Wheatshockers started their amazing rally. Stallworth got the last three points on free throws. He made one of two fouls for a 64-63 reading with 1:32 left.

Cincinnati then went down the court, missed a shot, and Wichita got the rebound. Gene Smith, a Cincy sophomore, then fouled Stallworth and he made both free throws for the final 65-64 Wichita edge with 74 seconds left.

FOR MEN ONLY

By Jack Waymire

One of the most popular trends in men's fashions has been the all-season suit, designed to be as comfortable and right on a warm spring or summer day as it is under a topcoat on a cold day in December.

This welcome addition to any man's wardrobe was made possible by the development of lighter weight fine wool worsteds, and new combinations of worsteds with dacron or orlon fibers. This let the designers come up with fine tailored suits with full clothing construction and "body" that would still have almost weightless feel, just right for mild or even hot weather. Hart Schaffner & Marx calls this "tempawate."

Most men can't enjoy an unlimited wardrobe, so a suit that can look and feel right for a good ten months or more of the year answers a real need. You'll find them in our selection right now in a handsome variety of solid colors, muted patterns, shadow checks and stripes.

We take pride in the proper fitting that adds to your comfort and appearance in any suit you buy. Besides stocking sizes to fit just about anybody, we give that little extra attention to expert alterations where needed that means the difference between "just a suit" and a custom tailored look.

BETWEEN THE LINES

by Loy Holman

Ice Picks for All

Feuding among countries, leagues, pros and amateurs, and even teams sharing the same season is not unusual within the sporting clan. There always seems to be some difference of opinion on one matter or another.

But on a recent journey with the Colorado College hockey team to Minneapolis, where the Tigers had a double go-round with Minnesota's Golden Gophers, we witnessed a new twist to this ancient quarrel. This one was between coaches from the same school — who compete back-to-back in the huge Williams Arena at MU that houses both hockey and basketball.

It was all with tongue-in-cheek (or at least so we thought), but it seemed worthy to pass on.

The scene was a sort of "quarterback club" for hockey only, called the Blue Line Club. In the Minneapolis-St. Paul area there are not only 100 high schools playing varsity hockey, but several college teams besides Minnesota University, and teams in the so-called "amateur" league of college post-grads where they are not only salaried but render fines for bad mistakes.

This array of teams and coaches, plus fans for the assorted competition certainly provides a large and varied audience for speakers.

And on this particular day, on the eve of the Minnesota-Colorado College tussel, the "enemy" was invited. This not only included CC's Coach Tony Frasca and Athletic Director Jerry Carle, but also the Gophers basketball coach, John Kundla, those dribblers pound the planks only a partition away from the hockey action.

Quite naturally there's a friendly rivalry between the two sports in the winter season of divided interests.

Thus spoke Kundla:

"I'm certainly glad to have been invited before this distinguished group today. I've been looking for the chance to set a few things straight — things that might be overlooked by a few hockey fans as they sit shivering before a flattened ice cube they call the playing area.

"I'd like everyone to know just how soft a job John (Mariucci) here has. Let me outline just a few of his assignments."

Mariucci, of course, is the controversial hockey coach at Minnesota, who used to massacre players as a defenseman for the Chicago Black Hawks of the professional National Hockey League and now is just as roughly outspoken on his ideas of his chosen profession.

"Let's take the rules of his game, for instance," Kundla said.

"These hockey coaches have it made. The rules are so confusing that no one knows what's going on — not even the coaches and especially not the reporters who write their little daily essays to the public. And then just about the time someone is starting to understand these complicated rules . . . well, then the coaches just change 'em to suit themselves.

"As for the talent needed to coach the sport," the cage mentor jibed, "I can't see that they do any coaching at all. The only thing they do is slap the side boards once in a while and a whole new team goes on the ice. They can't even send in plays like a football coach. And they don't even have to say who's going into the game—the players seem to decide that when they pop in and out of that silly little players box.

"As far as I can tell, the only thing a coach is for is to be a doorman to open and shut the gate to that box," Kundla said.

Then the enlongated teacher of ball-bouncers went to the subject of recruiting, which incidently is a bit easier for those located in the midst of the frozen northland of Minnesota than it is for other locals.

"Take this Mariucci, for instance, and I've heard that there are a few parts of the country that wouldn't. 'Maroosh' has 75 players on his freshman squad, alone. And he gets them without scholarship, according to his propaganda. He's got so many players just within a local phone call that they are knocking each other over just trying to get on the team."

Kundla complained slightly that the hockey coaches didn't have to beat the bush for a 235-pound tackle, like the football counterparts or for the guy who's been chasing jack-rabbits all his life like the track coach.

However, the cage tutor failed to reveal that a sign hangs on his own office door: "Do Not Enter. Unless you can see through the transom at the top of this door. Then, don't bother to knock!"

"As for a schedule," Kundla continued, "these hockey coaches have it pretty soft. Like this Mariucci — if one team starts beating you all the time, just decide not to play them anymore. I've often wished I could do the same thing with Ohio State, but haven't been able to get by with it."

The sarcastic coach, with more than a touch of truth to his stinging words, was referring to Mariucci's refusal to play against Denver University, of course. Minnesota has claimed DU uses under-handed tactics in building a winning team and has taken advantage of the lax Western Collegiate Hockey Association rules which omit stipulation that all teams in the league must play each other.

On this particular day Kundla had most of the barbs in his talk before the hockey clubbers. But Mariucci saved one as a comeback:

"From now on," Maroosh said, "I'm gonna issue ice picks to all my players. Then I'm gonna give 'em points for every punctured basketball they can bring back."

Canada Moves Toward Slam In Figure Skating Tourney

Canadian skaters, who swept the first three places in ladies' singles Friday night, took commanding leads in both ice dance and men's singles and are heavily favored to win the pairs competition.

All three titles were to be decided late Saturday.

Don McPherson of Stratford, Ont., Canada's nominee as a successor to retired 1962 world champion Donald Jackson of Oahawa, Ont., captured the school figures in men's singles Saturday afternoon.

Donald Knight of Dundas, Ont., was third behind Allen in school figures, but fourth-place Monty Hoyt of Denver and fifth-place Tommy Litz of Hershey, Pa., were in a strong position to move up.

Sutton Posts Only Victory

TRINIDAD — Defending champion Jim Sutton of Wasson won the 133 pound title in the district wrestling tournament for the second straight year here Saturday night to rank as the only local entry to emerge victorious as the qualifying meet for the upcoming state finals came to a conclusion.

Sutton defeated Greg Smith of Pueblo Central by a 3-1 decision in the Saturday night finals after position victories in earlier sessions Friday night and Saturday morning.

One other Colorado Springs lad, Ward Huffman of Palmer, also qualified for next weekend's state tournament at Englewood and three other Terrors still retain a chance. Mike Potter, Joe Parkinson, and Larry Nicks of Palmer will all take part in comeback matches in Pueblo Monday to determine whether or not they will make the trip this winter.

Huffman was pinned in the Saturday finals by Ray Jones of Pueblo South but had already beaten the third place winner in his weight class and thus was automatically awarded the runner-up berth in the state finals. Parkinson dropped a 6-4 decision to Joe Salas of South, Potter was beaten by Dan Madrid of Centennial 3-0, and Nicks was pinned by Dan Medina of Trinidad in other final matches. All will have to meet the third place winners in the comebacks Monday, however, to determine the other entries in the state in their respective weight classes.

Other local wrestlers placing in the competition here were Dick Drobney, Jon Campbell, and Yogi Grandcourt of Wasson and Norm Bishop of Palmer. Drobney won third with a 4-1 decision of Dan Aldridge of South in the 154 pound class while the others finished fourth. Campbell was decisioned by Richard Wolfe of Central, 1-0, in the heavyweight third place match. Grandcourt dropped a 4-1 decision to Ray Schearer of South, and Rosboy lost to Mickey Bonham of Centennial, 3-0.

Pirates Meet St. Joseph's In Another Clutch Battle

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Write

DENVER — Ed Murphy's St. Mary's Pirates wind up a key weekend in Denver Parochial League action here this afternoon when they meet St. Joseph's in a 2:30 contest at the St. Joseph's Gymnasium. "B" teams of the two schools will play a preliminary game at 1 p.m.

The Pirates, who posted a crucial 55-42 win over Annunciation in a roughhouse battle in Colorado Springs Friday night, can afford no letdown today. The Bulldogs were at the top of the standings early in the campaign and are currently tied with Annunciation and Regis for third place in the standings, two games behind the leading Pirates, and a single game behind St. Francis.

St. Mary's blitzed the St. Joseph's club 61-37 in an earlier game in the Springs but that fact makes Murphy and his cargers even more cautious in approaching today's battle. The Pirates' two league losses have both been in second division clubs while playing in Denver and another such misfortune at this point would be a serious blow to the Bucs' chances of capturing thier first league title. Next Friday St. Mary's must return here to play dangerous St. Francis and also remaining on the schedule is a home contest with Regis.

Other action Friday night saw St. Francis keep pace with the Bucs by downing helpless Mt. Carmel, 63-46, Regis paste Cathedral 59-48, and St. Joseph's handle Holy Family, 67-55. The Machebeuf-Mullen game was postponed to Monday night.

HOLY FAMILY COACH RESIGNS

Gerald Hoffman, head football and baseball coach at Holy Family High School in Denver, resigned his position to be effective at the end of the school term.

During the four seasons as head football coach, Hoffman's teams won 17 while losing 15 with two ties. The Tigers finished sixth in 1959, third in 1960, and fifth in 1961 and 1962.

Michigan Icers Top Huskies

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan took an upset victory over Michigan Tech Saturday night with a 5-4 come-from-behind win in a Western College Hockey Association battle despite a three-goal hat trick by the huskies' John Ivanitz.

Penn State's 1962 cross country team was undefeated.

The Great Football Player

DEDICATED TO COLORADO COLLEGE
— a book in the making —

"Just watching him perform . . ."

By John A. Getts
(Earl Harry (Dutch) Clark, as I know him.)

The two greatest All-Americans from Colorado are, of course, Earl Harry (Dutch) Clark and Byron R. (Whizzer) White.

We are honored, therefore, to find that the Honorable United States Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White found time within his busy and responsible schedule to send us these wonderful words:

"Dear Sir

"I think it goes without saying that Dutch Clark, who was my basketball and spring football coach for one year at the University of Colorado, was a most remarkable athlete and a most remarkable person. Just watching him perform was always a rewarding experience for the hopeful athlete.

"Sincerely yours,

(signed)
"Byron White"

ESTHETICS

Within the phrase — "just watching him perform . . . ," White, too, sensed the key to Dutch Clark. It was the ever-present esthetic-athletic-beauty, which was always so apparent in every athletic endeavor of Clark that so fascinated the nation's leading sports authorities. It was this asthetic-magnificence that the late Grantland Rice raved so much about in the Saturday Evening Post when he selected Dutch Clark as quarterback on his greatest all-time all-American football team and that was some 15 years after Clark played his last league game. But, among other things, Rice wrote: "Dutch Clark has the ability to explode." This remarkableness was stressed by Juan Reed, now the Dean of Men at Colorado College, when he spoke of the terrific change-of-pace that Clark possessed. Reed, a teammate of Dutch Clark's in the All-American 20's at CC, has done a remarkable job in compilation of athletic records at Colorado College. Many of these records, pertaining to Clark and numerous rare photos, he has made accessable to us in this effort. Reed played center on the Tiger football squad in '28 when Dutch galloped his way to All-American.

PRE-HIGH SCHOOL

Dutch Clark was born at Fowler, Colorado on October 11, 1906. Later the family moved to Pueblo and like most pre-high school sandlotters on Pueblo's southside Clark's first football games were played in Bruner or Henkle parks and more often right in the middle of some side street. Side streets were the most popular football diamonds for the sandlotters in those days. Traffic was light and the side streets were boardered on both sides by solid wooden or high picket fences — they were the sidelines; the infields always contained at least two telephone poles and one iron fireplug; the alleys made nifty 50-yard lines, and the side streets were usually gravelled with rocky sand but rarely paved.

The popular football uniform consisted of a pair of corduroy trousers and a high neck, tight-fitting jersey sweater. When a ball carrier was tackled it was a common occurance for him to tear the knee out of his breeches while he ground a few pieces of sand into his kneecap. The skin on the heel of a ball carriers' hand was all the padding he had. A popular tackle was to grab a runner by the jersey sweater which invaribly stretched two to three yards before the elastic reprecussion would set in and the sudden shock grounded the runner. In Dutch's pre-high and sandlot games wringing—tackling by the neck—was no foul, nor was it illegal—it was a pleasure. In fact, a good wringer, in those days, was a likely candidate for future all-American tackle. Practically every end run, on those side street diamonds, concluded up against one of the wooden fences along the sidelines the rewards, of course were splinters. Horrible facilities—yes—but out of such there came a Dutch Clark!

In 1926 the Central Wildcats were invited to compete in the National Stagg Invitational Basketball Tourney at Chicago. Soon the spotlight was on the stellar playing of the youthful Dutch Clark. So much so that Northwestern extended him a scholarship. After graduation he accepted—meanwhile, the determined efforts to acquire Clark by members of the Colorado College Boosters' club never relented. Fortunately, Dutch Clark was never eager to roam and after two weeks he indicated his desire to return and attend CC. Too, it is doubtful if Northwestern was aware of Clark's remarkable football record at Pueblo Central—however, one wonders, if Clark had remained at Northwestern and had the larger daily newspapers covered his earlier college career, how much more widespread would his already great football fame be today?

NEVER DESERTED

Many of those sandlot teammates of Dutch Clark still live in Pueblo and their memories are rich with one thought — Dutch Clark never deserted 'em. Year after year — no matter where Dutch Clark played; no matter what his athletic achievements, and no matter what the extent of his fame—at the close of every football season, Clark came home to Pueblo and as soon as he could pull on a sweatshirt he joined and played on one of the amateur baseball and basketball teams in the city-wide commercial leagues of Pueblo.

Dutch Clark was an athlete, he loved to play and it seemed to matter little to him whether the game took place on a sandlot diamond in Pueblo or on an all-star professional team in New York. Throughout it all Dutch Clark's modesty was foremost—he never bragged; he never boasted — he never changed; he was quiet; his friendship was always warm, and Dutch Clark never forgot a sandlot or youthful acquaintance—he was the same Dutch Clark from Pueblo sandlot games to the Hall of Fame. Pueblo sandlotters knew that Dutch Clark was one fellow who'd never have to buy a larger hat to fit his head—they knew also—from his spectacular athletic achievements as a Wildcat at Pueblo Central — that, if ever a Football Hall of Fame was created, Dutch Clark would be there—yes—as quarterback!

RECORD STANDS

For thirty-five years, the football record of Earl Harry (Dutch) Clark still stands at Colorado College. In 1928, the year he was named All-American, the Flying Dutchman galloped across the Rocky Mountain Conference goal line for a total of 105 points—a record to this day. During his first year (26) at CC Dutch led the freshmen scoring and in '27, '28 and '29 Clark was the leading Rocky Mountain Conference scorer.

In '28 Clark carried the ball 135 times to gain a total of 1349 yards for a seasonal average of 10.7 yards per carry.

Energetic youngsters within the current football arena need not worry too much about shattering the Clark record with the Tigers because if they can just penetrate into the shadows of the record, they are likely of a berth among the heroes of modern day football greats.

PERSONAL

Thanks for the many compliments and the general interest in this series and it is all because Dutch Clark has engraved his athletic records wtih such magnificence that anything one says about his record is certain to be interesting.

Thus we urge you to keep 'tuned' to this corner in the Sunday Gazette, because, as the late Al Jolson used to say — "ladies an' gentlemen, you aint heard nothin' yet!"

Ice Picks for All

Feuding among countries, leagues, pros and amateurs, and even teams sharing the same season is not unusual within the sporting clan. There always seems to be some difference of opinion on one matter or another.

But on a recent journey with the Colorado College hockey team to Minneapolis, where the Tigers had a double go-round with Minnesota's Golden Gophers, we witnessed a new twist to this ancient quarrel. This one was between coaches from the same school — who compete back-to-back in the huge Williams Arena at MU that houses both hockey and basketball.

It was all with tongue-in-cheek (or at least so we thought), but it seemed worthy to pass on.

The scene was a sort of "quarterback club" for hockey only, called the Blue Line Club. In the Minneapolis-St. Paul area there are not only 100 high schools playing varsity hockey, but several college teams besides Minnesota University, and teams in the so-called "amateur" league of college post-grads where they are not only salaried but render fines for bad mistakes.

This array of teams and coaches, plus fans for the assorted competition certainly provides a large and varied audience for speakers.

And on this particular day, on the eve of the Minnesota-Colorado College tussel, the "enemy" was invited. This not only included CC's Coach Tony Frasca and Athletic Director Jerry Carle, but also the Gophers basketball coach, John Kundla, those dribblers pound the planks only a partition away from the hockey action.

Quite naturally there's a friendly rivalry between the two sports in the winter season of divided interests.

Thus spoke Kundla:

"I'm certainly glad to have been invited before this distinguished group today. I've been looking for the chance to set a few things straight — things that might be overlooked by a few hockey fans as they sit shivering before a flattened ice cube they call the playing area.

"I'd like everyone to know just how soft a job John (Mariucci) here has. Let me outline just a few of his assignments."

Mariucci, of course, is the controversial hockey coach at Minnesota, who used to massacre players as a defenseman for the Chicago Black Hawks of the professional National Hockey League and now is just as roughly outspoken on his ideas of his chosen profession.

"Let's take the rules of his game, for instance," Kundla said.

"These hockey coaches have it made. The rules are so confusing that no one knows what's going on — not even the coaches and especially not the reporters who write their little daily essays to the public. And then just about the time someone is starting to understand these complicated rules . . . well, then the coaches just change 'em to suit themselves.

"As for the talent needed to coach the sport," the cage mentor jibed, "I can't see that they do any coaching at all. The only thing they do is slap the side boards once in a while and a whole new team goes on the ice. They can't even send in plays like a football coach. And they don't even have to say who's going into the game—the players seem to decide that when they pop in and out of that silly little players box.

"As far as I can tell, the only thing a coach is for is to be a doorman to open and shut the gate to that box," Kundla said.

Then the enlongated teacher of ball-bouncers went to the subject of recruiting, which incidently is a bit easier for those located in the midst of the frozen northland of Minnesota than it is for other locals.

"Take this Mariucci, for instance, and I've heard that there are a few parts of the country that wouldn't. 'Maroosh' has 75 players on his freshman squad, alone. And he gets them without scholarship, according to his propaganda. He's got so many players just within a local phone call that they are knocking each other over just trying to get on the team."

Kundla complained slightly that the hockey coaches didn't have to beat the bush for a 235-pound tackle, like the football counterparts or for the guy who's been chasing jack-rabbits all his life like the track coach.

However, the cage tutor failed to reveal that a sign hangs on his own office door: "Do Not Enter. Unless you can see through the transom at the top of this door. Then, don't bother to knock!"

"As for a schedule," Kundla continued, "these hockey coaches have it pretty soft. Like this Mariucci — if one team starts beating you all the time, just decide not to play them anymore. I've often wished I could do the same thing with Ohio State, but haven't been able to get by with it."

The sarcastic coach, with more than a touch of truth to his stinging words, was referring to Mariucci's refusal to play against Denver University, of course. Minnesota has claimed DU uses under-handed tactics in building a winning team and has taken advantage of the lax Western Collegiate Hockey Association rules which omit stipulation that all teams in the league must play each other.

On this particular day Kundla had most of the barbs in his talk before the hockey clubbers. But Mariucci saved one as a comeback:

"From now on," Maroosh said, "I'm gonna issue ice picks to all my players. Then I'm gonna give 'em points for every punctured basketball they can bring back."

Canada Moves Toward Slam In Figure Skating Tourney

Canadian skaters, who swept the first three places in ladies' singles Friday night, took commanding leads in both ice dance and men's singles and are heavily favored to win the pairs competition.

All three titles were to be decided late Saturday.

Don McPherson of Stratford, Ont., Canada's nominee as a successor to retired 1962 world champion Donald Jackson of Oahawa, Ont., captured the school figures in men's singles Saturday afternoon.

Donald Knight of Dundas, Ont., was third behind Allen in school figures, but fourth-place Monty Hoyt of Denver and fifth-place Tommy Litz of Hershey, Pa., were in a strong position to move up.

Sutton Posts Only Victory

TRINIDAD — Defending champion Jim Sutton of Wasson won the 133 pound title in the district wrestling tournament for the second straight year here Saturday night to rank as the only local entry to emerge victorious as the qualifying meet for the upcoming state finals came to a conclusion.

Sutton defeated Greg Smith of Pueblo Central by a 3-1 decision in the Saturday night finals after position victories in earlier sessions Friday night and Saturday morning.

One other Colorado Springs lad, Ward Huffman of Palmer, also qualified for next weekend's state tournament at Englewood and three other Terrors still retain a chance. Mike Potter, Joe Parkinson, and Larry Nicks of Palmer will all take part in comeback matches in Pueblo Monday to determine whether or not they will make the trip this winter.

Huffman was pinned in the Saturday finals by Ray Jones of Pueblo South but had already beaten the third place winner in his weight class and thus was automatically awarded the runner-up berth in the state finals. Parkinson dropped a 6-4 decision to Joe Salas of South, Potter was beaten by Dan Madrid of Centennial 3-0, and Nicks was pinned by Dan Medina of Trinidad in other final matches. All will have to meet the third place winners in the comebacks Monday, however, to determine the other entries in the state in their respective weight classes.

Other local wrestlers placing in the competition here were Dick Drobney, Jon Campbell, and Yogi Grandcourt of Wasson and Norm Bishop of Palmer. Drobney won third with a 4-1 decision of Dan Aldridge of South in the 154 pound class while the others finished fourth. Campbell was decisioned by Richard Walle of Central, 1-0, in the heavyweight third place match. Pirates Meet St. Joseph's In Another Clutch Battle

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Write

DENVER — Ed Murphy's St. Mary's Pirates wind up a key weekend in Denver Parochial League action here this afternoon when they meet St. Joseph's in a 2:30 contest at the St. Joseph's Gymnasium. "B" teams of the two schools will play a preliminary game at 1 p.m.

The Pirates, who posted a crucial 55-42 win over Annunciation in a roughhouse battle in Colorado Springs Friday night, can afford no letdown today. The Bulldogs were at the top of the standings early in the campaign and are currently tied with Annunciation and Regis for third place in the standings, two games behind the leading Pirates, and a single game behind St. Francis.

St. Mary's blitzed the St. Joseph's club 61-37 in an earlier game in the Springs but that fact makes Murphy and his cargers even more cautious in approaching today's battle. The Pirates two league losses have both been to second division clubs while playing in Denver and another such misfortune at this point would be a serious blow to the Bucs' chances of capturing thier first league title. Next Friday St. Mary's must return here to play dangerous St. Francis and also remaining on the schedule is a home contest with Regis.

Other action Friday night saw St. Francis keep pace with the Bucs by downing helpless Mt. Carmel, 63-46, Regis paste Cathedral 59-48, and St. Joseph's handle Holy Family, 67-55. The Machebeuf-Mullen game was postponed to Monday night.

HOLY FAMILY COACH RESIGNS

Gerald Hoffman, head football and baseball coach at Holy Family High School in Denver, resigned his position to be effective at the end of the school term.

During the four seasons as head football coach, Hoffman's teams won 17 while losing 15 with two ties. The Tigers finished sixth in 1959, third in 1960, and fifth in 1961 and 1962.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan took an upset victory over Michigan Tech Saturday night with a 5-4 come-from-behind win in a Western College Hockey Association battle despite a three-goal hat trick by the huskies' John Ivanitz.

Penn State's 1962 cross country team was undefeated.

In 1926 the Central Wildcats were invited to compete in the National Stagg Invitational Basketball Tourney at Chicago. Soon the spotlight was on the stellar playing of the youthful Dutch Clark. So much so that Northwestern extended him a scholarship. After graduation he accepted—meanwhile, the determined efforts to acquire Clark by members of the Colorado College Boosters' club never relented. Fortunately, Dutch Clark was never eager to roam and after two weeks he indicated his desire to return and attend CC. Too, it is doubtful if Northwestern was aware of Clark's remarkable football record at Pueblo Central—however, one wonders, if Clark had remained at Northwestern and had the larger daily newspapers covered his earlier college career, how much more widespread would his already great football fame be today?

The Great Football Player

DEDICATED TO COLORADO COLLEGE
— a book in the making —

"Just watching him perform . . ."

By John A. Getts

(Earl Harry (Dutch) Clark, as I know him.)

The two greatest All-Americans from Colorado are, of course, Earl Harry (Dutch) Clark and Byron R. (Whizzer) White.

We are honored, therefore, to find that the Honorable United States Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White found time within his busy and responsible schedule to send us these wonderful words:

"Dear Sir

"I think it goes without saying that Dutch Clark, who was my basketball and spring football coach for one year at the University of Colorado, was a most remarkable athlete and a most remarkable person. Just watching him perform was always a rewarding experience for the hopeful athlete.

"Sincerely yours,

(signed)

ESTHETICS

Within the phrase — "just watching him perform . . . ," White, too, sensed the key to Dutch Clark. It was the ever-present esthetic-athletic-beauty, which was always so apparent in every athletic endeavor of Clark that so fascinated the nation's leading sports authorities. It was this asthetic-magnificence that the late Grantland Rice raved so much about in the Saturday Evening Post when he selected Dutch Clark as quarterback on his greatest all-time all-American football team and that was some 15 years after Clark played his last league game. But, among other things, Rice wrote: "Dutch Clark has the ability to explode." This remarkableness was stressed by Juan Reed, now the Dean of Men at Colorado College, when he spoke of the terrific change-of-pace that Clark possessed. Reed, a teammate of Dutch Clark's in the All-American 20's at CC, has done a remarkable job in compilation of athletic records at Colorado College. Many of these records, pertaining to Clark and numerous rare photos, he has made accessable to us in this effort. Reed played center on the Tiger football squad in '28 when Dutch galloped his way to All-American.

PRE-HIGH SCHOOL

Dutch Clark was born at Fowler, Colorado on October 11, 1906. Later the family moved to Pueblo and like most pre-high school sandlotters on Pueblo's southside Clark's first football games were played in Bruner or Henkle parks and more often right in the middle of some side street. Side streets were the most popular football diamonds for the sandlotters in those days. Traffic was light and the side streets were boardered on both sides by solid wooden or high picket fences — they were the sidelines; the infields always contained at least two telephone poles and one iron fireplug; the alleys made nifty 50-yard lines, and the side streets were usually gravelled with rocky sand but rarely paved.

The popular football uniform consisted of a pair of corduroy trousers and a high neck, tight-fitting jersey sweater. When a ball carrier was tackled it was a common occurance for him to tear the knee out of his breeches while he ground a few pieces of sand into his kneecap. The skin on the heel of a ball carriers' hand was all the padding he had. A popular tackle was to grab a runner by the jersey sweater which invaribly stretched two to three yards before the elastic reprecussion would set in and the sudden shock grounded the runner. In Dutch's pre-high and sandlot games wringing—tackling by the neck—was no foul, nor was it illegal—it was a pleasure. In fact, a good wringer, in those days, was a likely candidate for future all-American tackle. Practically every end run, on those side street diamonds, concluded up against one of the wooden fences along the sidelines the rewards, of course were splinters. Horrible facilities—yes—but out of such there came a Dutch Clark!

NEVER DESERTED

Many of those sandlot teammates of Dutch Clark still live in Pueblo and their memories are rich with one thought — Dutch Clark never deserted 'em. Year after year — no matter where Dutch Clark played; no matter what his athletic achievements, and no matter what the extent of his fame—at the close of every football season, Clark came home to Pueblo and as soon as he could pull on a sweatshirt he joined and played on one of the amateur baseball and basketball teams in the city-wide commercial leagues of Pueblo.

Dutch Clark was an athlete, he loved to play and it seemed to matter little to him whether the game took place on a sandlot diamond in Pueblo or on an all-star professional team in New York. Throughout it all Dutch Clark's modesty was foremost—he never bragged; he never boasted — he never changed; he was quiet; his friendship was always warm, and Dutch Clark never forgot a sandlot or youthful acquaintance—he was the same Dutch Clark from Pueblo sandlot games to the Hall of Fame. Pueblo sandlotters knew that Dutch Clark was one fellow who'd never have to buy a larger hat to fit his head—they knew also—from his spectacular athletic achievements as a Wildcat at Pueblo Central — that, if ever a Football Hall of Fame was created, Dutch Clark would be there—yes—as quarterback!

RECORD STANDS

For thirty-five years, the football record of Earl Harry (Dutch) Clark still stands at Colorado College. In 1928, the year he was named All-American, the Flying Dutchman galloped across the Rocky Mountain Conference goal line for a total of 105 points—a record to this day. During his first year (26) at CC Dutch led the freshmen scoring and in '27, '28 and '29 Clark was the leading Rocky Mountain Conference scorer.

In '28 Clark carried the ball 135 times to gain a total of 1349 yards for a seasonal average of 10.7 yards per carry.

Energetic youngsters within the current football arena need not worry too much about shattering the Clark record with the Tigers because if they can just penetrate into the shadows of the record, they are likely of a berth among the heroes of modern day football greats.

PERSONAL

Thanks for the many compliments and the general interest in this series and it is all because Dutch Clark has engraved his athletic records wtih such magnificence that anything one says about his record is certain to be interesting.

Thus we urge you to keep 'tuned' to this corner in the Sunday Gazette, because, as the late Al Joison used to say — "ladies an' gentlemen, you aint heard nothin' yet!"

'Trotters Slated Here On March 6

The famed Harlem Globetrotters, kings of comedy in the basketball world, will be making their annual appearance here in Colorado Springs the evening of March 6, according to promoter Abe Marylander.

Providing the "straight-man" opposition for the Trotters will be the San Francisco "All Nations" team composed of players from countries around the world.

In addition, there will be at least a half dozen entertainment acts before the game and at halftime to make a night of lively watching.

Tickets will go on sale this Monday morning, Feb.18, at both Blick's Sporting Goods Store and Ring Military downtown. If there are any left, and that is doubtful since the Globetrotter have always been a sellout here, tickets will also be sold at the City Auditorium box office just before the game there.

The tickets will be sold for $1.50 general admission, and $2 and $3 for reserved seats near the playing floor.

It was also announced by Marylander that there will be no professional wrestling show this week at the City Auditorium. The following Thursday, however, the grapplers will be back again.

Frank Thomas of the Mets hit two home runs in one game on five occasions at the Polo Grounds last season. His major league total is 357 homers.

Broncos Extend Jack Faulkner's Contract Additional Two Years

DENVER (UPI)— The Denver Broncos announced Saturday the contract of Jack Faulkner, the American Football League's coach of the year last season, had been extended for an additional two years.

The new contract will run through the 1965 season. No salary was announced, but Faulkner, in addition to head coach, also will continue as general manager of the club.

Faulkner, 36, signed a two-year contract when he came to the Broncos last year. The Denver entry in the AFL last season, Faulkner's first season here, finished with a 7-7 record and was runnerup in the western division of the league.

The Broncos won seven of their first nine games before hitting an end-of-the-season slump.

Calvin W. Kunz Jr., Bronco president, said the team's improvement over the previous season had won the board of directors' confidence in Faulkner.

"We feel that Jack has done an outstanding job in building a football team, increasing fan interest and molding an image of the club which resulted in our attendance increasing 125 per cent in 1962," Kunz said.

"His earnestness, devotion, enthusiasm and dedication are such that he has devoted virtually all his waking hours for the past year to the Denver Broncos. His success also earned him national prominence and, although we are certain he could not be lured away from Denver for just any offer, we felt we wanted Jack Faulkner to stay with us and continue to build toward an AFL championship," Kunz said.

"By extending his contract we feel we have given him peace of mind as far as his job is concerned and certainly allows him to look to the future with optimism and security."

"I am delighted and pleased with this new contract," Faulkner said. "It is an honor which I shall certainly continue to try and justify. It also means that my responsibility to Mr. Kunz and the board of directors of the Denver Broncos is even more increased.

"I shall always be grateful to Mr. Kunz for his confidence in hiring me last year, a young man who had no head coaching experience and his and the board's complete cooperation during the past year have contributed greatly to what success we have enjoyed," he said.

Mike Sangster Outgunned Scott in Indoor Tennis

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Sangster outgunned Eugene Scott of Northport, N.Y., in a battle of cannonball serves Saturday 6-4, 6-4, 15-17, 6-4 and became the first Englishman ever to enter the finals of the United States Indoor Tennis Championships.

Sangster will meet the winner of the match between two U.S. Davis Cuppers, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, for the title Sunday at the Seventh Regiment Armory. McKinley is defending champion.

Sangster and Scott served with such devastating power that the match turned into a dull artillery duel for the some 2,000 spectators.

In the 62 games, which required 3½ hours, there were only four service breaks—one in each set.

The balls came off the rackets with such blazing speed—probably exceeding 100 miles per hour—that the man on the other side of the net found it almost impossible to put them into play.

Aces were a dime a dozen—Sangster must have had at least 40 of them—and rallies were so rare that the crowd became restless and wandered away frequently to the refreshment stands.

Sangster lost only one point on service in the first set—this on a double fault—and only one point through the first five games of the second when he planked a volley into the net.

He won the first set with a break of Scott's service in the fifth game and the second with a break-through in the third. In these two sets Scott, 23-year-old University of Virginia law student, managed to deuce only two games on the Briton's service.

The lean American collegian, who upset an ailing Roy Emerson of Australia Friday night, got his first and only service break in the 32nd game of the third set. A couple of bad volleys and two neat passing shots by Scott did the trick.

The decisive breakthrough in the fourth set came in the seventh game. Scott almost rebroke, getting to advantage, but Sangster pulled out of trouble with a couple of real smokers which Scott couldn't handle.

MURRAY BACK IN PICS

Goldsmith Wins American Challenge Cup Auto Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) —Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, Mich. roared 145.161 miles an hour around a rain-slick track Saturday to win the $20,000 250-mile American Challenge Cup auto race.

A driving rain marred the race, for grand touring and classified cars, but there were no accidents.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, in a 1963 Sting Ray, ended two laps behind Goldsmith. Billy Krause Long Beach, Calif., who came in third, was on his 94th lap in a 1963 String Ray when Goldsmith finished his 100 laps.

Other finishers in the top 10, in order, were:

Fireball Roberts, Daytona Beach, in a Ferrari; David Piper, London, England, in a Ferrari; Tony Denman, Freemont, Ohio, a 1963 Corvette; Fritz Von Hanstein, Stuttgart, Germany, a 1963 Porsche; Jaokim Bonnier, Switzerland, a 1963 Porsche; Bill Bencker, Jacksonville, Fla., a 1963 Porsche; and Bob Holbert, Warrington, Pa., a Porsche-Abarth.

Veteran driver Marvin Panch of Daytona Beach, once considered the 'man to beat' in the challenge cup event, lay in his hospital bed a few miles away during the running.

Panch was seriously burned and suffered internal injuries in a spectacular practice accident Thursday. His doctors predict it will be May or June before he can drive again.

Many of the drivers who competed in Saturday's race will hit the track again Sunday for the gruelling, three-hour Daytona Continental which pits the best of the new world against the best of the old.

A formidable battery of Sting Rays, Pontiac Tempests and Shelby Cobra Fords make up the American contingent. Europe's entries include Farraris, Porsches, Alfa Romeos, Jaguars, Triumphs and Abarth Simcas.

The inaugural Continental was won last year by California's Dan Gurney in a Lotus 19 at an average speed of 103.667 miles an hour over the 3.81-mile track and road course.

Illinois Upsets Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)— Dave Downey's record 53 points for Illinois Saturday afternoon in a televised basketball game failed to save the Big Ten leaders from a 103-100 defeat by Indiana's surging Hoosiers.

Downey's total was the most ever scored in a Big Ten regulation game but under the recognized league record of 56 by Indiana's Jimmy Rayl in an overtime game with Minnesota last year.

Terry Dischinger of Purdue had scored 52 points against Michigan State in a regulation length game two years ago.

Indiana won at the free throw line in handing Illinois its second straight conference loss after six successive victories. Illinois had 10 more field goals but only 14 of 19 free throws against Indiana's 37 of 48. Illinois lost three men on personal fouls.

Rayl, playing his last year for the Hoosiers, scored 29 points but Tom Bolyard topped the winners with 34.

The Falcon tankers won nine of the 11 events in doubling the score on the New Mexico visitors. Sophomore Ray Perkowski, from Allentown, Pa., paced the win with two victories in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events, but senior John Burwell engraved his name in the record book with a pool and school record in the 200-yard individual medley race on a time of 2:10.3.

The win gave AFA swimmers a 2-5 record on the season, while the rifle squad now stands at 7-2 this year. Purdue University of the Big Ten was also expected to join in the rifle match, but failed to show up.

Next weekend the swimmers travel to Texas Tech in Lubbock, and the rifle team hosts Oklahoma University at the AFA next Saturday.

Aguirre Wants To Prove Success Was No Freak

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The American League's stingiest pitcher, its earned run champion, has something to prove to himself.

Hank Aguirre reported to the Tigers' early camp five days before schedule Saturday with a haunting doubt.

"Was I a one-year flash in the pan?" Aguirre wondered. "Sure, it's bothering me. It might have been a lucky year or it might have been real.

"Who knows? We're going to find out. This is the first time I ever came here with a spot on the staff."

Aguirre enjoyed his only successful major league season last year at 30. His 2.21 ERA was the major league's best. And his 16 victories more than doubled his total accomplishment in seven previous major league seasons. He even had two base hits, his only hits in three years.

"I'm not satisfied because I got a big raise, I'm not in orbit because I had a good season," said the Detroit left-hander. "I'm not a star, I'm just a guy trying to win a job."

Elorde Scores Unanimous Decision Over Bizzarro

MANILA (AP)—Flash Elorde of the Philippines stood back, picked challenger Johnny Bizzarro to pieces Saturday night and retained his world junior lightweight title on a unanimous 15-round decision before 40,000 fans at outdoor Rizal Stadium.

There were no knockdowns, but the 28-year-old Elorde frequently rocked the 24-year-old challenger from Erie, Pa., and cut him about the left eye. Bizzarro's nose was bleeding, too.

Despite the sharp counter-punching of the elusive Filipino southpaw, Bizzarro pressed his attack throughout the fight and finished strong as Elorde coasted behind a big lead.

Elorde weighed the limit of 130, Bizzarro 129½.

The Filipino, making his fifth defense of the title he won from Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I., in 1960, won the fight 74-64 on the card of Referee Irineo Gallegos. He was ahead on the five-point must system, by 72-65 according to Judge Jugodino Lim, and 72-68 on the scoring of Judge Domingo Gaerlan.

Elorde used short rights to the midsection and sharp left hooks to the head to pile up his margin. The hooks did the most damage, but Bizzarro maintained his record of never having been knocked down or out.

"He's tough," Elorde said after the fight.

The Pennsylvania fighter, ranked No. 1 by the WBA and holder of the American version of the junior lightweight title, said he thought it was a good fight.

Bizzarro's adviser, Don Elbaum claimed that Elorde did not actually make the 130-pound weight. He said the scales were still going up when Elorde's weight was announced as 130, after seven weigh-in attempts.

Ohio State Tops Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Gary Bradds poured in 34 points and led Ohio State to a 75-68 comeback Big Ten basketball victory over Michigan before a record crowd of 9,775 fans Saturday afternoon.

Bradds also picked off 14 rebounds for the Buckeyes, as Michigan's scoring ace, Bill Buntin, was held to 21 points and 10 rebounds. Buntin had foul troubles, picking up four early.

Ohio State held a lead that stretched to eight points in the first half before the Wolverines moved into a 29-28 lead and went on to a 39-31 edge at the half.

Michigan held a seven-point lead in the second half, before three straight goals by Bradds cut the margin to 49-46. A jump shot by Dick Richelle put the Buckeyes ahead to stay.

Former Giant Pitcher Leads Golf Tourney

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UPI)—Former Giant pitcher Jim Hearn, the 1960 winner, shot a three-over-par 38-35—73 Saturday for a 223 total and a four-stroke lead going into the final round of the 23rd annual Baseball Players Golf Tournament.

Hearn, driving straight and long, took a four-shot lead over Giant Manager Alvin Dark, the defending champion; Los Angeles Angel outfielder Albie Pearson and Red Sox Coach Billy Herman.

Dark, four-time champion, shot a 78 as rain pelted the par 35-35—70 Miami Springs Golf Club course. Herman had a 75 and Pearson a 76 for their three-way tie at 227.

Augie Bergamo, former Cardinal infielder, shot a 75 for a 220 total which was the best in the tourney but, having been out of the major leagues more than five years, was not eligible for the ballplayers title.

Birdie Tebbetts of the Cleveland Indians, who started the third round at 161, quit after nine holes and Ernie Logan of the Pittsburgh Pirates finished his round rather ruefully.

Logan fell into a creek crossing the fairway while trying to play a shot on the 17th hole.

Jim Piersall of the Washington Senators, one of baseball's eccentrics, contributed to the dampened hilarity by remarking to Tebbetts:

"You should hope that the Cleveland newspaper strike had continued all season because it is the only chance you had to manage the club all by yourself."

Seven shots off the lead, after firing a 75, came Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson while second round leader Virgil Trucks skied to an 83 and 231.

Wynn Hawkins of the Mets shot a 78 for 233.

There were three tied at 234, including Bob Shaw of the Braves, and Bob Schmidt of the Senators, with 75s, and Jackie Brandt of the Orioles with an 80. Al Vincent of the Phillies had an 80 for 235 while Ralph Terry, winning pitcher for the New York Yankees in the final game of the World Series, carded an 81 for 236.

Piersall, the laughing boy of baseball, wound up with an 83 for 242.

Injured Pitcher Recovering

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—New York Yankee officials said Saturday that Marshall (Sheriff) Bridges, left-handed relief pitcher who was shot in the leg by a 21-year-old woman in an Elks Club bar last Wednesday night, will be able to leave the hospital in about 10 days.

Bridges will return to his home in Jackson, Miss., and stay there until he is ready to start pitching, the Yankees said.

He is expected to be out about a month in all, and should be ready for opening day if his left leg heals as well as is expected.

Bridges was shot in the leg below the knee with a .25 caliber pistol. Police have booked the woman on a charge of aggravated assault.

'Trotters Slated Here On March 6

The famed Harlem Globetrotters, kings of comedy in the basketball world, will be making their annual appearance here in Colorado Springs the evening of March 6, according to promoter Abe Marylander.

Providing the "straight-man" opposition for the Trotters will be the San Francisco "All Nations" team composed of players from countries around the world.

In addition, there will be at least a half dozen entertainment acts before the game and at halftime to make a night of lively watching.

Tickets will go on sale this Monday morning, Feb.18, at both Blick's Sporting Goods Store and Ring Military downtown. If there are any left, and that is doubtful since the Globetrotter have always been a sellout here, tickets will also be sold at the City Auditorium box office just before the game there.

The tickets will be sold for $1.50 general admission, and $2 and $3 for reserved seats near the playing floor.

It was also announced by Marylander that there will be no professional wrestling show this week at the City Auditorium. The following Thursday, however, the grapplers will be back again.

Frank Thomas of the Mets hit two home runs in one game on five occasions at the Polo Grounds last season. His major league total is 357 homers.

Broncos Extend Jack Faulkner's Contract Additional Two Years

DENVER (UPI)— The Denver Broncos announced Saturday the contract of Jack Faulkner, the American Football League's coach of the year last season, had been extended for an additional two years.

The new contract will run through the 1965 season. No salary was announced, but Faulkner, in addition to head coach, also will continue as general manager of the club.

Faulkner, 36, signed a two-year contract when he came to the Broncos last year. The Denver entry in the AFL last season, Faulkner's first season here, finished with a 7-7 record and was runnerup in the western division of the league.

The Broncos won seven of their first nine games before hitting an end-of-the-season slump.

Calvin W. Kunz Jr., Bronco president, said the team's improvement over the previous season had won the board of directors' confidence in Faulkner.

"We feel that Jack has done an outstanding job in building a football team, increasing fan interest and molding an image of the club which resulted in our attendance increasing 125 per cent in 1962," Kunz said.

"His earnestness, devotion, enthusiasm and dedication are such that he has devoted virtually all his waking hours for the past year to the Denver Broncos. His success also earned him national prominence and, although we are certain he could not be lured away from Denver for just any offer, we felt we wanted Jack Faulkner to stay with us and continue to build toward an AFL championship," Kunz said.

"By extending his contract we feel we have given him peace of mind as far as his job is concerned and certainly allows him to look to the future with optimism and security."

Faulkner, the youngest head coach in professional football, served 13 years under Sid Gillman.

"I am delighted and pleased with this new contract," Faulkner said. "It is an honor which I shall certainly continue to try and justify. It also means that my responsibility to Mr. Kunz and the board of directors of the Denver Broncos is even more increased.

"I shall always be grateful to Mr. Kunz for his confidence in hiring me last year, a young man who had no head coaching experience and his and the board's complete cooperation during the past year have contributed greatly to what success we have enjoyed," he said.

Mike Sangster Outgunned Scott in Indoor Tennis

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Sangster outgunned Eugene Scott of Northport, N.Y., in a battle of cannonball serves Saturday 6-4, 6-4, 15-17, 6-4 and became the first Englishman ever to enter the finals of the United States Indoor Tennis Championships.

Sangster will meet the winner of the match between two U.S. Davis Cuppers, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, for the title Sunday at the Seventh Regiment Armory. McKinley is defending champion.

Sangster and Scott served with such devastating power that the match turned into a dull artillery duel for the some 2,000 spectators.

In the 62 games, which required 3½ hours, there were only four service breaks—one in each set.

The balls came off the rackets with such blazing speed—probably exceeding 100 miles per hour—that the man on the other side of the net found it almost impossible to put them into play.

Aces were a dime a dozen—Sangster must have had at least 40 of them—and rallies were so rare that the crowd became restless and wandered away frequently to the refreshment stands.

Sangster lost only one point on service in the first set—this on a double fault—and only one point through the first five games of the second when he planked a volley into the net.

He won the first set with a break of Scott's service in the fifth game and the second with a break-through in the third. In these two sets Scott, 23-year-old University of Virginia law student, managed to deuce only two games on the Briton's service.

The lean American collegian, who upset an ailing Roy Emerson of Australia Friday night, got his first and only service break in the 32nd game of the third set. A couple of bad volleys and two neat passing shots by Scott did the trick.

The decisive breakthrough in the fourth set came in the seventh game. Scott almost rebroke, getting to advantage, but Sangster pulled out of trouble with a couple of real smokers which Scott couldn't handle.

Goldsmith Wins American Challenge Cup Auto Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) —Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, Mich. roared 145.161 miles an hour around a rain-slick track Saturday to win the $20,000 250-mile American Challenge Cup auto race.

A driving rain marred the race, for grand touring and classified cars, but there were no accidents.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, in a 1963 Sting Ray, ended two laps behind Goldsmith. Billy Krause Long Beach, Calif., who came in third, was on his 94th lap in a 1963 String Ray when Goldsmith finished his 100 laps.

Goldsmith won $6,500. Foyt raked in $2,400 and Krause took home $1,200.

Other finishers in the top 10, in order, were:

Fireball Roberts, Daytona Beach, in a Ferrari; David Piper, London, England, in a Ferrari; Tony Denman, Freemont, Ohio, a 1963 Corvette; Fritz Von Hanstein, Stuttgart, Germany, a 1963 Porsche; Jaokim Bonnier, Switzerland, a 1963 Porsche; Bill Bencker, Jacksonville, Fla., a 1963 Porsche; and Bob Holbert, Warrington, Pa., a Porsche-Abarth.

Veteran driver Marvin Panch of Daytona Beach, once considered the 'man to beat' in the challenge cup event, lay in his hospital bed a few miles away during the running.

Panch was seriously burned and suffered internal injuries in a spectacular practice accident Thursday. His doctors predict it will be May or June before he can drive again.

Ohio State Tops Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Gary Bradds poured in 34 points and led Ohio State to a 75-68 comeback Big Ten basketball victory over Michigan before a record crowd of 9,775 fans Saturday afternoon.

Bradds also picked off 14 rebounds for the Buckeyes, as Michigan's scoring ace, Bill Buntin, was held to 21 points and 10 rebounds. Buntin had foul troubles, picking up four early.

Ohio State held a lead that stretched to eight points in the first half before the Wolverines moved into a 25-28 lead and went on to a 39-31 edge at the half.

Michigan held a seven-point lead in the second half, before three straight goals by Bradds cut the margin to 49-48. A jump shot by Dick Ricketts put the Buckeyes ahead to stay.

Injured Pitcher Recovering

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—New York Yankee officials said Saturday that Marshall (Sheriff) Bridges, left-handed relief pitcher who was shot in the leg by a 21-year-old woman in an Elks Club bar last Wednesday night, will be able to leave the hospital in about 10 days.

Bridges will return to his home in Jackson, Miss., and stay there until he is ready to start pitching, the Yankees said.

He is expected to be out about a month in all, and should be ready for opening day if his left leg heals as well as is expected.

Bridges was shot in the leg below the knee with a .25 caliber pistol. Police have booked the woman on a charge of aggravated assault.

The first Colorado person ever invited to address the Irish National Game Council, Woodward will speak about the Colorado Game and Fish Department, explaining its organization, its work, research and management policies.

In approving Director Woodward's application for authorization to attend the meeting, the Colorado Game and Fish Commission called the invitation "an honor to Director Woodward, the Department and the State of Colorado" and added that it reflects great credit on Director Woodward and is an example of high regard with which he is held in international wildlife circles.

TV Effect On Epileptic Rare in US

Epileptic seizures provoked by the flicker of a television set are a rare occurrence in the United States, according to an editorial in the current Journal of the American Medical Association.

Intermittent light stimulation has been known to produce seizures since the time of the ancient Greeks, the editorial pointed out.

A series of 14 epileptic children with TV-induced seizures was reported recently in Britain, it said.

"A difference in the flicker frequency of the television picture in Great Britain, as compared with the television sets in the United States, may explain the rarity of television-produced convulsions in this country," the ditorial said. "An increased flicker frequency and a greater number of individual lines make up the television picture in America."

Close proximity to a TV screen is more likely to provoke a convulsion because a larger area of the retina, the membrane of the eye receiving the image, is stimulated and more sensory-nerve fibers are activated, the editorial said.

The outside edges of the retina, which are more sensitive to flicker perception, also are more likely to be affected, it said.

Tests have shown that closing the eyes also enhances the effect of the flicker, it said.

Susceptible children should be told to look away and keep their eyes open if the TV picture becomes faulty, the editorial advised. They should sit at least five feet from the screen, it said.

Phenobarbital, a sedative used in epilepsy, has been found to be effective in preventing TV-induced convulsions, the editorial added.

How to Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

(©) 1963: By the Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

THE ANNOYING COLD SORE

Most humans harbor the virus responsible for cold sores (herpes simplex) from infancy to old age. The organisms remain latent in the tissues between attacks and cause no trouble unless stimulated by physical or emotional factors. This situation exists even tho some people never develop these blisters and others are bothered many times a year.

Special blood tests show that most children have neutralizing antibodies against herpes by age 5. This means they were exposed and had a primary infection during infancy. Some persons are extremely susceptible thereafter and have recurrences many times a year. Others are bothered so little they cannot recall the last time they had fever blisters.

The manifestations of the condition are well known. Small, thin - walled blisters develop on the face, lips, nostrils, or certain pelvic structures. There is mild itching or burning at first and the blisters usually break and are covered with crusts or scabs. The whole process may take 3 to 14 days. As a rule, the lesions tend to recur over the same areas.

Fever is the most frequent stimulus, which explains why they are called fever blisters or cold sores. For most victims they only add to the distress of an infection or cold—an extra unwanted dividend. Other precipitating factors include emotional disorders, menstruation, physical fatigue, sunburn and food allergy.

The lesions disappear spontaneously within 3 to 14 days. Dryness is essential. Plain alcohol, spirits of camphor, and tincture of benzion are but a few of the drying agents recommended. The lesions should not be subjected to prolonged soaking in water nor should they be covered with a dressing. Children ought to be warned not to lick the lesions on the lips. Antibiotics are not recommended.

The prevention of recurrences is a real problem. Repeated vaccination with ordinary smallpox vaccine has been recommended. The victim is advised to try to minimize trigger factors such as sunlight and local injuries. The lesions also are associated with respiratory infections and emotional upsets, which are difficult to avoid.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Retains Baby Teeth

Mrs. B. E. writes: Our 6-year-old son never has shed a baby tooth. Now the permanent teeth are coming up behind them. Should the first teeth be extracted by a dentist to allow room for the permanent set?

Reply

Baby teeth seldom are shed before age 6. The permanent molars often erupt before the temporary set falls out. Discuss this with your dentist for first hand advice.

Bile Pigment

J. J. S. writes: What does the Billy Rubin test tell about the liver?

Reply

The bilirubin test is not named after William or Bill. It determines how the liver is functioning. Bilirubin is a bile pigment that is excreted by the liver (in bile) and small amounts are noted also in the blood.

Warm Or Cold Food

C. S. writes: Is the temperature of the food eaten important from the standpoint of health?

Reply

No, provided we exclude extremes. Foods and liquids hot enough to irritate or burn the skin may damage the membranes of the throat, gullet, or stomach.

Causes Galore

L. M. writes: I hear there are numerous causes of chest pain. How many would you say?

Reply

At least 50, ranging from heart disease to faulty posture.

A real "Broadway" evening, junior — style, is being planned by many families in connection with the opera, "Bastien and Bastienna" which will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursday Feb. 28 and Friday, March 1 at the Fine Arts Center.

Dining out, followed by a visit to the theatre will make the event a novel evening for many youngsters and their parents. Since it will be "youngster's choice" in many homes early indications will be heavily favored over the local equivalents of The Stork Club or Romanoff's!

The early hour of 7:30 p.m. was selected for the opera so that it could be enjoyed by both chidlren and adults.

The opera is being resented by the children's choirs of Grace Episcopal Church and affiliated chapels under the direction of Dr. J. Julius Baird, and the cast includes more than 40 children in both vocal and dance numbers.

World Day of Prayer to Be Observed on March 1

Prayer will be the invisible space ship which will orbit the world on Friday, March 1, the 77th World Day of Prayer, in which women of Colorado Springs will join with hundreds of thousands in service around the world. Early on the morning of March 1st, a prayer service in the Tonga Islands will open this world-wide observance and services will progress across the International Dateline and close in the St. Lawrence Islands off the coast of Alaska that night.

The local observance will be held at the First Baptist Church, Weber at Kiowa St., beginning at 10:30 a.m. Mrs. John H. Skeen, president of the United Church Women, Pikes peak Council of Churches, cordially invites all interested persons to attend. She states, "The service is open to all who wish to be a part of this world-wide prayer fellowship."

The program will be highlighted by two outstanding speakers, Mr. Chang, whose subject will be "Flight from Communist Tyranny to Freedom" and Mrs. George Roseberry of Denver, who will speak on "The East Rim of Asia." Special music and a "Service of Prayer and Giving" prepared by Christian women of Korea will be the additional features arranged by Mrs. Lawrence Brown, chairman of the local World Day of Prayer, and her committee.

At noon there will be a sacrificial lunch, each woman to bring her own sandwich or fruit with coffee and tea to be provided by the ladies of the First Baptist Church.

"More Than Conquerors", from Romans 8:37, is the theme of the 1963 service. For many of the Christian people around the world who will participate in the World Day of Prayer, these words are more than mere words, for as with the women of Korea, who wrote the service, they have seen tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, peril and war. The unnamed women from that country who fashioned the words of the service from the comforting assurances in the Bible, both Old and New Testament, had in mind the tensions of these days in the world, with people perplexed and suffering in many areas, homes and countries.

"The World Day of Prayer service is not just a program. It is planned as an active experience of prayer, to give a sense of unity with the world-wide Church, and a response to this in informed giving," according to Mrs. Robert A. Burghart, chairman of Christian World Missions for the United Church Women.

The offering, a dedication of gifts and money to assist the work of those giving time and talent in many fields of service, is a vital part of every obervance necessary to help put into tangible form response to those concerns for which prayers are offered.

The gifts will be channeled thru the Division of Home Missions and the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches. They will help support 12 women's colleges in Africa, India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong and Taiwan.

They will provide attractive Christian literature for women and children in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

They will make possible a friendly reception and hospitality for the 60,000 students who come to this country annually from overseas.

They will help the migrant ministry to provide recreational centers, vocational and homemaking schools, day care centers, and programs for reponsible citizenship. They will help in the work with Indian Americans moving into industrial areas.

Mrs. Skeen says:

"The Christian women of the world are convinced that prayer has results as spectacular as the results of astronauts orbiting the earth, but they aren't blazoned in headlines around the world. The evidence piles up in the records of the lives of people who have been blessed and helped in the 76 years since the first small group of women met to pray for missions and give an offering for mission work.

"On March 1 the United States will be one of 150 areas in six continents in the world where some group will be gathering at some time during the entire 24 hours, to girdle the world with prayers. By this act they reaffirm their faith that through the love of Jesus Christ they are 'more than conquerors.' ".

World Day of Prayer to Be Observed on March 1

Prayer will be the invisible space ship which will orbit the world on Friday, March 1, the 77th World Day of Prayer, in which women of Colorado Springs will join with hundreds of thousands in service around the world. Early on the morning of March 1st, a prayer service in the Tonga Islands will open this world-wide observance and services will progress across the International Dateline and close in the St. Lawrence Islands off the coast of Alaska that night.

The local observance will be held at the First Baptist Church, Weber at Kiowa St., beginning at 10:30 a.m. Mrs. John H. Skeen, president of the United Church Women, Pikes peak Council of Churches, cordially invites all interested persons to attend. She states, "The service is open to all who wish to be a part of this world-wide prayer fellowship."

The program will be highlighted by two outstanding speakers, Mr. Chang, whose subject will be "Flight from Communist Tyranny to Freedom" and Mrs. George Roseberry of Denver, who will speak on "The East Rim of Asia." Special music and a "Service of Prayer and Giving" prepared by Christian women of Korea will be the additional features arranged by Mrs. Lawrence Brown, chairman of the local World Day of Prayer, and her committee.

At noon there will be a sacrificial lunch, each woman to bring her own sandwich or fruit with coffee and tea to be provided by the ladies of the First Baptist Church.

"More Than Conquerors", from Romans 8:37, is the theme of the 1963 service. For many of the Christian people around the world who will participate in the World Day of Prayer, these words are more than mere words, for as with the women of Korea, who wrote the service, they have seen tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, peril and war. The unnamed women from that country who fashioned the words of the service from the comforting assurances in the Bible, both Old and New Testament, had in mind the tensions of these days in the world, with people perplexed and suffering in many areas, homes and countries.

"The World Day of Prayer service is not just a program. It is planned as an active experience of prayer, to give a sense of unity with the world-wide Church, and a response to this in informed giving," according to Mrs. Robert A. Burghart, chairman of Christian World Missions for the United Church Women.

The offering, a dedication of gifts and money to assist the work of those giving time and talent in many fields of service, is a vital part of every obervance necessary to help put into tangible form response to those concerns for which prayers are offered.

The gifts will be channeled thru the Division of Home Missions and the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches. They will help support 12 women's colleges in Africa, India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong and Taiwan.

They will provide attractive Christian literature for women and children in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

They will make possible a friendly reception and hospitality for the 60,000 students who come to this country annually from overseas.

They will help the migrant ministry to provide recreational centers, vocational and homemaking schools, day care centers, and programs for reponsible citizenship. They will help in the work with Indian Americans moving into industrial areas.

Mrs. Skeen says:

"The Christian women of the world are convinced that prayer has results as spectacular as the results of astronauts orbiting the earth, but they aren't blazoned in headlines around the world. The evidence piles up in the records of the lives of people who have been blessed and helped in the 76 years since the first small group of women met to pray for missions and give an offering for mission work.

"On March 1 the United States will be one of 150 areas in six continents in the world where some group will be gathering at some time during the entire 24 hours, to girdle the world with prayers. By this act they reaffirm their faith that through the love of Jesus Christ they are 'more than conquerors.' ".

TO WED NEXT SUMMER—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wesley Slagle of 319 N. Logan Ave., announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Beverly, to Frank James Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Aldon Ward, of Denver. Both young people attended Colorado State University, where her sorority was Pi Beta Phi and his fraternity Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The wedding will take place in June at the First Presbyterian Church. Small Rooms Cause Problems

NEW YORK (UPI) — Smaller room sizes are making it increasingly difficult to get proper proportion in interior decorating schemes, according to a New York interior designer.

—Bring the eye down and keep it there. This means low scale—low-backed chairs, low tables, low everything.

Small Rooms Cause Problems

NEW YORK (UPI) — Smaller room sizes are making it increasingly difficult to get proper proportion in interior decorating schemes, according to a New York interior designer.

—Bring the eye down and keep it there. This means low scale—low-backed chairs, low tables, low everything.

—Sculptured works and other art objects should be delicate and unobtrusive.

—Use area rugs to focus the eye on a small area, while still leaving a good deal of floor space showing.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Tit for Tat!

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who has a story like a thousand other women. I am married, have two children and am keeping my home together for the sake of the children. My husband stays out until all hours of the night and sometimes he doesn't come home at all. I have known for years that he has somebody else. Well, now I have somebody else, too. I want to bring it out in the open so he will confess and then I will do the same. I have thought of the children and decided they would be better off with one of us than living in a loveless home like this. If I am wrong, tell me. — FRIGHTENED

DEAR FRIGHTENED: You are wrong. Do you remember how you and your husband felt about each other when you were first married? What happened to that love? There is no lasting satisfaction in the "someone else" kind of diversion. If you and your husband combined all the energy you spend on out-side romance, yours could be a sometimes-satisfying and always-solid marriage. Hie thee to a marriage counselor. Children belong in a home with "both" parents — and plenty of love.

DEAR ABBY: Why do some women act so awful to their husbands? My Daddy has a real bad hearing loss and Mother just has a fit when he mentions getting a hearing aid. She buys anything she needs or wants. —A DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Tell your Daddy to pretend he doesn't hear your Mother, "having a fit" when she objects to his getting a hearing aid. Your Mother's handicap is more serious than Daddy's. No feelings.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is almost 16 and she is giving me a big heartache. She has always been a very good athlete. As far back as I can remember she has played with the boys. Baseball and football were her fun. She never played with dolls or cared for girls. The boys come around and she wrestles, boxes and roughhouses with them. Then they tell her their troubles about liking other girls. No one ever asks her for a date. She would like to date, and I have bought her lovely feminine clothes, but no one asks her. What can I do? —A MOTHER'S HEARTACHE

DEAR MOTHER: Tell your daughter that a girl who wrestles and boxes with the boys becomes "one of the boys" . . . and forfeits her femininity. She should start now to build a feminine image, acquire a few girl friends and leave the roughhousing to the fellows.

This Leer's For Languages

Miss Leer is taking her fifth year of Latin and her fourth of Spanish. She will begin French next summer at Washington University here. Russian will be tackled during her sophomore year at Maryville. She will continue her Spanish studies at the University of Mexico in the summer before her junior year.

Miss Leer decided on a UN career this year when she was sent as a delegate to a conference of the Catholic Association for International Peace in New York.

"A translator working free lance or for a private firm may be able to earn more money than a United Nations translator, but the rewards are not as great," she said.

"It is in the latter position that one can really get the full impact of human affairs."

Miss Leer says that from newspapers "we can get the facts about the world, but not the human reactions to them."

"It is this I seek," she said, "and it comes only from people themselves. Through the United Nations I think I will find them."

CANINE CHOLESTEROL

Dogs and cats now can "get into the act" and join diet-conscious humans. Polyunsaturated food now is available for animals, so that canines won't complain about leading "a dog's life."

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ◇

In today's hand, refusal by declarer to win the first trick was an absolute essential to success.

The bidding was of a straightforward manner and, against the four spade contract, West opened the jack of diamonds. The jack of hearts would have been a more effective lead but there was no way for West to tell this from the bidding. South played the queen of diamonds from dummy, East covered and without deliberation declarer took the trick with the ace. A little reflection by South before playing to the trick might have made it clear that such action placed him in a dangerous position, for he was now subjected to the possible loss of three hearts and a diamond if clubs failed to break.

After trumps were drawn, declarer tried the clubs, but West showed out on the third round and no discard was available. There was no effective way to saddle East with the lead and, when the ace of hearts was found to be unfavorably located, the contract went on the rocks.

Refusal to win the first trick would render it impossible for West to obtain the lead by means of a diamond. With West out of the lead the king of hearts would not be subject to immediate attack, and declarer might be able to project an end play against East.

Upon winning the diamond return, declarer extracts trumps and then tries to run the clubs. When they fail to break, East, who is known to have the 13th club, is given the trick, South discarding a heart. As far as this trick alone is concerned, declarer merely breaks even, but the profit results from the fact that East and not West now has the lead. If he leads a diamond, declarer sheds another heart as he ruffs in dummy; and if East leads a heart, dummy's king becomes estalsihed for the 10th trick.

Fats of Land Don't Eat Well

NEW YORK (UPI)—The man who szes up his girth and says "my wife feeds me too well" is in for a surprise.

Obesity Clinics operated by New York City's Health Department have found that poor cooking can lead to overweight, and good cooking maintains the proper weight level.

When the basic meals do not satisfy the natural desire for eating pleasure, the tendency is to consume highly caloric sweet treats, the Department said.

The clinics consider good food preparation so important to proper weight control that they train mothers of obese children to become better cooks.

The trick, if there is one to weight control, is to cook delicious food that gives complete flavor satisfaction with every meal and still keep away from every unnecessary calorie.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear, dear Heloise:

I have an extra large oversized sofa. It must be slipcovered immediately.

I have looked all over town for material over 108 inches wide.

Question! I do "not" want seams. Now what am I to do? You have the brains and the answer, too, I hope! —Desperate

Don't despair. You have the same problem millions of other women have.

I do not know of any place that you can buy material 108 inches wide. But I think I have the solution for you.

Why don't you look around, and watch the ads in the paper for some bedspreads on sale!

Bedspreads are usually made out of heavier material. Some are even wider than the inches you are looking for, and have "no" seams.

I also find that they are heavier then lots of slip cover materials. Heavier materials not only suffice for better wear but . . . will keep the soil on the slipcover itself instead of going through to your beautiful upholstery. I find it most satisfactory.

Some bedspreads are washable —be sure, if you intend to wash your slipcovers, that you check on this—and that it has a shrinkage guarantee. If it does not, I suggest that you wash the bedspread "before" making your slipcovers.

I hope this helps you. You have come up with a question which I have often wondered about — why manufacturers of piece goods have not solved it before. I think you are great! —Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I had trouble with my own children and friends' children wanting to write on the walls of our play room.

To remedy this my husband took the sides of large cardboard cartons and tacked them along one wall and the problem was solved!

When the cardboard was covered with scribbling we turned it over, and when that side was filled we got another piece of cardboard.

Another trick might be to tack large pieces of shelf paper or old wallpaper to the walls with the cardboard underneath it in case the children get a hold of an ink pen. —Gale

Dear Heloise:

Here is the best method I have found to clean artificial flowers. Put ordinary table salt in a paper bag (about two tablespoons for two or three small sprays) and close the paper bag. Shake vigorously. The flowers will come out clean. For large sprays use a large bag and more salt. —Mrs. Antonette Polise

Dear Heloise:

Instead of pressing garments, I brush them well and hang them in the bathroom while letting the hot water run in the shower. In other words, I steam them.

I always let the garment hang in the room for a day before putting back in the closet. This eliminates pressing which is hard on clothes. —Alma Martinez

Dear Heloise:

When making peanut butter and jelly sandwiches I put the peanut butter on "one" slice of the bread and jelly on the "other" and then put them together. It's so much easier.

I have a four-sided grater. I have found that I have less cheese or onion "scattered" if I lay the grater down, place aluminum foil inside the grater and fold it up on both sides. I then use a firm long stroke to grate the cheese or onion. Remove the foil and the food is all in one place! Take the foil tube and pour it into your bowl or pan. —Shirley

Lean Dip

Dips for dieters have a cottage cheese base. Serve these two with raw carrot and celery sticks.

Whirl 1 pint of cottage cheese with ½ cup of tomato sauce in electric blender or put through sieve. Stir in 3 tablespoons of mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons of prepared horseradish, 2 drops of red pepper sauce and ½ cup of finely chopped green onions and tops.

Or add to the cheese-tomato puree 1 (7½ ounce) can of minced clams, drained, 1 tablespoon of horseradish and 1 teaspoon of soy sauce. Refrigerate either sauce 1 hour or more before serving.

Store bulky petticoats or crinolines by rolling them up and stuffing into an old stocking with the foot cut off. Stocking covers keep petticoats fresh and easier to pack for traveling.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Tit for Tat!

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who has a story like a thousand other women. I am married, have two children and am keeping my home together for the sake of the children. My husband stays out until all hours of the night and sometimes he doesn't come home at all. I have known for years that he has somebody else. Well, now I have somebody else, too. I want to bring it out in the open so he will confess and then I will do the same. I have thought of the children and decided they would be better off with one of us than living in a loveless home like this. If I am wrong, tell me. — FRIGHTENED

DEAR FRIGHTENED: You are wrong. Do you remember how you and your husband felt about each other when you were first married? What happened to that love? There is no lasting satisfaction in the "someone else" kind of diversion. If you and your husband combined all the energy you spend on out-side romance, yours could be a sometimes-satisfying and always-solid marriage. Hie thee to a marriage counselor. Children belong in a home with "both" parents — and plenty of love.

DEAR ABBY: Why do some women act so awful to their husbands? My Daddy has a real bad hearing loss and Mother just has a fit when he mentions getting a hearing aid. She buys anything she needs or wants. —A DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Tell your Daddy to pretend he doesn't hear your Mother "having a fit" when she objects to his getting a hearing aid. Your Mother's handicap is more serious than Daddy's. No feelings.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is almost 16 and she is giving me a big heartache. She has always been a very good athlete. As far back as I can remember she has played with the boys. Baseball and football were her fun. She never played with dolls or cared for girls. The boys come around and she wrestles, boxes and roughhouses with them. Then they tell her their troubles about liking other girls. No one ever asks her for a date. She would like to date, and I have bought her lovely feminine clothes, but no one asks her. What can I do? —A MOTHER'S HEARTACHE

DEAR MOTHER: Tell your daughter that a girl who wrestles and boxes with the boys becomes "one of the boys" . . . and forfeits her femininity. She should start now to build a feminine image, acquire a few girl friends and leave the roughhousing to the fellows.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ◇

In today's hand, refusal by declarer to win the first trick was an absolute essential to success.

The bidding was of a straightforward manner and, against the four spade contract, West opened the jack of diamonds. The jack of hearts would have been a more effective lead but there was no way for West to tell this from the bidding. South played the queen of diamonds from dummy, East covered and without deliberation declarer took the trick with the ace. A little reflection by South before playing to the trick might have made it clear that such action placed him in a dangerous position, for he was now subjected to the possible loss of three hearts and a diamond if clubs failed to break.

After trumps were drawn, declarer tried the clubs, but West showed out on the third round and no discard was available. There was no effective way to saddle East with the lead and, when the ace of hearts was found to be unfavorably located, the contract went on the rocks.

Refusal to win the first trick would render it impossible for West to obtain the lead by means of a diamond. With West out of the lead the king of hearts would not be subject to immediate attack, and declarer might be able to project an end play against East.

Upon winning the diamond return, declarer extracts trumps and then tries to run the clubs. When they fail to break, East, who is known to have the 13th club, is given the trick, South discarding a heart. As far as this trick alone is concerned, declarer merely breaks even, but the profit results from the fact that East and not West now has the lead. If he leads a diamond, declarer sheds another heart as he ruffs in dummy; and if East leads a heart, dummy's king becomes estalsihed for the 10th trick.

This Leer's For Languages

Miss Leer is taking her fifth year of Latin and her fourth of Spanish. She will begin French next summer at Washington University here. Russian will be tackled during her sophomore year at Maryville. She will continue her Spanish studies at the University of Mexico in the summer before her junior year.

Miss Leer decided on a UN career this year when she was sent as a delegate to a conference of the Catholic Association for International Peace in New York.

"A translator working free lance or for a private firm may be able to earn more money than a United Nations translator, but the rewards are not as great," she said.

"It is in the latter position that one can really get the full impact of human affairs."

Miss Leer says that from newspapers "we can get the facts about the world, but not the human reactions to them."

"It is this I seek," she said, "and it comes only from people themselves. Through the United Nations I think I will find them."

ALL ON A WINTER DAY

Many seasons can be represented in one day in Colorado and we have such days at any season of the year. On a January or February day, the sun can be warm and spring-like, the air soft and balmy with zephyr breezes, such as we have been experiencing the last few days. There may be gray color on the hillsides and there may be snow scenes in other places with warm sunshine in all places. A winter morning bids fair, with the great sun coming up bright in the eastern sky which was all rosy and pink. The mountain peaks caught the early morning rays and they became tinted with rosy hues. What a day it is going to be for living to enjoy everything in the outdoors! For hiking, or all kinds of outdoors sports. In higher country, fine for skiing. Could it be April, driving winter away with blue sky and bright warm sunshine and mountains all smiling and bright. Colorado differs from winter in other places?

Yes, we do have cold weather as we experienced a few days ago but never of long duration. When we go back to the middle states or further east we find winter in all its fury and it keeps up. Everybody is glad to get back to Colorado after being to other parts of the country. The glorious sunshine is what makes Colorado famous. If it should be cloudy part of the day, the sun is bound to peep out the rest of the day. The sun is obviously the fundamental control of climate, yet latitude plays an important part in mountain ranges especially high and extended are effective climate barriers. The influence of the Rocky Mountains is seen in the local effect upon rain and snowfall, acting as a barrier against spreading cold waves and in warming bodies of air as they descend the mountain slopes thus giving us the soft, balmy winds known as chinook winds.

There is a general agreement among physicians that a good climate has frequent moderate weather changes, fairly marked annual and diurnal variations of temperature, reasonable amount of cloudiness, plenty of sunshine and sufficient rainfall to provide enough moisture for growth of vegetation and physical wellfare of the inhabitants. Such a climate is an intermediate one, neither invariably hot or permanently cold. It is neither monotonously arid nor dull and cloudy. It is a climate which encourages people to spend the maximum possible time out of doors.

Have you noticed that in our region people seek the outdoors, either horseback riding, hiking in mountains or walking thru parks and golf? It is true, we never know what to expect in Colorado Weather. When we begin to think that winter has set in for good, it may in 24 hours change to a spring day. Ordinarily winter comes to rule with snow, cold waves and storms of all kind. It reigns in a tremendous way in different parts of our country and other countries bringing distress, suffering, death and great losses. Such as we have been having in all parts of the world this winter. Already days are longer with more sunshine and the season of spring is coming closer. A winter day has come to a close giving a great variety of weather. The sun drops behind the mountain, leaving a gorgeous sunset. Colorado offers us so much in one single day.

CHANGE OF COMMANDERS—Col. Richard T. Cassidy (left), commander of the Hampton Roads of the Army Air Defense Command at Norfolk, Va., will succeed Col. Kenneth L. Colonel Cassidy has been nominated for promotion to brigadier general. Colonel Yarnall, whose new assignment has not been announced, was chief of the Programs and Organization Division of G-3 and subsequently deputy G-3, while serving at the headquarters from 1955 to 1958.

Dog Rescue Earns Verbal Bouquet For Airman

Air policemen at the Air Force Academy perform a multiplicity of duties. A recent assignment undertaken by A1C Marvin L. Brooks was strictly out of the ordinary but it earned a large sized "bouquet" for both the airman and the Academy A.P. force.

While on patrol Tuesday morning about 8:30, Brooks was flagged down by Mrs. Donald Smith near her Pine Valley quarters. Mrs. Smith told the air policeman two youngsters, Mary Kay and Tony Krauska, had heard a dog whimpering in a nearby drain pipe.

Upon investigation, the foursome discovered a very woeful puppy with his nose jammed against the pipe grating. Only the pup's nose and front paws were visible.

Brooks began a "rescue operation" which stretched over an hour. The grating was frozen solid and resisted initial efforts with a tire tool and a crow bar. Brooks made a trip to the Pine Vallery Fire Station for hot water and with the assistance of S. Sgt. R. Hoheisel again went to work in the recalcitrant lid.

Efforts finally successful, and Brooks hoisted a very happy Golden Retriever named Laska from the pipe. Property of Capt. L. V. Sovinsky, the valuable seven-months old pup was apparently unharmed from the ordeal.

Capt. Sovinsky reported the dog had apparently been in the pipe since Friday morning. The dog often played near the entrance to a culvert located on the opposite side of the road from the pipe in which he was found and had apparently crawled into the culvert and then unable or afraid to turn around had made his way to the upright pipe where he was found.

Mrs. Smith in praising the young airman for his effort said "It's wonderful. If he would go to such efforts for a dog, just think what he would do for a youngster or adult in need of help."

The Academy Air Police have firm boosters in the Smiths, the Sovinskys, and Laska!

Dog Rescue Earns Verbal Bouquet For Airman

Try a GT Classified Ad—632-4641

Air policemen at the Air Force Academy perform a multiplicity of duties. A recent assignment undertaken by A1C Marvin L. Brooks was strictly out of the ordinary but it earned a large sized "bouquet" for both the airman and the Academy A.P. force.

While on patrol Tuesday morning about 8:30, Brooks was flagged down by Mrs. Donald Smith near her Pine Valley quarters. Mrs. Smith told the air policeman two youngsters, Mary Kay and Tony Krauska, had heard a dog whimpering in a nearby drain pipe.

Upon investigation, the foursome discovered a very woeful puppy with his nose jammed against the pipe grating. Only the pup's nose and front paws were visible.

Brooks began a "rescue operation" which stretched over an hour. The grating was frozen solid and resisted initial efforts with a tire tool and a crow bar. Brooks made a trip to the Pine Vallery Fire Station for hot water and with the assistance of S. Sgt. R. Hoheisel again went to work in the recalcitrant lid.

Efforts finally successful, and Brooks hoisted a very happy Golden Retriever named Laska from the pipe. Property of Capt. L. V. Sovinsky, the valuable seven-months old pup was apparently unharmed from the ordeal.

Capt. Sovinsky reported the dog had apparently been in the pipe since Friday morning. The dog often played near the entrance to a culvert located on the opposite side of the road from the pipe in which he was found and had apparently crawled into the culvert and then unable or afraid to turn around had made his way to the upright pipe where he was found.

Mrs. Smith in praising the young airman for his effort said "It's wonderful. If he would go to such efforts for a dog, just think what he would do for a youngster or adult in need of help."

The Academy Air Police have firm boosters in the Smiths, the Sovinskys, and Laska!

Stock Market Advances To New Recovery High

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market last week coped with some profit-taking and then resumed its advance, making a new recovery high.

Rallies by steels and rails featured the week's trading. Most motors shied away from recent highs but Chrysler displayed a new outburst of strength.

The latest gain in weekly steel production put it at the highest level since last April. Meanwhile, most steel companies described incoming business as the best in 11 months. Steel shares responded to this and rails went along with them, topping their 1961 highs in the Dow average and flashing a theoretical signal for further advance, according to analysts.

All the week's news was not good, however. American Telephone disappointed Wall Street by declaring its regular dividend instead of raising it. Despite a decline in AT&T, the stock list that day scored its second biggest advance of 1963.

On Friday, too, the market had to absorb the bad news of a dividend cut by Kennecott which sank sharply along with most other major copper producers. It was characteristic of this year's market that instead of being panicked by news that the nation's biggest producer had pared its dividend, the list actually made an irregular advance.

Volume this week rose to 22,608,490 shares from 20,210,540 the prior week, and was the largest since the week ended Jan. 26 when 23,313,478 shares changed hands.

As the week ended, the market had made up the worst of the sharp drop of 1962 and stood at the levels of late March last year, just before stocks began to slip below support levels and go into the tail-spin which was climaxed by "Black Monday," May 28. Because of the market's accomplishment, there was underlying confidence in the opinions of most market analysts, although a few had their fingers crossed.

The irregularity typical of February has been apparent thus far this month. Industrials began the week with a sharp decline on Monday.

Tuesday was Lincoln's birthday and semi-holiday conditions prevailed. New York banks were closed. Stocks were mixed, although Chrysler surged ahead 4½ in heavy trading.

On Wednesday came the week's biggest rise, more than wiping out earlier losses. Stocks continued to move upward on Thursday when volume swelled to 5.64 million shares, the greatest of 1963. Friday brought a lessening of transactions and the Kennecott dividend cut.

Chrysler was the volume pace maker and up 5 points. U.S. Steel, the top steelmaker, rose 3⅛. Pennsylvania Railroad, the biggest rail carrier, rose 1⅝.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Open House Next Saturday At Central Colorado Bank

Central Colorado Bank, 2339 E. Platte Ave., will show off its new addition at an open house for the public between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. next Saturday.

The bank is not ordinarily open for business on Saturday, and no business will be transacted during the open house.

Completion of the addition marks the 10th anniversary of the bank, which opened for business in January, 1953. In the 10-year period, the bank's resources have grown from $1,845,401.02 in 1953 to $10,748,723.70.

Ground was broken Oct. 10, 1962, for the addition, which will house the mortgage and loan and installment loan departments as well as three drive - in windows. The bank previously had only one drive - in window.

The drive - in windows are on the west side of the building, along which are dual - lane entrances so that if there is a delay, cars may by - pass a busy window to get to one that is available.

The addition adds nearly 5,000 square feet of space, making possible increasing the size of the lobby thru rearranging of facilities. Bookkeeping is being transferred to the basement of the addition.

The $150,000 improvement consists of pressed steel, concrete and brick, with steel joints and a concrete slab roof. The exterior conforms to that of the original building.

The addition has an entrance on the south, and there is a large parking area between the south entrance and Bijou Street. Parking areas also are available on the north and west sides of the bank building.

The floor in the lower level of the addition is covered with vinyl plastic tile while the ground floor area is carpeted. Recessed lighting of high level intensity has been installed, and a fire - proof vault constructed in the basement.

The property is owned by Cenco Inc., of which Caywood B. Lindsey is owner. A new lease covering the new facilities has made for 10 years and contains an option for the bank to buy the property.

At the annual stockholders meeting, held Tuesday, Jan. 8, stockholders received a 50 per cent cash dividend. In addition, the bank increased its capital to $330,000 from $220,000.

Officers of the bank are: Winford Griffin, chairman of the board and president; Kenneth Heizer, first vice president and cashier; Robert I. Skinner, executive vice president; Caywood Lindsey, vice president. Directors are Rush Appleman, rancher; Kenneth Brookhart, Brookhart Lumber Co.; Lewis M. Poe, Colorado Interstate Gas Co.; Howard E. Reader, Southern Colorado Power Co., and John B. Shearer, Shearer Hardware Co.

Stock Market Advances To New Recovery High

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market last week coped with some profit-taking and then resumed its advance, making a new recovery high.

Rallies by steels and rails featured the week's trading. Most motors shied away from recent highs but Chrysler displayed a new outburst of strength.

It was the ninth straight weekly rise by The Associated Press average which, even during the prior week's irregularity, posted a slight gain due to advances by selected blue chips.

The AP average of 60 stocks this week rose 2.5 to 259.7.

The latest gain in weekly steel production put it at the highest level since last April. Meanwhile, most steel companies described incoming business as the best in 11 months. Steel shares responded to this and rails went along with them, topping their 1961 highs in the Dow average and flashing a theoretical signal for further advance, according to analysts.

All the week's news was not good, however. American Telephone disappointed Wall Street by declaring its regular dividend instead of raising it. Despite a decline in AT&T, the stock list that day scored its second biggest advance of 1963.

On Friday, too, the market had to absorb the bad news of a dividend cut by Kennecott which sank sharply along with most other major copper producers. It was characteristic of this year's market that instead of being panicked by news that the nation's biggest producer had pared its dividend, the list actually made an irregular advance.

Volume this week rose to 22,608,490 shares from 20,210,540 the prior week, and was the largest since the week ended Jan. 26 when 23,313,478 shares changed hands.

As the week ended, the market had made up the worst of the sharp drop of 1962 and stood at the levels of late March last year, just before stocks began to slip below support levels and go into the tail-spin which was climaxed by "Black Monday," May 28. Because of the market's accomplishment, there was underlying confidence in the opinions of most market analysts, although a few had their fingers crossed.

The irregularity typical of February has been apparent thus far this month. Industrials began the week with a sharp decline on Monday.

Tuesday was Lincoln's birthday and semi-holiday conditions prevailed. New York banks were closed. Stocks were mixed, although Chrysler surged ahead 4⅛ in heavy trading.

On Wednesday came the week's biggest rise, more than wiping out earlier losses. Stocks continued to move upward on Thursday when volume swelled to 5.64 million shares, the greatest of 1963. Friday brought a lessening of transactions and the Kennecott dividend cut.

Chrysler was the volume pace maker and up 5 points. U.S. Steel, the top steelmaker, rose 3⅛. Pennsylvania Railroad, the biggest rail carrier, rose 1⅝.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Open House Next Saturday At Central Colorado Bank

Central Colorado Bank, 2339 E. Platte Ave., will show off its new addition at an open house for the public between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. next Saturday.

The bank is not ordinarily open for business on Saturday, and no business will be transacted during the open house.

Completion of the addition marks the 10th anniversary of the bank, which opened for business in January, 1953. In the 10-year period, the bank's resources have grown from $1,845,401.02 in 1953 to $10,748,723.70.

Ground was broken Oct. 10, 1962, for the addition, which will house the mortgage and loan and installment loan departments as well as three drive - in windows. The bank previously had only one drive - in window.

The drive - in windows are on the west side of the building, along which are dual - lane entrances so that if there is a delay, cars may by - pass a busy window to get to one that is available.

The addition adds nearly 5,000 square feet of space, making possible increasing the size of the lobby thru rearranging of facilities. Bookkeeping is being transferred to the basement of the addition.

The $150,000 improvement consists of pressed steel, concrete and brick, with steel joints and a concrete slab roof. The exterior conforms to that of the original building.

The addition has an entrance on the south, and there is a large parking area between the south entrance and Bijou Street. Parking areas also are available on the north and west sides of the bank building.

The floor in the lower level of the addition is covered with vinyl plastic tile while the ground floor area is carpeted. Recessed lighting of high level intensity has been installed, and a fire - proof vault constructed in the basement.

The remodeled building is completely air - conditioned.

The property is owned by Cenco Inc., of which Caywood B. Lindsey is owner. A new lease covering the new facilities has made for 10 years and contains an option for the bank to buy the property.

At the annual stockholders meeting, held Tuesday, Jan. 8, stockholders received a 50 per cent cash dividend. In addition, the bank increased its capital to $330,000 from $220,000.

Officers of the bank are: Winford Griffin, chairman of the board and president; Kenneth Heizer, first vice president and cashier; Robert I. Skinner, executive vice president; Caywood Lindsey, vice president. Directors are Rush Appleman, rancher; Kenneth Brookhart, Brookhart Lumber Co.; Lewis M. Poe, Colorado Interstate Gas Co.; Howard E. Reader, Southern Colorado Power Co., and John B. Shearer, Shearer Hardware Co.

Robinson Street Greenhouse, Floral Business Reopens

Mrs. V. G. (Ann) Gappa and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. R. G. (Naomi) Gappa, have announced the re-opening of their greenhouses and floral business. They are now operating under the name of Gappa's Robinson Street Greenhouses and Floral at 2623 Robinson St.

This is the same location that has been operated by Mrs. Gappa for 12 years, but the business wasf formerly operated under the name of St. Anthony Gardens and St. Anthony Floral. The latter two trade names are in no way connected with their present operation.

The Gappas have not been active in operating their business since August, 1960, when it was leased.

As in the past, Mrs. Gappa has floral arrangements for all occasions, corsages, potted plants, perennials and annuals in season. They wire flowers anywhere.

An open house is planned within the next few weeks so that their customers and friends can visit in the old familiar location and view more than 5,000 young geranium plants that will be ready for spring and summer plantings. Their greenhouses embrace thousands of square feet of area, all temperature controlled, in which they grow young plants till they are ready for outside planting.

Piano Saved From Gold CampFires Still in Use Today

Despite its years and vicissitudes, a square grand piano twice rescued from opera house fires and housed for 35 years in a one-room mountain schoolhouse still produces melodious music in a West Side home of Colorado Springs.

The great Steinway square is today owned by Mrs. Blanche Gossage of 2302 Wolff Place, whose living room also house what is believed to have been the first organ used in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Thru the years before and after the turn of the century, the square grand was used for accompaniments at two opera houses in Victor.

Interested in raising the culture of the community, residents of Victor put up its first opera house in the 1880s, and into it went the "square," a style popular at the time. The "square" was the forerunner of the spinet piano, and both this style and grands were manufactured 85 to 90 years ago.

About the only thing saved when the Victor Opera House burned in 1899 was the 800-pound piano, and when a new opera house went up at the northwest corner of 2nd Street and Victor Avenue in Victor, it went back into use.

The second opera house burned in 1919, and once again firefighters carried the heavy musical instrument to safety. At the time, the Victor Opera House was offering "The Devil's Playhouse," and was the third in the country to burn after the production was presented.

This time, the piano stood in the open for several days until finally Ernest Snyder, who lived near Clyde, on the Cripple Creek Short Line Railroad, hitched up his team and hauled it to a country schoolhouse near his place.

For 35 years, the piano stood in the one-room building at Clyde, subject for a time to the elements when the window near it was broken.

Despite the handling it had had, the piano was in remarkable near-concert pitch when it was obtained by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Dwyer of 1230 N. Cascade Ave. in the fall of 1954 from Snyder.

Mrs. Dwyer said she learned of the piano when a friend, Mrs. Harold Kramer, daughter of Raymond Whitlock, 619 N. Weber St., Colorado Springs contractor, visited Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Kramer and Mrs. Dwyer had done concert work in the Middlewest and Mrs. Kramer wanted Mrs. Dwyer to see the piano in the old schoolhouse.

"I had never been interested in 'squares,'" Mrs. Dwyer said, but she accompanied her friend to the schoolhouse near Clyde. Impressed with its tone, she decided to buy it.

Despite its weight, the piano was pulled from the schoolhouse and down steps to a waiting truck by Dwyer and a man from the area who had offered to bring it out with his truck. The two found missing pieces, including the pedal lyre, except for the lyre that held the music.

Mrs. Dwyer had the piano's rosewood case refiished. Because children attending the school had spilled ink on the case and it could not be removed, the piano was given a dark finish.

Mrs. Gossage bought the piano from Mrs. Dwyer, who advertised it was for sale, in 1957. Mrs. Dwyer replaced it with a Steinway concert grand.

Advertising Biggest One Factor in Prosperity

The prosperity of the United States rests on its $12 billion expenditure for advertising to a greater extent "than on any other single thing," was state by Charles T. Lipscomb, Jr., president of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

"It is investment spending, which multiplies itself many times over, in sales and profits," he said, in a talk before the Dallas Advertising League. "The foundation of our economy is over 5,000,000 products and services. They fight for a share of the consumer dollar, through product improvement and advertising, which is the basis of our national growth.

"Without our modern and highly scientific advertising machine, there would be no way to tell our 185 million people about these products, and most of them would not exist today."

Advertising is important not only to economic growth, said Mr. Lipscomb, but also to the maintenance of the people's basic freedoms.

"To those who question whether advertising is a blessing and supports our freedoms," he said, "I would say that nearly all the costs of our modern media of communication — newspapers, magazines, television, radio — are paid by advertising. It helps to keep all these media free from economic and political pressures, and it helps to make us the best informed people in the world."

Among America's 1,760 daily newspapers, he added, "there is no nationally uniform policy or belief — religious, political or economic. And I know from personal observations that other major Media fight just as hard as newspapers do to protect their integrity and to protect these basic freedoms for their readers, watchers and listeners."

Lipscomb accorded high praise to the Advertising Council for its work on public service projects, which he cited as another example of the contributions of advertising to the nation's well-being.

Advertising media, agencies, and companies donate millions of dollars' worth of manpower and expense, he pointed out, in support of the Council's campaigns for forest fire prevention, aid to education, religious worship, traffic safety, confidence in America, and other activities in the public interest.

A Memo to the HARD of HEARING
by Fred Eisele

Hearing aids amplify sound, but they can't interpret sound for ears that have forgotten how to hear. Auditory retraining is usually necessary when a person has waited too long before correcting a hearing loss. A reliable hearing aid dealer is an expert in such rehabilitation.

CHECKOUT — Capt. Jose M. Marti (left) and Capt. Marshall Vorhes inspect the tailpipe of a T-33 jet trainer at Peterson Field. (U.S. Army Photo)

Checking Birthdays Part Flight Trainer's Day

Captain Joseph M. Marti of the 4614th Operations Squadron at Peterson Field takes a lively interest in other people's birthday anniversaries — 364 of them a year.

Not that he is inquisitive, it's his job as chief of the squadron's flight training secton that keeps 364 assorted pilots current and proficient in their airborne trade.

How do birthdays fit in? Instead of keeping indivdual flight records on a calendar or fiscal year basis, Captain Marti is required by regulation to use the anniversary year method.

Annual physical examinations, instrument and proficiency check flights, visits to the high altitude chamber at Lowry AFB — all are scheduled according to natal dates.

And it is quite a job. A total of eight king-size wall charts are maintained in his office listing every USAF, NAVY, RCAF and RAF plot assigned or attached.

It is Tech. Sgt. William S. Schoelien and airman 1 C. Grace C. Poole's job to see that they are kept up to snuff. Every bit of information concerning the pilots is entered, from the all-important birthday to landing qualifications and simulated flameouts.

The information is color coded so that Captain Marti can tell at a glance whether or not Joe Doakes is current (black), due to meet a requirement (blue) or non-current (red). The colors green and blue also identify members of tactical evaluation and Operational Readiness Inspection teams, and NORAD personnel.

But paperwork and wall charts aren't the whole story. Captain Marti has two flights, jet and conventional, which take care of the actual training of rated-types.

The conventional flight is supervised by Capt. Edmund H. Hines. Thirty-nine assigned C-47 and 64 U3B pilots comprise his student body. In addition they have 33 attached pilots plus tactical and ORI-types to educate.

Their primary job is to upgrade pilots in the latest procedures to enable them to pass instrument and proficiency checks. And every day at least 15 jet and conventional flights are scheduled by these two branches of flight training.

Instrument — Attend ground school and pass a written examination, plus four hours of flight training and a two hour check flight.

Proficiency. Attend ground school, and pass a written examination and a two hour check flight.

In addition, he must pass an annual physical examination and participate in a "flight" in the high altitude chamber.

How can three people keep up the pace? They have plenty of help. A total of 61 pilots are rated as instructors, which spreads the workload considerably.

What does Capt. Marti do in his spare time? He's got another job: Search and rescue. Last week he was scheduling aircraft to search for a missing Cessna.

This week? He's got a birthday anniversary or two to look after.

SPRINGS MAN EXECUTIVE OFFICER — Wayne L. Harrison, Texas Tech senior, has been named wing executive officer of the 820th Air Force ROTC Cadet Wing at Tech for the spring semester. Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harrison, 2602 Gomer, Colorado Springs, Colorado, is majoring in industrial management. He now holds the rank of Cadet Lieutenant Colonel.

Police Families to See New Police Building

The new Colorado Springs Police Building and Emergency Control Center will be open to families of police personnel today from 6-9 p.m.

Conducted tours of the police department and the control center, located in the basement of the new building, will be offered during the open house.

The public will be invited to an open house on Saturday, March 2.

Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick said the department expects a good attendance to the open house and will offer another open house on March 9, if necessary, for residents of the city to see the new facilities.

Spring Semester Enrollment Up at CU

Enrollment on the Boulder campus of the University of Colorado for the spring semester is 11,439 students, an increase of 4.4 per cent over last year, David B. Murihead, director of admissions, announced today.

The spring semester total in 1962 was 10,952 students.

The total includes 6,875 Colorado residents, an increase of 8.5 per cent over a year ago, and 4,564 non-residents, a 1.1 per cent decline, which Miruhead attributed to CU's limitations on the number of out-of-state students it will accept.

Undergraduate enrollment is up 4 per cent to 9,517, of whom 63 per cent are Colorado residents and 37 per cent are non-residents. Last spring the ratio was 60-40.

New students entering CU for the first time this semester jumped one-third over last year, and former students continuing at CU increased 3.75 per cent.

Muirhead said these figures, coupled with the fact that Cu's loss of students between the fall and spring semesters is below the national average, indicate the "not only are larger numbers of Coloradans attending the University, but more are continuing with us as the drop-out rate declines."

Graduate enrollment is 1,760, compared with 1,648 last year, and Miurhead predicted the graduate figure will reach 1,800 by the end of the semester.

There are 7,098 men and 4,341 women in the student body. Both figures are up from last year.

Enrollment by colleges and schools follows:

Architecture 140, arts and sciences 6,878, business 459, education 282, engineering 1,314, law 162, music 192, nursing 178, pharmacy 74.

Their units are being joined by Canadian army forces, U. S. military forces and U.S. Strike Command units in the cold weather training exercise. About 8,000 men are participating.

Sgt. Sampson, son of Mrs. Theda N. Kohl, 932 E. Las Animas St. is assigned as a squad leader in the infantry's Company B at Fort Lewis. He entered the Army in 1951, and attended Colorado Springs High School.

HARD WATER
What Is It?
Have you noticed when tap water dries a spot or film remains? These water spots are the minerals left behind when tap water evaporates. They are commonly called water spots, lime spots, streaks, films or stains.
For example, after a tap water shampoo, water evaporates from the hair, leaving a film clinging to each strand, just like the spots you have seen.
When the laundry dries, this film accumulates on the fibers. This is noticeable when towels become rough and harsh after several washings.
MIRACLE WATER—lime free, rust free, spot free . . . Eliminates Needless Expense and Inconvenience.

Checking Birthdays Part Flight Trainer's Day

Captain Joseph M. Marti of the 4614th Operations Squadron at Peterson Field takes a lively interest in other people's birthday anniversaries — 364 of them a year.

Not that he is inquisitive, it's his job as chief of the squadron's flight training secton that keeps 364 assorted pilots current and proficient in their airborne trade.

How do birthdays fit in? Instead of keeping indivdual flight records on a calendar or fiscal year basis, Captain Marti is required by regulation to use the anniversary year method.

Annual physical examinations, instrument and proficiency check flights, visits to the high altitude chamber at Lowry AFB — all are scheduled according to natal dates.

And it is quite a job. A total of eight king-size wall charts are maintained in his office listing every USAF, NAVY, RCAF and RAF plot assigned or attached.

It is Tech. Sgt. William S. Schoelien and airman 1 C. Grace C. Poole's job to see that they are kept up to snuff. Every bit of information concerning the pilots is entered, from the all-important birthday to landing qualifications and simulated flameouts.

The information is color coded so that Captain Marti can tell at a glance whether or not Joe Doakes is current (black), due to meet a requirement (blue) or non-current (red). The colors green and blue also identify members of tactical evaluation and Operational Readiness Inspection teams, and NORAD personnel.

But paperwork and wall charts aren't the whole story. Captain Marti has two flights, jet and conventional, which take care of the actual training of rated-types.

The conventional flight is supervised by Capt. Edmund H. Hines. Thirty-nine assigned C-47 and 64 U3B pilots comprise his student body. In addition they have 33 attached pilots plus tactical and ORI-types to educate.

Their primary job is to upgrade pilots in the latest procedures to enable them to pass instrument and proficiency checks. And every day at least 15 jet and conventional flights are scheduled by these two branches of flight training.

Instrument — Attend ground school and pass a written examination, plus four hours of flight training and a two hour check flight.

Proficiency. Attend ground school, and pass a written examination and a two hour check flight.

In addition, he must pass an annual physical examination and participate in a "flight" in the high altitude chamber.

How can three people keep up the pace? They have plenty of help. A total of 61 pilots are rated as instructors, which spreads the workload considerably.

What does Capt. Marti do in his spare time? He's got another job: Search and rescue. Last week he was scheduling aircraft to search for a missing Cessna.

This week? He's got a birthday anniversary or two to look after.

SPRINGS MAN EXECUTIVE OFFICER — Wayne L. Harrison, Texas Tech senior, has been named wing executive officer of the 820th Air Force ROTC Cadet Wing at Tech for the spring semester. Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harrison, 2602 Gomer, Colorado Springs, Colorado, is majoring in industrial management. He now holds the rank of Cadet Lieutenant Colonel.

Police Families to See New Police Building

The new Colorado Springs Police Building and Emergency Control Center will be open to families of police personnel today from 6-9 p.m.

Conducted tours of the police department and the control center, located in the basement of the new building, will be offered during the open house.

The public will be invited to an open house on Saturday, March 2.

Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick said the department expects a good attendance to the open house and will offer another open house on March 9, if necessary, for residents of the city to see the new facilities.

Spring Semester Enrollment Up at CU

Enrollment on the Boulder campus of the University of Colorado for the spring semester is 11,439 students, an increase of 4.4 per cent over last year, David B. Muirhead, director of admissions, announced today.

The spring semester total in 1962 was 10,952 students.

The total includes 6,875 Colorado residents, an increase of 8.5 per cent over a year ago, and 4,564 non-residents, a 1.1 per cent decline, which Miruhead attributed to CU's limitations on the number of out-of-state students it will accept.

Undergraduate enrollment is up 4 per cent to 9,517, of whom 63 per cent are Colorado residents and 37 per cent are non-residents. Last spring the ratio was 60-40.

New students entering CU for the first time this semester jumped one-third over last year, and former students continuing at CU increased 6.75 per cent.

Muirhead said these figures, coupled with the fact that Cu's loss of students between the fall and spring semesters is below the national average, indicate the "not only are larger numbers of Coloradans attending the University, but more are continuing with us as the drop-out rate declines."

Graduate enrollment is 1,760, compared with 1,648 last year, and Miurhead predicted the graduate figure will reach 1,800 by the end of the semester.

There are 7,098 men and 4,341 women in the student body. Both figures are up from last year.

Enrollment by colleges and schools follows:

Architecture 140, arts and sciences 6,878, business 459, education 282, engineering 1,314, law 162, music 192, nursing 178, pharmacy 74.

HARD WATER
What Is It?
Have you noticed when tap water dries a spot or film remains? These water spots are the minerals left behind when tap water evaporates. They are commonly called water spots, lime spots, streaks, films or stains.
For example, after a tap water shampoo, water evaporates from the hair, leaving a film clinging to each strand, just like the spots you have seen.
When the laundry dries, this film accumulates on the fibers. This is noticeable when towels become rough and harsh after several washings.

By DORA FOSTER

Several tiny brown birdies were twittering in the scrub oaks outside my window. They might have been talking over their Valentine plans for choosing their mates, and that reminded me that tho St. Valentine has been dead for about 1630 years we are still celebrating his birthday. St. Valentine, it is said, was beheaded on Feb. 14, in the year 306 A.D. and that may be the reason why so many youths and maidens lose their heads — and their hearts — on this sentimental day of days.

At any rate St. Valentine Day is still observed with the pretty custom of sending love messages and this we know can never be overdone since it is good to hear or read the old, old story, "I love you."

Valentine Day at Cheyenne School when I was a child was filled with thrills. A day or so before the auspicious afternoon a shoebox had been prepared by cutting a wide slit in its cover and the box placed on the teacher's desk. Into it was to be slipped secretly all the love messages that we had made or bought from the stores downtown. And along with those little bits of lace and paper and ribbon went other kinds, the comics usually placed by the boys or girls who had a grievance against some other pupil or the teacher.

My sisters and I were hampered or rather limited in our choice of the so-called comics, as our parents insisted on looking them over before they were taken to school and slipped into the shoebox.

On the hour when the box was to be opened all our books were slid into the desk and the rest of the afternoon was given over to the fun.

Usually one of the older and more responsible pupils or the teacher was chosen to open the well-filled "post office" and we went up to the front of the room as our names were called to receive our valentine.

Such rustling of paper, such shouts of glee or derision, such secret concealing of love messages, until the shoebox was empty and then if the teacher was a wise one the dismissal bell was quite in order, since everyone just must see what Katie or Nora or George or Bert got.

If there were any touching little verses of affection, they were either proudly displayed to all rivals or else were neatly tucked under a blue-checked gingham apron to be shown only to a favored few.

"I got 10 this year," might be told mother as soon as the home door had been opened, since the number was a measure of our popularity among our school mates.

Because it is so much easier to remember the happy thoughts that went along with such days we sisters cannot recall any comics that distrubed our peace of mind so I cannot quote any of them to you now. One little message that was sent to sister from a young neighbor lad had on it a picture of a small boy peeking around a garden wall at a pretty little girl who was walking by and with this picture was this verse: "All good boys love their sisters. So good I have grown,
I love other boys' sisters,
As well as my own."

Another sister still has her first valentine, one that was sent to her when she was 5 years old. It is a beautiful one that holds within its wealth of colored roses and violets a little boy and girl who remain hidden till a little paper flap is pulled, when the couple come out from the blossoms and stand on a pedestal an inch or so in front of the blossoms. A very unusual valentine for long ago. The 7 year old boy who presented that treasure came from a ranch home on Bear Creek. He now lives in Long Beach, Calif., Hugh Crawford Wilson.

She just now tells me she remembers her last valentine also. It was a large pink celluoid scroll inscribed with all that makes a valentine worth while. Its sender, who at the time was attending high school in Colorado Springs, passed away recently, Charles Morse, a popular physician of Alamosa.

Will McGlashin, a curly-haired young man, whose ready smile and keen wit made me like to be near when he came calling on my older sisters, sent them both a couple of valentines one each year and then because of his impatience to see if they had gotten them came the next evening to see if the mail had arrived.

"No," the girls told him. "We have no valentines."

"Well, you will get some," he told them confidently, so the girls had no trouble guessing who the valentines were to be from.

The mail in those days came to lock boxes in the Colorado Springs Post Office and was often several days in reaching the homes. I found one of those six borate cards in the family Bible the other day, where it has been since the spring that my sister died, Feb. 14, 1884. It is a double card with a creamy silk fringe around the edges, pansies on one side, the other side roses. The side bearing roses holds this verse: "To keep one sacred flame thru life unchilled, unmoved; To love in wintry age the same that first in youth we loved; To feel that we adore to such refined excess, That tho the heart would break with more, We could not live with less; This is love, 'tis like mine; All for you my Valentine."

I shall put that card back into the old Bible, as it seems to belong to the long ago. It was probably placed there by my mother's hands.

One day several years ago, I found in looking over one of our empty rented houses, (I said empty as it was during our dear depression days) I found a beautiful valentine that had evidently been left behind unintentionally by some "tenants that leave without warning." The valentine was in a box (so fragile as to be unprotected), and was made in the shape of a heart, at least 10 inches across. It was composed of blue satin, trimmed with real lace and the verse was sentimental enough for any lovelorn maid in all the land. I carried this treasure home and after enjoying it for a season decided that it was too beautiful to be wasted on me, so I sent it to a brown-eyed neighbor maiden of 15 summers, who had no steady beau but who was quite willing to find one.

That evening the younger sisters of brown-eyes came to my home to report that "sister had gotten a beauty. Come up and see it." So we went and admired it satisfactorily as both the maiden and her mother were pleased, no, delighted, that some unknown youth had sent it. I kept my secret and was heartened by the sparkle that came into the brown eyes whenever she spoke of her valntine. I believe a youth who had been too bashful to call on her, was encouraged by her more friendly attitude as that summer they were seen together often and were later engaged but alas for my story, the romance was broken off by either the mother of the girl or the interference of another maid who finally got the boy. But no matter, I now since can report that both the supposed sender of the valentine and the little lady who received it are today happily married, each one having found a mate for themselves. I am sure the blue satin valentine has been long forgotten.

My sister and I had a valentine given us this year, a big bright red heart full of chocolates. Come over some time.

So if St. Valentine has for the past several centuries inspired the sending of messages and gifts, I for one am heartily in favor of remembering that gentleman and will say, "Long live St. Valentine."

Peak Region Yesterdays

By DORA FOSTER

Several tiny brown birdies were twittering in the scrub oaks outside my window. They might have been talking over their Valentine plans for choosing their mates, and that reminded me that tho St. Valentine has been dead for about 1630 years we are still celebrating his birthday. St. Valentine, it is said, was beheaded on Feb. 14, in the year 306 A.D. and that may be the reason why so many youths and maidens lose their heads — and their hearts — on this sentimental day of days.

At any rate St. Valentine Day is still observed with the pretty custom of sending love messages and this we know can never be overdone since it is good to hear or read the old, old story, "I love you."

Valentine Day at Cheyenne School when I was a child was filled with thrills. A day or so before the auspicious afternoon a shoebox had been prepared by cutting a wide slit in its cover and the box pfaced on the teacher's desk. Into it was to be slipped secretly all the love messages that we had made or bought from the stores downtown. And along with those little bits of lace and paper and ribbon went other kinds, the comics usually placed by the boys or girls who had a grievance against some other pupil or the teacher.

My sisters and I were hampered or rather limited in our choice of the so-called comics, as our parents insisted on looking them over before they were taken to school and slipped into the shoebox.

On the hour when the box was to be opened all our books were slid into the desk and the rest of the afternoon was given over to the fun.

Usually one of the older and more responsible pupils or the teacher was chosen to open the well-filled "post office" and we went up to the front of the room as our names were called to receive our valentine.

Such rustling of paper, such shouts of glee or derision, such secret concealing of love messages, until the shoebox was empty and then if the teacher was a wise one the dismissal bell was quite in order, since everyone just must see what Katie or Nora or George or Bert got.

If there were any touching little verses of affection, they were either proudly displayed to all rivals or else were neatly ticked under a blue-checked gingham apron to be shown only to a favored few.

"I got 10 this year," might be told mother as soon as the home door had been opened, since the number was a measure of our popularity among our school mates.

Because it is so much easier to remember the happy thoughts that went along with such days we sisters cannot recall any comics that distrubed our peace of mind so I cannot quote any of them to you now. One little message that was sent to sister from a young neighbor lad had on it a picture of a small boy peeking around a garden wall at a pretty little girl who was walking by and with this picture was this verse: "All good boys love their sisters
So good I have grown,
I love other boys' sisters,
As well as my own."

Another sister still has her first valentine, one that was sent to her when she was 5 years old. It is a beautiful one that holds within its wealth of colored roses and violets a little boy and girl who remain hidden till a little paper flap is pulled, when the couple come out from the blossoms and stand on a pedestal an inch or so in front of the blossoms. A very unusual valentine for long ago. The 7 year old boy who presented that treasure came from a ranch home on Bear Creek. He now lives in Long Beach, Calif., Hugh Crawford Wilson.

She just now tells me she remembers her last valentine also. It was a large pink celluoid scroll inscribed with all that makes a valentine worth while. Its sender, who at the time was attending high school in Colorado Springs, passed away recently. Charles Morse, a popular physician of Alamosa.

Will McGlashin, a curly-haired young man, whose ready smile and keen wit made me like to be near when he came calling on my older sisters, sent them both a couple of valentines one year and then because of his impatience to see if they had gotten them came the next evening to see if the mail had arrived.

"No," the girls told him. "We have no valentines."

"Well, you will get some," he told them confidently, so the girls had no trouble guessing who the valentines were to be from.

The mail in those days came to lock boxes in the Colorado Springs Post Office and was often several days in reaching the homes. I found one of those valentine cards in the family Bible the other day, where it has been since the spring that my sister died, Feb. 14, 1884. It is a double card with a creamy silk fringe around the edges, pansies on one side, the other side roses. The side bearing roses holds this verse: "To keep one sacred flame thru life unchilled, unmoved; To love in wintry age the same that first in youth we loved; To feel that we adore to such refined excess, That tho the heart would break with more, We could not live with less; This is love, 'tis like mine; All for you my Valentine."

I shall put that card back into the old Bible, as it seems to belong to the long ago. It was probably placed there by my mother's hands.

One day several years ago, I found in looking over one of our empty rented houses, I said empty as it was during our dear depression days) I found a beautiful valentine that had evidently been left behind unintentionally by some "tenants that leave without warning." The valentine was in a box (so fragile as to be unprotected), and was made in the shape of a heart, at least 10 inches across. It was composed of blue satin, trimmed with real lace and the verse was sentimental enough for any lovelorn maid in all the land. I carried this treasure home and after enjoying it for a season decided that it was too beautiful to be wasted on me, so I sent it to a brown-eyed neighbor maiden of 15 summers, who had no steady beau but who was quite willing to find one.

That evening the younger sisters of brown eyes came to my home to report that "sister had gotten a beauty. Come up and see it." So we went and admired it satisfactorily as both the maiden and her mother were pleased, no, delighted, that some unknown youth had sent it. I kept my secret and was heartened by the sparkle that came into the brown eyes whenever she spoke of her valntine. I believe a youth who had been too bashful to call on her, was encouraged by her more friendly attitude as that summer they were seen together often and were later engaged but alas for my story, the romance was broken off by either the mother of the girl or the interference of another maid who finally got the boy. But no matter, I now since can report that both the supposed sender of the valentine and the little lady who received it are today happily married, each one having found a mate for themselves. I am sure the blue satin valentine has been long forgotten.

My sister and I had a valentine given us this year, a big bright red heart full of chocolates. Come over some time.

So if St. Valentine has for the past several centuries inspired the sending of messages and gifts, I for one am heartily in favor of remembering that gentleman and will say, "Long live St. Valentine."

More than 400 students from the schools will be working in teams this week in various areas, along with other volunteer workers. The largest group, about 160, will be from Wasson High School Pep Squad.

Other high school groups working on the Heart Fund are the St. Mary's Sodality, the Girls Athletic Association of Cheyenne Mountain High School, the Manitou Springs Lettermen's Club, Harrison High Schools senior and junior class, and the Pep Club of Palmer High School.

The El Paso County Sheriff's Posse will furnish transportation for the St. Mary's High School group which will do all if its work on Heart Sunday.

Other groups working are the Evangelical United Brethern Church Youth Group, the Trinity Methodist Church Youth Group, the G. I. Forum and the Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church Luther League.

Area charimen under Mrs. Sammons are supervising their various team captains and workers. There is no area chairman for the Broadmoor. Instead Miss Harriet Ketchum, sponsor of the GAA at Cheyenne Mt. High School is supervising the girls working.

Mrs. Nellis Kennedy, 1205 S. 25th St., is chairman of area two, bounded by 37th Street on the west, 21st Street on east, Mesa Road on the north and on the south by South Boulevard and Fountain Creek.

Area three is chairmaned by Mrs. Myron Brewer, 20 N. Chestnut St. This covers the balance of Old Colorado City east to the freeway.

Area four under Mrs. Lerna Snapp, 2702 N. Cascade Ave., is bounded on the west by the freeway, on the south by the Rock Island railroad tracks east to Templeton Gap Road and on the north the Cragmore area.

Mrs. Frederick Brittain, 1613 Auburn St., will supervise area five. This is encompassed by Templeton Gap Road on the North, Constitution Avenue to Union Boulvard then south to Unitah St. From there east on Unitah Street and Galley Road to Academy Boulevard.

Area six chairman is Mrs. Albert Ament, Sr., 2310 N. Logan Ave. This area is bounded by the freeway on the west, Rock Island railroad tracks on the north Cache La Poudre Street on the south and Union Boulevard on the east.
